SUMMARY.

Collisions have taken place between Turkish and Greek frontier guards near Metsovo.

The Turks frustrated a Servian attempt to cross the frontier near Bashka.

Financial authorities declare that the Balkan States are looking to Paris to finance them.

Three thousand boy scouts tendered their services as messengers and clerks in the public offices of Belgrade.

The offer has been accepted, and the boys are replacing the reservists in the departments who joined the colours.

It is reported that the Porte has accepted the application of article 23 of the Berlin treaty to Macedonia.

It is further stated that Turkey will grant reforms similar to those in Crete and Eastern Roumelia.

Russia and France have accepted the modification suggested by Austria to their proposal.

This action makes it clear that the Powers will guarantee the integrity of Turkey.

The scheme as now formulated will be submitted to the Powers.

The Bulgarian Parliament has passed extraordinary army credits amounting to 12,000,000 francs.

Bulgarian and Servian agitators are stirring up revolts in the sanjaks of Monastir and Novi Bazar.

A demonstration was made before the Greek Consulate in Constantinople, the windows being smashed.

The first Greek submarine has arrived from Toulon. The crew were accorded an enthusiastic reception.

The Minister of Finance states that in the event of war it will not be necessary for Greece to borrow.

The Bishop of London has protested against any amendments that would weaken the White Slave Traffic Bill.

Cardinal Logue consecrated Dr. Daniel Mannix, president of Maynooth College, as Coadjutor Archbishop of Melbourne.

The Peking correspondent of the "Daily Mail" states that the contracts for a Franco-Belgian £10,000,000 loan have been signed.

The object of the loan is the extension of the railways in Northern China.

The Hamburg-Amerika Company's liner Vandalia collided with a floating dock in the Elbe and sank.

Later the same company's steamer Graecia fouled the wreck, and had to be beached.

The railway strike in Spain has been settled.

A collision occurred on a bridge in Philadelphia between three automobiles, seven men being killed.

In a match against Philadelphia the Australians scored 101 in their first innings.

Philadelphia scored 215 for the loss of seven wickets.

It is rumoured that the Government is negotiating with Mr. J. E. Redmond to enable Ulster to contract out of Home Rule.

The Governor-General and Lady Denman took their departure from Sydney by train for Melbourne last night.

There was a large and representative gathering of citizens at the railway station to bid their Excellencies farewell.

An address was presented to the Governor-General by the Lord Mayor on behalf of the citizens.

There was a loyal demonstration as the train passed through Moss Vale.

The Labour carnival was held yesterday under the most favourable weather conditions.

The procession was a picturesque spectacle, and was, perhaps, more brilliant than in former years.

Seventy-seven societies were represented in the procession, and seven new banners were unfurled.

The Wool and Basil Workers' Union was awarded the prize for the most artistic display.

Mr. M'Gowen said the procession was the best he had ever known in his long experience.

The second day's racing of the A.J.C. spring carnival was attended by over 60,000 people.

The Metropolitan was won by Duke Foote by four lengths from Piastre, Ladies' Man being third three-quarters of a length away.

Gigandra won the Shorts, Aurifer the Clibborn Stakes, United Kingdom the Steeple, Beragoon the Breeders' Plate, and Hallowmas the Squatters' Handicap.

An accident occurred in the race for the Metropolitan.

As the field neared the nine furlongs post Hartfell fell, and brought down three other horses.

One horse was killed, and several of the riders were injured.

A chapter of accidents also occurred in the First Steeplechase.

It was an ideal sailing day for the Balmain Regatta. The rowing and sailing events were well contested.

The committee were unable to secure a suitable vessel as flagship and had to fall back upon a ferry steamer.

Aoma won the yacht race, defeating Rawhiti and Culwulla. The ex-Victorian yacht Sayonara was unplaced.

In the rowing races the Maiden Eights was won by Leichhardt, and the Senior Fours by Balmain.

Mr. Fisher is emphatic as to the necessity for carrying the referendum and says it will be made a party issue.

The Prime Minister paid a visit to the Telephone Exchange yesterday.

It was pointed out where the work was most arduous, and where more simple methods might be introduced.

The order calling upon the telephone girls to work 40 minutes extra per day has been countermanded.

The governor of the Commonwealth Bank has returned to Melbourne from a visit to Western Australia.

Mr. Denison Miller will visit the Federal capital, with the view of opening a branch there.

A conference will take place on Saturday between Victorian and New South Wales Ministers in reference to border railways.

Placards are to be displayed all over the city warning people against littering the footpaths or roads with paper or rubbish.

According to the Minister for Railways in Western Australia, the scheme of State steamers was a complete success.

It is expected that before long there will be a fleet of State steamers, trading to Australian ports.

The new Roman Catholic Cathedral at Armidale has been opened. It was dedicated by Archbishop Kelly.

Sergeant E. F. Mulcahy, officer in charge of the Geelong police, shot himself with a revolver.

W. H. Short, manager of the Excelsior flour mills at Gunnedah, committed suicide by hanging himself.

The motor car in which the Victorian Railway Standing Committee were touring was destroyed by fire.

A motor car belonging to the Motor Transit Company was destroyed between Inverell and Glen Innes.

The police made a raid on a Chinese gaming-house at the Haymarket, and arrested 23 Chinese.

The Australasian draughts championship is to be decided in Sydney during Easter week next year.

The Ladies' Kennel Club held a successful championship show at the Agricultural Grounds yesterday.

A boating accident occurred in Rushcutter Bay last evening. Two women were drowned, and other persons are reported to be missing.

A farmer and a boy were drowned at Gilgandra through a buggy in which they were seated capsizing in a dam.

The world's convention of Christian Endeavourers will be held in Sydney in March, 1914.

Forecast.—Warm to hot and sultry generally, with strong and equally northerly winds, thunderstorms and rain, developing in the western districts and extending eastwards.

LASSETTERS' LINGERIE ROBES.

WHITE WEEK IN THE SHOWROOM.

FINE NEEDLEWORK has always been an obsession with the FAIR SEX. In olden times it became a HEIRLOOM, and was handed down amongst the FAMILY TREASURES. It was a LUXURY of the VERY RICH, who could afford to BUY, or the LEISURED AND TALENTED who could afford the TIME TO MAKE. Fragments of REAL OLD LACE may still be occasionally purchased; a rate of TEN GUINEAS PER YARD is easily obtainable for genuine ROSE POINT, POINT DE FLANDERS, POINT DE VENISE, POINT DE GENOA, POINT D'ANGLETERRE, POINT DE MILAN, POINT DE DUCHESSE, or ANTIQUE ITALIAN. FORTUNATE, indeed, are the possessors of treasures of this sort, but also EXCEEDINGLY RARE. Nevertheless the modern woman is fortunate in having access to such CHARMING IMITATIONS. The marvels of modern machinery render it possible to reproduce OLD LACE with all its GRACE, CHARM, and FILMY DELICACY, and Embroideries rivalling in elegance the most famous examples. In addition to this we still have good supplies of HANDWORK from the IRISH PEASANTRY, whose INHERITED APTITUDE, allied to modern ARTISTIC DESIGN, produces such CHARMING RESULTS in the way of DAINTY BLOUSES and GRACEFUL ROBES embroidered upon different varieties of PURE LINEN.

We have a SPECIAL IMPORTATION of IRISH HAND-EMBROIDERED ROBES upon Linens of different degrees of fineness, from an ORDINARY DRESS LINEN to a FINE HANDKERCHIEF LAWN, ranging in price from 70/- to 10 Guineas. They are all exceedingly beautiful, but some of the higher-priced ones are VERITABLE WORKS OF ART.

Following the above are some exceedingly dainty examples of MACHINE EMBROIDERY, in a heavy pattern in MERCERISED COTTON upon COTTON VOILE. This is undoubtedly THE fabric of THE SEASON. They range in price FROM 3½ GUINEAS, and are VERITABLE GEMS in the way of DAINTY DRESS.

Embroidered Muslins are still to the fore, and of these we have some very charming numbers from one guinea upwards. One specially good number we have is priced at 42/. The Skirt part is formed of a beautifully embroidered wide flouncing in various designs, mostly with Vandyked and Scalloped Edges; or the rest they are prettily and suitably trimmed with good Swiss Embroideries. Bodice part is in the Magyar style.

We have a few charming specimens of Coloured Embroidery upon White Voile; the patterns are specially made for the purposes of the Robes, so that the embroidery comes in just the right places upon the Magyar bodice and sleeves, and also at foot of skirt. We have three colours in the Embroidery—Nattier, Pale Blue, and Vieux Rose. Price, 5 Guineas.

FINE WHITE MUSLIN ROBE, beautifully embroidered, consisting of Bodice trimmed with yoke of Valenciennes. It also has an Overskirt of the same material. Price, 32/6.

A Line of SMART COATEE COSTUMES, in Allover Swiss Embroidery. The pattern is worked out in Stripes, making it very suitable for a Coatee. The Skirt is in a plain Muslin, nicely cut and gored. Price, 12/11.

CHARMING WHITE ALL-OVER EMBROIDERY ROBE, in a small Broderie Anglaise pattern. Yoke, top of sleeves, and a band at foot of skirt in tucked mercerised muslin, in colours. Price, 29/6.

GOOD WEARING AND WASHING ROBE, in WHITE LAWN, well trimmed with a good, heavy, open-work pattern embroidery insertion, combined with fine Valenciennes. Price, 17/11.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO THE IMPORTERS FROM ENGLAND.—All engaged in trade with Great Britain and Ireland will do well to subscribe to THE BRITISH TRADE JOURNAL AND EXPORT PRICES CURRENT, as it gives the most complete and exact information of every branch of trade, and so renders it unnecessary to read each departmental publication. It is a comprehensive Monthly Resume of all items of interest to traders resident out of England, the shipping as well as the market and other commercial news being written and compiled expressly for the merchant, planter, and exporter and importer abroad.
THE BRITISH TRADE JOURNAL was established in January, 1863, and enjoys the support of the general Commercial Public in EVERY PART OF THE WORLD. It is published on the 2nd of every month, and is regularly supplied direct from the office to its subscribers.
The Subscription is £1 sterling per annum, payable in advance, free by post to any part of the Globe. The amount can be remitted by post-office order, bank, or stamps, or any mode that may suggest itself as equivalent amount in the currency of the country will be accepted.

WATER YOUR GARDENS AND LAWNS WITH PERDRIAU "WATERSHED" HOSE.

There could hardly be a better time than just now to secure a length of Perdriau "Watershed" Red Rubber Garden Hose. Spring Blossoms are at their best, and from now on the plants and lawns will be more in need of moisture than at any other period of the year.

There are many reasons why you should purchase "Watershed" Hose, the most important of which is that it is the highest quality and most reliable offering. Being made in the right way of the right materials guarantees good service and long service. From its core of seamless black rubber, through its strengthening plies of rubber-impregnated fabric, to its outer covering of sun, wear, and time-resisting red rubber, quality, and efficiency are evidenced in every inch of every length.

"Watershed" Red Rubber Hose is made in 60ft coils, and is sold at the following rates:—

⅝in x 3-ply	/11 per ft.
1in x 3-ply	1/4 per ft.

We can also supply any description of Hose Accessory you may require. Price List, Samples, and all details free on request.

YOU REALLY SHOULD be guided by the experience of others in the important matter of health. Notwithstanding individual characteristics, all people are constituted very much alike, every one is susceptible to certain bodily disturbances, and especially so as regards the digestive functions. Even the strong and robust are not exempt from ailments arising out of an irregular condition of the stomach, bowels, and allied organs. Men and women, however, for three generations past have found a sure remedy in Beecham's Pills whenever troubled with Biliousness, Indigestion, Constipation, Wind, Lack of Energy, and general want of tone. Their experience may be yours also, if you will

a few doses of Beecham's Pills whenever the stomach is disturbed, the liver sluggish, or the bowels constipated. Their beneficial effects will rapidly be felt. Really good health—a consciousness of physical well-being—can only be enjoyed when all the organs are acting smoothly and harmoniously, a desirable state, which can easily be promoted by resorting to the well-known family medicine.

BEECHAM'S PILLS.

The other man treated this miserable attempt at diversion with scorn.

"I will not say," he admitted, "that my excellent old friend has yet any serious suspicions; though, frankly, your behaviour of the day before yesterday, sir, was of the last imprudence. It wanted but little that you should make a declaration to the lady under her husband's nose—with those oeillades, those poems! I laughed as loud as I could with the dear fellow, that he might not notice. But has he noticed? I do not say he has. And yet I would not like to say that he has not his doubts. . . After you left the little one—ah, she has an unfailing instinct, that one—her heart was heavy, oh, heavy! She could not conceal that she had cried. Annibal looked at her, and then he looked at his wife. I caught that look! It gave me furiously to think. This morning, well, no, Annibal is not himself. I have a terrible fear, Sir Utre——"

Ughtred, who had been staring steadily out of the window, turned at this interpellation.

"M. Vaucelin, you have said more than enough——"

"To persuade you . . . ?"

"To make me desire a change of conversation."

"Ah, sir," said the Frenchman with some dignity, "you do very wrong. If you have no consideration for a generous friend, should you not have some for an innocent young girl? Do you not see what a position she is placed in?"

"I do not consider that I have anything to say to Mademoiselle de Flodore's position."

Spluttering wrath seized the would-be adviser:

"Eh, pardi, and did you not go and fetch her from her perch? You had done better to have left her there!"

The rejoinder staggered him.

"I think so, too," said Ughtred.

"Well—I have the honour to wish you good morning," said M. Vaucelin, turning with a bounce to depart. Even as he did so, however, the book on the table caught his eye. Discretion could no longer control a man so angry. "You have had a fine post delivery this morning," he jeered, and caught up the volumes one after another. Then he broke into high-pitched laughter: "'Petrarch's Sonnets!' That is what she sends you? Ah! I make you my compliment. That is truly encouraging, is it not? Do I not recognise her there, that Aglae! Just like her!" he repeated. Then, dropping the book, he fixed his black eyes piercingly upon the other's livid face. "Go your way. Only go your way and you will achieve the supreme ridicule of being shot . . . without having deserved it!"

He went out precipitately upon this speech, clapping the door behind him. Ughtred stood quite motionless for a long while. Then he said, aloud:

"We shall see."

CHAPTER VI.

THE BURNING OF THE SHIPS.

Ughtred had remarked, hardly knowing what he was saying: "Our fine weather is over." But when, towards the waning of the afternoon, he started for Crossforth House, driving the motor himself, unattended, it was not until he had gone some way that he perceived how heavily the clouds were charged, how gustily flew the storm-wind. The swiftness of the motion, the necessary attention which he had to devote to the machine, released his brain momentarily from the dominion of the one obsessing thought—dominion so intense that its victim could hardly be said to be absolutely sane.

This was the culminating period of a long mental strain. Ever since the episode in the Keep he had scarcely eaten or slept. Now, in the thrall of a first passion his vivid imagination, his very intellect afire with a false energy, he was capable of any folly. Yet beyond a set determination of seeing her apart and of forcing her, on her side, to face the truth as he had faced it on his, immediate purpose did not go. But opportunity was tossed into his hand.

It almost appears sometimes as if it were sufficient to will anything strongly enough to control fate. In older and simpler-minded times it was held that some ministering spirit of evil stood ever at hand and on the watch to gratify an illicit desire.

As he turned in between the gate-lodges of Crossforth Park, Ughtred beheld, coming down the avenue towards him, alone, a slight figure instantly recognised.

He slowed down to a stop beside her and jumped out. She stood back from the road, between the boles of the giant elms. She was wrapped in a long grey cloak, which she held by one bare hand across her bosom against the onslaught of the wind; over a small hat a grey veil was closely tied under her chin. With serious eyes she watched him come; her face was pale. Under the brooding storm-light, hooded and cloaked in the misty grey which the gust wrung out behind her even as it did the low drifting clouds above, she seemed to the young man scarcely real—the most acute contrast imaginable to that other wind-tossed figure in its arrogant youth and human strength—the Nike on the seaward rock. Here was an image of mystery and fate—"Hecate of the Ways, wrapped in her veil, dreaming delicate dreams." She had a wan smile for him; her voice sounded a murmur, far away.

"What brings you here, under such a sky? I felt I was smothering in the house—and yet here it is worse! Does not the very air one breathes seem thick with menace?"

At the touch of her bare hand his palms ached to the sweet remembrance of one moment in the Keep, and fire ran from them through all his being. Her figure and the grey landscape, the thick leafy boughs, the brooding horizon, all surged a second before his sight. Then, all at once, he found himself steady on his feet, an extraordinarily joyous lucidity and determination in his brain.

"Let me take you for a spin in my car," he said in level, everyday tones. "As far as the sea," he urged. "You will breathe some fresh air there; and we shall cheat the storm, if we ran fast enough."

She hesitated. Then the fitful gust fell upon them, blowing her to him. She had to brace herself not to be driven into his arms. It was as if the elements themselves conspired with him. She laughed a little. The wings of her cloak flew out towards him; the long streamers of her veil fluttered to his face, and he breathed the violets of her presence. After that she went with him without a word.

Not until they were gliding along the high road, with a smoothness which disguised the speed, did he look at her as she sat beside him, and speak:

"It was well you came with me of yourself. If you had not I would have lifted you into the car."

She opened her eyes upon him with their wide inscrutable look, then shook her head with a pretty gesture towards her ears. He could not tell if she had not really heard, through the wind rush, or only feigned deafness. But he heard her plaintly when she said presently:

"A little slower, please."

Obediently he slackened speed, for a moment or two, only to resume by imperceptible degrees the former pace. His face was set straight for the road now, and he spoke no more. Two or three times she glanced at his profile; it had a marble inflexibility, an impassivity more emphatic of determination than the utmost heat of expression. And each time she glanced, his lips curved into a smile.

Now the road dipped and twisted. There, to their left, stretched beach and sea; the clouds were low and heavy over the waters; only at the extreme horizon there was a livid line of brightness, lividly reflected below. The effect was sinister. The ascent grew steep; the wind no longer sang in their ears; the car throbbed and groaned in its effort: the hoarse call from the shore mingled with the labouring breath of the motor.

"You can take me back home round the upper road," she said, placidly, into his silence.

He turned his head, looked at her for a moment before replying, and smiled once more. That was all the answer he gave her. He bent down and changed his gear—they had reached the cliff road—and the car darted on again, somewhat recklessly. After a very little while the driver slowed, and turned deliberately off the road upon the Down.

"But where are you taking me?" she said, stretching out her slender, ungloved hand to touch his as he gripped the wheel.

"Do you not see?" he answered, without looking at her.

"Your Tower?" she cried. Then, to his astonishment, the rare sound of her laugh rang out. "Ah, grand enfant," she exclaimed.

The laugh, the airy acquiescence, the condescending epithet, stung him. He clenched his teeth as he guided the machine along the roughness of the track. So singularly is man made that he felt it would have been an easier thing to him to carry her off fiercely resisting than in this suave and yielding mood. But nothing now would have turned him from his purpose.

THE WEEK IN LONDON.

AN AUSTRALIAN'S NOTES.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

An Idea Worth Acknowledging.

LONDON, Sept. 6.

An idea was expressed this week which—unlike some ideas about the Empire—is well worth acknowledging:—"If we recognise it to be the first duty of British statesmen so to ameliorate social conditions that Britons in these islands may remain worthy of their Imperial destiny, it must be with the object of building up a worthy stock on which the Dominions can draw to fill their waste spaces, rather than with the narrow design of keeping the best and fittest of our people at home."

That is a very remarkable statement for a British newspaper to make. It is pleasant to be able to acknowledge a broad and generous view when one comes across it; and the above statement of opinion, which was made by a Conservative newspaper, the "Observer," this week, is easily the wisest and widest that has yet come out of all the last fortnight's discussion of Great Britain's "loss" through emigration to Australasia and Canada. The same conservative paper says "There is a great mass of people (in Great Britain), to whom the bitter anxiety for its daily bread leaves little time for thoughts of Empire and little heart for matters beyond the belly-need." The idea of raising these people to better social conditions, so that the Dominions may have a strong stock on which to draw—not grudging them the best and fittest if they desire to take them, but considering that the better and fitter England can supply, the better her duty has been fulfilled—that is a very generous conception for any Englishman to rise to; and if Britain chooses that part for the one which she will play in the Empire, the great Dominions which benefit by it will see, as they come to their manhood, that there is a full and generous return—in defence and support of one kind or another—to the little country which has played its part so well.

Admiral Henderson's Speech.

The same paper said:—"To accept gratefully the present of a few ships from Canada, and to use them in mitigation of the burden on the taxpayers of the mother country, as the New Zealand (the battle-cruiser presented by the Dominion) is to be used, is easy; but it will not tend to any real development of the Empire." That is to say this paper, which, of course, states the views of one of the most influential political thinkers in Great Britain, Mr. Garvin, does not thoroughly approve of the policy of the outright gift of warships by the Dominions to Great Britain for use in European waters. One of the leading naval papers in Great Britain has expressed very similar doubts as to whether the Admiralty ought to have asked for the use of the New Zealand in European waters, or accepted it, seeing that its policy is to encourage the Dominion fleets in the Pacific. It is really a very short step from this point of view to that expressed by Admiral Henderson last week at Glasgow, when he said he regretted that New Zealand had not adopted the same policy as Australia, but had been led into what he called a policy of opportunism.

At the same time, although Admiral Henderson's speech really expresses the Australian view, English newspapers will not publish it, except in a very watery form, for fear that it might offend New Zealand. The version of the speech published in the English papers next day gave only the vaguest outline, much toned down at that. I know that the full text of the contentious passages was in the hands of at least two London editors, one of whom largely agreed with it. But neither would publish it. New Zealand had given Britain this battle-cruiser, and had agreed to her being used in European waters at Britain's request; and, as one editor explained to a friend of mine, whether or no they doubted the wisdom of this, they were not going to risk hurting New Zealand's feelings by publishing criticisms like Admiral Henderson's.

Under the circumstances it is hard to see what other views English editors could well take; but Admiral Henderson's remarks, as we heard them in Glasgow, have never reached the English people.

The "Dead Man's Handle."

This week there happened the first collision that has occurred on the London tube railways. This happened on the Piccadilly tube. People have always been wondering when the first collision would occur, because a collision in a tube is not a comfortable accident to contemplate. You are bottled in a close-fitting cylinder, with an iron roof immediately over your head, and a live electric rail below your feet; your cart just shaves through the tunnel like an arm through a sleeve, and when the collision comes there is precious little room for it.

The companies have always said that collision is impossible. Of course, nobody believed it, although one collision in something over 15 years is the next best thing. The official view is that the method of signalling is automatic and perfect, and that this alone should make collisions impossible. Very wisely, the public has never been satisfied with this, because it suspects that the driver may make mistakes and over-run signals, or faint, or even drop dead. Such things do not happen often, but they do happen sometimes. Only this week a motor-car owner, whilst driving near Reading, died with the steering wheel in his hands, and the car would have run straight into the river had not a friend, who was sitting by the driver, seized the wheel and cleared the danger; and the same papers which reported this accident reported a more serious one from Liverpool, where a steamer, which was moving through the Mersey, suddenly began to ramble wildly, and before the officers could guess the reason of the vessel's erratic course, she had rammed and sunk another steamer. Then they found the captain lying on the bridge, dying, beside the wheel.

Of course, under the old rule by which all locomotives must carry a fireman, as well as the engine-driver, accidents are less likely to happen if one of them faints or dies. But the fireman was unnecessary in an electric car. However, before Parliament allowed the "Two-penny Tube" to dispense with firemen they made two safeguards necessary. In every motor the control handle is made with a sort of indiarubber bulb, which gives when the driver grasps it. So long as he holds it firmly the handle will operate the train; but the moment he relaxes his grip the power is cut off. That is a precaution against his fainting, because if he faints his grip must relax, and the train will stop.

On the other hand, he might die with his hand still gripping the handle, so that the train might overrun the signals and collide with the train ahead. There is a second safeguard against this. The same action which puts the signal against a train also raises a steel arm in the space between the rails. As long as the signal is at danger that steel arm down on the permanent way is raised. If the train for any reason overshoots the signal this arm catches a tap which projects from the train and knocks it aside, which puts the brakes hard on. The train stops, and cannot move until the driver climbs down on to the line and adjusts the tap again. Trains are occasionally stopped in this way on the tubes when the drivers fail to pull up fast enough—a fact which shows how necessary the device is.

But, even so, the human factor is not absolutely eliminated. There are two taps, or arms, on each train—one at each end. For some reason one has to be lowered when the train is moving in one direction, and the other on the return journey. It is possible to forget to lower this arm; it is also possible (as seems to have happened in this case) that the train ahead may for some reason stop just after it clears a signal, so that the driver of the train behind sees no danger signal ahead of him until just the moment before he reaches it. The collision this week was, fortunately, not serious, for the "dead man's handle brake," as it is called, was applied, and speed much reduced.

During the last few years Chamberlain's Tablets have restored hundreds of sickly persons to health and will do as much for you.—Advt.

EDUCATION.

MODERN LANGUAGE TEACHING.

The gradual metamorphosis that has taken place in the art of teaching during the last decade is nothing short of wonderful. Department after department has capitulated to modern methods, until practically the whole system has been revolutionised. There is one branch that has withstood the march of progress in some schools, and that is the teaching of modern languages. The old system has been pertinaciously adhered to, and the cause of this is probably this inability of the teacher to adopt the modern method. Now that psychological research has shown the important part played in the acquisition of a language by auditory and motor associations—that is the memory of the physical experience in hearing and in articulation—it is obvious that teachers must make full use of these factors in the building up of a foreign language, instead of relying exclusively on the visual associations acquired from text books, as has been customary in the past in some schools.

This, of course means the shifting of the centre of gravity of language-teaching from the aim of training pupils to understand the language, and its grammar, to the aims of giving command of the language as a means of self-expression, to serve as a basis for the study of its literature and structure. It means that, especially in the elementary and intermediate stages, the inevitable gap between active and passive knowledge of the language—between the power to use it and the power to understand it—should be kept as narrow as possible.

THE KEYNOTE OF SUCCESS.

The keynote must be self-expression, with all the forms of intellectual training that this implies—the composition in its widest sense, both oral and written. The modern conception of language study is based on the "stylistic" rather than on the grammatical aspect of language. It demands the systematic study of the resources of a language as a means of expression, and not of its structure, except in so far as this is necessary for grammatical correctness.

There are many pupils who can translate a foreign author with comparative facility, but cannot think in the language, and consequently cannot speak it. It is largely due to this fact that so many people who have laboriously acquired a knowledge of three or four modern languages in their student days, promptly forget all they have been at such pains to acquire as soon as they lay books aside to take up their vocation in life.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION LECTURES.

The excellent services rendered to the community by the interesting and instructive lectures delivered under the auspices of the University Extension Board have been highly appreciated. A correspondent suggests that the Trades Hall should enter into come practical movement to bring the great bulk of the workers into closer touch with the educational movement. At present the workers are theoretically interested in the advance of education, but something more than this is required. In order that the movement should be fully beneficial, the workers themselves must become active participants. A suggestion is made that a Workers' Educational Association should be formed, and that a series of lectures should be delivered during the winter months at the Trades Hall or in some other building suitable for the purpose. It is necessary that the lectures should be popular in character, and cover a wide field of interesting topics. No better model could be found for this purpose than that adopted by some of the municipal corporations of England, especially Liverpool, where the winter lectures for working-men have become quite a feature of city life. There is always the danger of any series of public lectures being regarded by the average lay mind as merely the means of affording agreeable discussion on Dante and the earlier Italian poets for the benefit of dilettante ladies with no serious outlook on life. Had the lectures no wider significance than this they would still be of service.

Fortunately, workmen, as a class, realise the advantages of education, and a judicious lecture often brings the knowledge that much mental wealth can be built up on an indifferent and long-neglected educational foundation. The universities have awakened towards the working-man. The Rev. W. Temple put the position tersely and well when he said it was a supreme function of the universities to guide the thought of those who were to mould the destiny of the nation, and, if this was to be done, they must now exert their influence on the working classes. Unless the universities would do that they would themselves be out of touch with the world around them.

PROMOTION OF TEACHERS.

Mr. Rowlands, head assistant teacher at the Homebush Public School, has been appointed to the position of head master at the Whitton Public School. On the eve of his departure from Homebush the pupils made a presentation.

Mr. E. P. Friend, head master of the Guildford school, was prior to the closing of the school for the Michaelmas vacation presented by the children with a gold albert chain. Many of the parents of the children were present at the function, and kindly references were made to Mr. Friend's services in the advancement of the scholars during his 8½ years' residence in the district.

On Thursday the teachers of the three departments of the Newtown Superior Public School assembled to say good-bye to Miss E. M. Cooper, who has been promoted to the position of assistant instructress in cookery at the Technical College. Senior-inspector Parkinson, Mr. J. J. Herlihy, Miss Ryan, and Miss Taylor made eulogistic references to Miss Cooper's ability, and wished her a successful and happy future. Miss Cooper was subsequently the guest of the teachers and pupils at the Newtown Continuation School. At both functions presentations were made.

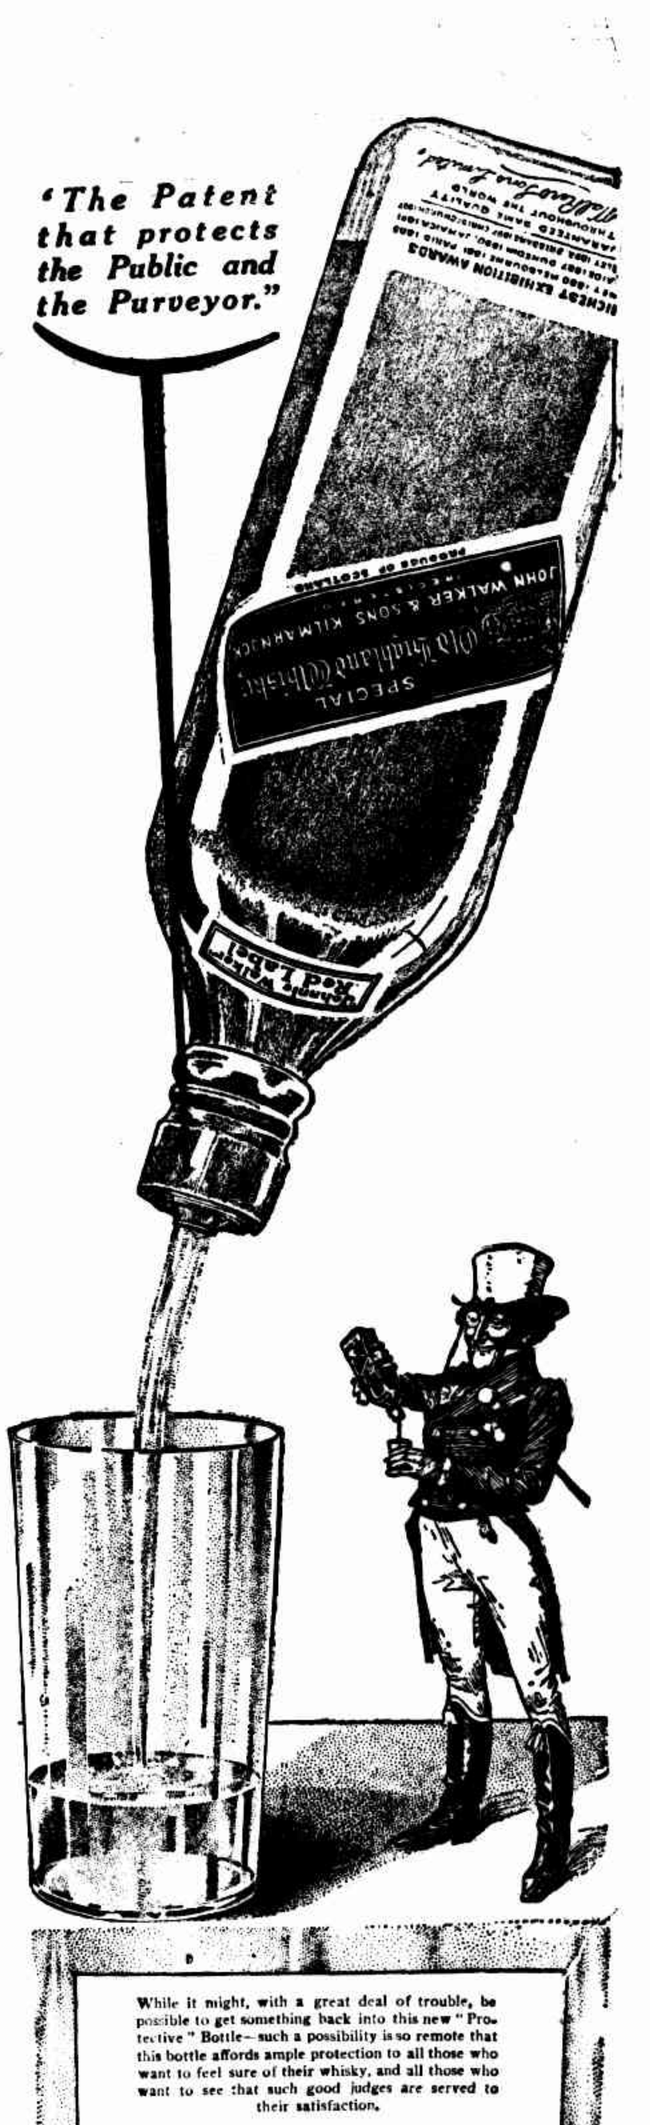

WOMEN TEACHERS.

"At a time when education is receiving more serious attention than ever it did before," writes Miss Douglas, "it behoves the teaching profession to prove to the outside public that they have grasped the problems to be solved, and are leaders who may be trusted. No subject is of more pressing importance, and on none is there greater diversity of views than the training of teachers. Training is still in the experimental stage, and the door should be left open for experiments of all kinds. Many of precisely the same qualities are wanted for a woman teacher as for a mother. Both need to be trained in home and social duties as well as in purely intellectual studies, and there is abundant testimony from wives and mothers to refute the charge often brought against spinster teachers of neglecting this side of their duty. Experience shows that young teachers rarely fail from ignorance of the subjects they profess to teach, but more often from some fault of character, temper, manner, or manners. Some are lacking in voice training. A sarcastic manner is the most blighting of all faults. The personality of the teacher covers a multitude of sins, but there is no personality so strong that it could not be fortified and corrected by early training. The school should not be a house of business or a factory, but should be a wonderland, where children enter by one gate to learn, to work, to wonder, and leave by another, carrying with them strenuous wills, eyes full of admiration, and hearts tender and eager to enter the senior ranks of service."

PIMPLES SO DISFIGURING HE SHUNNED FRIENDS.

"I was bothered with pimples and blackheads in the worst way for over four years. My face and arms were completely covered with them. The pimples would come out on my face and fester all up. They would scale over and make my face sore, besides being so disfiguring that I shunned my friends. I tried facial cream balms and benzoline with no effect. "One night I asked a friend what was good for pimples, and he advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, which I did. I would wash my face first with hot water and Cuticura Soap, and then put on some Cuticura Ointment, let it stay on five minutes, and then wash my face again with the Cuticura Soap. It would draw the blackheads out so nice and the pimples, oh, say, it was one grand relief to go among my friends and be jolly again. After using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment, my face is as smooth as if there never had been a pimple on it. I can not speak too highly of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and I know others will profit by them as much as I have. I know they will after giving them just one trial." (Signed) Arthur E. Caswell, R.F.D. No. 2 Portsmouth, N.H., U.S.A., May 6, 1911.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, a sample of Cuticura Ointment, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to R. Towns and Co., Dept. 30 K, Sydney, N.S.W.—Advt.

While it might, with a great deal of trouble, be possible to get something back into this new "Protective" Bottle—such a possibility is so remote that this bottle affords ample protection to all those who want to feel sure of their whisky, and all those who want to see that such good judges are served to their satisfaction.

This wonderful "Protective" Bottle has joined forces with the "squint" label to guarantee that when your whisky is poured out of a

JOHNNIE WALKER RED Label (Every drop over 10 years old.)

every single drop is exactly the same as when it went into that Johnnie Walker "RED Label" Bottle.

The advantages of this new bottle are:—

1. No waste.
2. No spilling.
3. No corkscrew needed.
4. No "corked" liquor.
5. No decanter necessary.
6. No necessity for metal pourers.
7. No dirt or contamination possible.
8. No pieces of cork to capture.
9. No substitution or adulteration possible.
10. No skill or strength needed to open or pour.
11. No contact of anything but pure porcelain with the whisky.
12. No increase in price.

If you have any difficulty in obtaining Johnnie Walker "Red Label" in the new Protective bottle, send us a postcard with the name of your dealer, and we will see that you are supplied.

BORN 1820—STILL GOING STRONG

Obtainable all Bars, Randwick Racecourse.

"It is impossible to over-estimate the importance of the teeth and mouth both as factors of health and as sources of disease. Every neglected decaying tooth in the mouth is a well-spring of poison in the body."

Odol does more than cleanse and beautify the teeth; it preserves them from decay; it refreshes the whole mouth to the point of exhilaration, keeps the gums healthy and free from tenderness, and delightfully perfumes the breath.

And by a remarkable property peculiar to Odol alone, it permeates the mucous membrane of the entire oral cavity with its antiseptic elements, leaving the mouth proof for hours afterwards against the attacks of injurious bacteria, which, if not guarded against, inevitably destroy the teeth.

Until science produced Odol the world was without a dentifrice that was capable of completely preventing or arresting dental decay, but when it was found that Odol really did this, its success became a matter of course, and quickly spread over every civilised region. Millions of bottles are now sold annually, and every month the sale largely increases.

A BRILLIANT DISPLAY OF

Spring & Summer Suitings

The most famous mills of the world have contributed to this magnificent showing of 1912-13 Spring and Summer Suitings. The greater majority of them were specially selected for us in London, and we assure you that no matter what your fancy is in regard to material, shade, or design, we will most likely have it; if not, we'll have something better.

We have the new light shades of browns and grey, which are to be the popular choice of the present season. These goods are in warm-weather weights, and will make up splendidly, keep their shape, and render a good account in the matter of wear.

There are many men who prefer to have something quite distinctive and exclusive in their Suitings, and for these we make a special feature of single suit lengths, no two alike, and all of the most refined and desirable kind.

When you call, observe how we use the whole of our two large windows in Pitt-st. and five in Rowe-st., to show our high-grade materials in daylight, so that you may make your selection without doubt as to the quality and appearance of the fabric you are ordering. This is a feature appreciated by our clients. We make no window display.

COUNTRY VISITORS should call and register their measurements for future reference. No charge is made for this service, and it is a privilege freely availed of by those who are not prepared to order immediately.

"E. T. Walsh" Tailoring is pre-eminent in the two important elements which distinguish good tailoring from the other kind. These are skill in the cutting and care in the making.

Every order receives personal attention and direction from the time the measuring tape is applied to the last touch of the pressing iron.

Throughout all operations we set a higher standard of quality and workmanship, resulting in supreme desirability of style and fit, and that worthiness and length of service, which in a Suit is the final expression and guarantee of tailoring perfection.

We do not cater to the man who expects high-grade work at low-grade prices, but to the man who is quality-wise—he who figures that it is better to buy two really good tailored Suits at a reasonable price than to get four slop-made, factory suits at a so-called saving.

"Quality" has made our work famous, and you may be sure that the prestige so splendidly earned on worthy effort will only be maintained on worthy effort. This is the largest high-grade tailoring business in Australia, and it is a significant fact that those who once order here continue to do so, and also induce their friends to come along.

We're sure we can please you in every way with your New Suit. In fact, we won't ask you to take it unless you think it is as it should be.

BALMAIN REGATTA.

IDEAL SAILING DAY.

NO SUITABLE FLAGSHIP.

Several counter-attractions served to militate against a large attendance on the occasion of the Balmain regatta yesterday. From a weather point of view, things could hardly have been more favourable, both for rowing and sailing, but the calls of the Eight-Hours procession, the Spring races, a full day's cricket, and the absence of a flagship kept many away. However, there was a goodly muster of spectators, taking all things into consideration, and the keen finishes in the rowing races aroused great enthusiasm among the gathering on White Horse Point.

The morning programme was almost entirely made up of rowing events, and the weather was ideal. A mild breeze from the north-west tempered the heat, but the course was as smooth as glass, and, after luncheon, when the competitors under canvas came into the picture, the breeze strengthened, to the delight of the sailing men. This was Balmain's 63rd annual regatta, and for the first time for several seasons the committee had no flagship suitable for the occasion on which to receive the hundreds of visitors who annually attend the historic event. Arrangements had been made with the Union Steamship Company for the use of the Waitemata, an 8000-ton vessel, but on Friday the company had to withdraw, because, under the newest award, it would have been necessary for them to pay the crew double rate of wages for working on a holiday. The committee, greatly disappointed, tried hard to secure a suitable vessel as flagship, but failed, and in the circumstances had to fall back upon a Balmain ferry steamer, the Lady Rawson.

It is interesting to note that the first flagship used, in 1849, when the regatta began, was the Signal Rose, a trader plying between Sydney and Newcastle. Big attendances were not at that time customary at regattas at Balmain, and as late as 1892, when the committee, owing to a shortage of funds, deleted the rowing races from their programme, there were only about 30 people on the flagship. The tide turned that year, however, and large gatherings have been the rule rather than the exception ever since. No doubt, the committee will now consider the advisability of altering the date of the regatta. Up till the time of King Edward's death the event was held on his birthday, November 9, but afterwards the date was altered. Eight-hours Day, however, offers too many other "plums" in the way of amusement, not to mention the fact that many strong trade unionists are precluded from competing on account of the processions.

Owing to the scarcity of entries last year the motor boat races were not held this year. Extra sails were used in the skiffs for the first time.

THE LUNCHEON.

The president, Ald. George Clubb, Mayor of Balmain, presided at the luncheon, which was held in the club house of the Balmain Rowing Club, owing to there not being sufficient room aboard the flagship.

Mr. A. W. Sommerville, one of the judges, proposing "Success to Balmain Regatta," said that it was the first time in the history of the regatta that the official luncheon had not been held aboard the flagship. Still, the committee were not downhearted at the disappointment they had suffered, and would work even harder for the future success of the regatta. (Applause.) Every possible effort was made to secure a flagship suitable for the occasion.

Three cheers were given for the continued success of the regatta.

Mr. N. J. M'Donald, chairman of committees, responding, said the committee appreciated the generous action of the Balmain Rowing Club in lending them their club house. Some of the most famous races in aquatic history had been rowed in connection with Balmain regatta, and he felt sure the absence that day of a flagship would not tend to diminish the efforts of its promoters for future success. (Hear, hear.)

Ald. Thornton proposed "The Visitors." Mr. T. S. Donald spoke for the sailing clubs, and Mr. J. Scott for the rowing clubs.

ROWING RACES.

Up to midday the water was smooth, and there was very little wind. The maiden eights was won by Leichhardt by 6ft. The senior fours went to Balmain Club with ease, but the second and third crews raced all the way on even terms. The maiden fours for oarsmen under 10st weight was won by Enterprise by 3ft from Leichhardt. A handicap in best sculling boats was won easily by Henry Green. The heavyweight maiden fours was won by a Leichhardt club, which also secured the eighths. Junior fours was another win for the Enterprise Club, and the last event of the day, a handicap in Gladstone skiffs, went to North Shore Club. The water during the afternoon was rough, and there was a strong head wind. The boat race officials were Mr. J. McDonald, umpire; J. McGregor, starter; A. Ramsay, judge; and J. Scott, timekeeper. The number of entries was large, and the sport was well conducted.

MAIDEN EIGHTS. Course, from Callan Park to flagship; distance, about 1½ mile.

Leichhardt R.C.: J. Doyle, W. Gordon, E. Ferguson, S. Tweedale, E. Holborn, P. Hallstrom, N. Burgess, R. Benns (str), O. J. Wood (cox and coach) 1
Enterprise R.C.: L. Thompson, W. Wardrope, C. Cavanagh, R. Aitkenhead, E. Hughes, N. Lyons, A. Davis, H. Green (str), F. Cronin (cox and coach) 3
North Shore R.C.: G. B. Smith, G. H. Hair, G. F. Mitchell, A. Dobbie, P. M. Rooke, E. Connolly, A. J. Ellis, E. O. Moore (str), W. Noble (cox).. 4

From a perfectly even start Leichhardt gained on the first quarter-mile, but was hard pressed by University. Half-way down the course Leichhardt had less than a length's lead, but were the brightest rowing crew in the race. University soon afterwards closed up, and a desperate race home resulted in a win by six feet for Leichhardt. The other two crews were unable to hang on to the pace set them by the placed boats. The water was smooth, and the course well kept. Time, 7m 39s.

SENIOR FOURS. Course, from Rodd Island to flagship; distance, about 1½ mile.

Balmain R.C.: M. E. Chapman, W. Kolts, S. R. Grant, H. Grandon (str), W. Finlay (coach) 1
Leichhardt R.C.: V. Hoskins, G. C. Dight, L. Blakely, J. K. Cogle (str), J. G. Eastmore (coach) 2
Leichhardt R.C., No. 2 Crew: W. Dummick, M. Mizon, R. Symons, F. Mizon (str) 3
Balmain R.C., No. 2 Crew: A. J. Goode, R. Aithens, P. Ryan, J. Robinson (str) 4
Sydney R.C.: F. Erhard, C. J. Wellesley, A. C. Jackson, R. Rabett (str) 5
Enterprise R.C.: W. J. Smith, J. E. Holley, S. H. Knight, C. Wooll (str)—Gave up.

Leichhardt No. 2 crew showed fine pace for so light a team, and held on to Balmain No. 1 very well. On the first half of the course there was a deal of good rowing, and the result was in doubt until H. Grandon's crew established a lead of a couple of lengths when passing White Horse Point. Here Balmain No. 2 appeared to have a very slight advantage of the two Leichhardt boats, which had hampered one another through bad steering. Grandon won by a couple of lengths, and the two Leichhardt crews finished together. Balmain No. 2 crabbed just on the finishing line, and so lost a place. Time was 10m 4s.

MAIDEN FOURS (lightweights), course from Iron Cove Bridge to flagship.

Enterprise R.C.—W. Cocking, H. Motton, H. M'Kay, S. Anderson (str.) 1
Leichhardt R.C.—E. Lamb, H. Uden, F. Coucom, N. Whitting (str.) 2
Balmain R. C.—L. S. Allen, J. Baker, S. Royal, W. S. Bradhurst (str.) 3
Enterprise R.C.—G. Wood, G. Marsh, G. M'Kenzie, H. Nicholson 4

This was a very hard race to win, and after keeping side by side nearly all the way, Anderson's crew won by three feet. It was a fine contest. Time, 6m 30s.

AMATEUR SCULLING HANDICAP, in best boats, distance about 1¼m.

Enterprise R.C.—H. Green (scratch) 1
Balmain R.C.—S. Grant, allowed 20sec. 2
Enterprise R.C.—W. Carter, allowed 15sec. 3
Enterprise R.C.—A. Chapman, allowed 20sec. 0

Green, who holds the title of amateur sculling champion of Australia, rowed nicely indeed, showed improved form, and has filled out, too. He soon caught his rivals, and won easily by about three lengths. Earlier in the day he had stroked his club in the maiden eights, but was not successful in that event. Winner's time, 9m 22s.

MAIDEN FOURS (any weight), course from Iron Cove Bridge to flagship, distance about a mile.

University B.C., No. 2.—R. M. Allport, F. M'Barton, W. F. Crawford, B. B. Bloomfield (str)..... 2
Enterprise R.C.—E. Wills, S. Drennan, T. Timbrell, W. Lynch (str) 3

Other starters: University No. 2, Enterprise, and Balmain. This was a magnificent race all the way, and was won by a final effort by Leichhardt, the same oarsmen having been successful in the maiden eights earlier in the morning. The rowing generally was good, and there were several oarsmen of much prominence in the competing boats. The time was 6m 39s, and the successful crew had less than a length to spare.

JUNIOR FOURS. Course, from Callan Park to flagship, distance about 1¼m.

Enterprise R.C. (J. Wooll, C. Shand, D. Christianson, J. Walker stroke) 1
Glebe R.C. (J. Rogerson, G. Walters, E. Sutton, E. Cochrane stroke) 2
Leichhardt R.C. (A. Symons, R. Barder, J. Hoskins, R. Williams stroke) 3
University B.C. (C. W. L. Pulling, W. Hay, J. Digby, R. B. Carter stroke) 4

University was a fine crew, but forfeited a good chance by keeping out in midstream, and so having to contend against a strong breeze and rough water. Enterprise was not able to get away from Glebe and Leichhardt for a half-mile, but afterwards drew away and won by about three lengths, and by another five from Leichhardt.

AMATEUR SCULLERS' HANDICAP, in Gladstone skiffs. Course, from Callan Park to flagship.

North Shore R.C. (Gordon Smith, 40s) 1
North Shore R.C. (A. Dobbie, 3ss) 2
Enterprise R.C. (W. Carter, scr) 3

The water was too rough for the class of boat, and one or two filled. Other starters were:—E. Partridge, J. Chidgey, W. Petersen, and J. J. Doyle.

SAILING EVENTS.

The breeze was very light and shifty in the morning, but came mostly from the north-west. After noon, however, it veered round, and blew a spanking nor'-easter. It was a glorious breeze for the afternoon contests, and, although the majority of the boats sported second sails, there were a number of capsizes and mishaps, and in several of the races only a few of the contestants finished.

Aoma secured a comfortable win in the yacht race from Rawhiti and Culwulla, the ex-Victorian yacht Sayonara being unplaced. There were two doubles won during the day, Myra accounting for both 10-footers' races, while the new 18-footer Kismet annexed both those of her class. The latter has done remarkably well, her successes yesterday making her record:—Four starts, three firsts, and one fifth. Mr. W. M. Ford's new boat Australian was expected to make her first appearance in these events, but could not be got ready in time.

The skiffs, as usual, made a good showing, and Assegai, which won the opening race of the season, disposed of all opposition in the morning race, while Phillips was first home in the afternoon event. Triton won the cruisers' race from Mimosa, while Tasman annexed the general handicap and Thelma the 6-footers' event. A resume of the racing is as follows:—

DINGIES, 6ft; handicap. Course: From Greenwich, round flagship, thence round buoy off Woolwich Dock, back round flagship, round buoy off Woolwich Dock, and finish between flagship and gunboat. First prize, £1/10, second £1/1/, third trophy by Mr. J. Donaldson.

Thelma (H. Collins), scr 1
Novice (T. Ellis), 2½m 2
Livonia (A. Appleton), ½m 3

Other entries: Queenie (A. Stevens), 1¼m; Edna (R. Collins), 1m; Nimrod (H. Freeman), ½m; Gwen (F. Drysdale), scr.

Thelma gradually made her way to the front in the light air, and secured an easy win, but it was a close thing for second, as the following times at the finish show:—Thelma, 12h 9m 5s; Novice, 12h 10m 31s; Livonia, 12h 10m 34s; Nimrod, 12h 24m 20s.

DINGIES, 10ft. Course: From Greenwich, round flagship off Whitehorse Point, Goat Island, flagmark off Whitehorse Point, and back to flagship. First prize £2/10/, second £1/1/, third trophy by Mr. W. H. May.

Myra (P. Harry), scr 1
Waratah (R. Keddie), scr 2
Australia (B. Smith), 1m 3

Other entries: Estelle (O. Golding), 3½m; Wheatear (G. Drysdale), 1½m; Native (L. Blake), 1m; Cornstalk (F. Pethebridge), ½m.

In the light breeze the handicap boats found the scratch dingies Waratah and Myra up amongst them early, and Myra eventually won by 34s; the finishing times being: Myra, 1h 53m 34s; Waratah, 1h 57m 8s; Australia, 1h 54m 30s; Wheatear, 1h 54m 42s.

SAILING SKIFFS, 16ft. Handicap, 4 hands. No ballast (under S.S.S.C. rules). Course: Same as dingies, 10ft. First prize £5/5/ and Mr. J. M. Dempster's trophy, second £2/10/, third £1, fourth trophy.

Assegai (R. Mills), 2½m 1
Murcia (J. Moppett), scr 2
Planet (H. Price), 3½m 3
Vailua (F. A. Lomer), scr 4

Other entries: Maori (H. Skiller), 6m; Gwen (J. Paterson), 6m; Eunice (T. Brown), 4½m; Ensign (L. Milton), 4½m; Isidore (J. Findlay), 4½m; Belle (L. O'Toole), 4½m; Ibex (A. Keegan), 4½m; Minoru (F. Dearing), 4m; Austral (H. Matthews), 4m; Australian (T. Lennie), 3½m; Ena (J. Drake), 3½m; Kangaroo (C. Blackford), 3½m; Lark (R. Beashel), 3m; Sydney (H. Roderick), ½m; Phillips (G. Findlay), scr; Fisher (C. A. M. Fisher), scr; V.I.M. (T. Fisher), scr.

Murcia was prominent early, and afterwards looked a sure winner but coming back to the flagship for the last time Assegai overhauled her and crossed the line first. Finishing times: Assegai, 1h 29m 26s; Murcia, 1h 29m 51s; Planet, 1h 30m 29s; Vailua, 1h 27m 15s; Eva, 1h 38m 9s; Sydney, 1h 38m 14s.

ALL BOATS, 18 feet, best and best, handicaps at start. Course: Same as dingies 10ft. First prize £9, second £4, third £2, fourth £1.

Kismet (W. Dunn), scr 1
Advance (H. E. Thompson), 4m 2
Zena (J. M. Firth), 2m 3
Eunice (G. H. Perry), 4m 4

The others were:—Donnelly I. (G. Holmes), 1½m; Hero (W. J. Duncan), 1½m; Golding (T. Shirley), 1m; Nimrod (W. Keddie), scr; Australian (C. Webb), scr.

Eunice and Advance appeared to have matters all their own way; but, after leading back to Longnose Point the last time, they were left in the doldrums, and Kismet, carrying the breeze with her, went to the front and won by 25s from Advance, which was followed by Zena. Crossing the finishing line the times were: Kismet, 1h 53m 22s; Advance, 1h 53m 57s; Zena, 1h 54m 3s; Eunice, 1h 54m 43s; Nimrod, 1h 54m 52s; Golding was next, followed by Hero.

ALL YACHTS. Course: From a line between the starter's boat and Greenwich Wharf, round Fort Denison, then back round flagmark off White Horse Point, thence round pilelight in Watson's Bay, and back to flagship. First prize, £9 9s; second prize, £1 4s; third prize, £1 1s.

Aoma (Wadsworth and Fleming, 28m 1
Rawhiti (Albert and Sayer), scr 2
Culwulla III. (W. M. Marks), 4m 3

Other starters: Sayonara (P. Ross), scr; Petrel (C. Trebeck), 17m; Yeulba (A. L. Mullens), 17m; Ranee (A. W. Pritchett), 20m; Sunbeam (A. W. Crane), 22m.

As the yachts received their handicaps at the start, very little of interest took place in the first part of the race, except that Yeulba opened out a lead from Petrel, and Rawhiti had drawn ahead of Sayonara. On the journey to White Horse Point Aoma was the only yacht to escape being hung up under Longnose Point. This was due to the fact that her skipper is an old Balmain resident, and had more local knowledge than the other skippers. Crossing the Quay for the second time Aoma had a long lead from Ranee, Rawhiti passed Culwulla III., Sayonara came next, followed by Yeulba, Petrel (without her topsail), and Sunbeam last. On the beat to the pilelight Rawhiti and Culwulla III. overhauled Ranee, and considerably decreased the limit boat's lead. Running back to the flagship Yeulba, Petrel, and Sunbeam retired.

The official times taken at the finish were:—Aoma, 3h 3m 42s; Rawhiti, 3h 44m 4s; Culwulla III., 3h 45m 3s; Sayonara, 3h 50m 51s; Ranee, 3h 52m 10s. Aoma thus won by the narrow margin of 22s, and Rawhiti secured the second prize from Culwulla III. by 61s.

ALL BOATS, Cruisers under S.A.S.C. Rules.—Handicap. Course: From Greenwich, round flagmark off Whitehorse Point, round Fort Denison, back round flagmark off Whitehorse Point, round Goat Island, and finish at flagship. First prize, trophy value £4 4s; second prize, trophy value £1 1s.

Triton (W. D. M. Taylor), scr. 1
Mimosa (Capt. H. C. Christiansen), scr. 2

Other entries: Margarita, 20ft (Witten, Rayment, and Scrutton), 12m; Doreen, 20ft (E. G. Stimson), 11m; Zephyr, 22ft (S. G. Littlejohn), 7m; Scot Free, 26ft (H. Walters), 4m.

The times at the finish were:—Triton, 4h 57m 48s; Mimosa, 5h 0m 29s; Scot Free, 5h 1m 4s.

GENERAL HANDICAP.—Handicaps at start. Sails limited to jib, mainsail, and one extra, booming out allowed (any crews). Course: Same as dingies, 10ft. First prize, £6; second, £3; third, £1; fourth, 10s.

Tasman, 18ft (W. Douglas), 12m 1
Caneebie, 22ft (H. Macpherson), 8m 2
Idothea, 19ft 7in (J. Robinson), 8m 3
Kerika, 22ft (O. Taylor), scr. 4

Other entries. Clio, 14ft (J. Toelle), 24m; Lillie, 16ft (R. M. Matthews), 19m; Frolic, 18ft (F. McLean), 16m; Torres, 18ft (N. Blackman), 16m; Elaine, 18ft (W. Treloar), 14m; Janet, 21ft 6in (A. C. Barber), 13m; Ivy, 18ft (R. Crawford), 12m; Alert, 18ft (R. Smith), 11m; Viona, 22ft (W. Watson), 7m.

The finishing times were:—Tasman, 4h 52m 18s; Caneebie, 4h 54m 2s; Idothea, 4h 56m 22s; Kerika, 4h 57m 46s; Torres, 4h 59m 40s.

SAILING SKIFFS, 16ft.—Handicap. Four hands, jib and mainsail only, no booming out allowed, no ballast. (Under P.J.S. Club rules.) Course: Same as dingies, 10ft. First prize, £6 6s, points in Rawson Challenge Cup; second, £2 10s; third, £1 10s; fourth, 10s.

Phillips (G. Findlay), ½m 1
Ibex (A. Dickison), 3½m 2
Lark (R. Beashell), 1½m 3

Other entries: Maori (H. Skiller), 7m; Gwen (A. Patterson), 6½m; Eunice (T. Brown), 5m; Ensign (L. Milton), 4½m; Isidore (J. Findlay), 4m; Belle (L. O'Toole), 4m; Minoru (F. Dearing), 3½m; Planet (H. Price), 3½m; Austral (H. Matthews), 3½m; Ena (J. Drake), 3m; Australian (T. Lennie), 2m; Kangaroo (C. Blackford), 2m; Assegai (P. Mills), ½m; Fisher (C. A. Fisher), ½m; V.I.M. (W. Fisher), ½m; Sydney (H. Roderick), scr.; Vailua (F. A. Lomer), scr.; Murcia (J. Moppet), ½m behind scr.

Dingies, 10ft; handicaps at start. Course: Same as dingies, 10ft, morning race. First prize, £2/10/; second, £1/10/; third, trophy.

Myra (P. Harry), scr. 1
Cornstalk (F. Pethebridge), 1½m 2

Other entries:—Estelle (J. M'Donald), 4½m; Millie (A. Andresen), 4m; Wheatear (G. Drysdale), 2½m; Australia (P. Giles), 2m; Native (L. Blake), 2m; Waratah (J. Dorn), ½m.

As in the morning race, Myra proved too good for her opponents, and secured her second win of the day. The finishing times were:—Myra, 5.30.42; Cornstalk, 5.22.6. These were the only two to finish.

All Boats, 18ft, best and best; handicaps at start. Course: Same as all boats-cruisers. First prize, £8; second, £4; third, £2.

TO CURE OBESITY.

Medical men who make the cure of obesity their particular forte are always prepared to hear the complaint, "I don't eat much." All of their patients tell them this, and all of them believe it to be true. A few exceptions admit that they are enormous feeders, but say "it is impossible for me to control my appetite." A few years since doctors could advise no better prescription for weight reduction than starvation diet and violent exercise. Nowadays they just prescribe "Formettes" and tell the patient not to alter his or her usual mode of life at all. Formettes are a scientifically prepared herbal preparation that will reduce superfluous fat without dieting, exercising, or leaving any after ill-effects. They actually increase the appetite while decreasing the weight, brace up the system by their excellent tonic effects, and can be taken by persons in all conditions of health. They have been found invaluable as a remedy for many corpulency complaints, such as palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, indigestion, dyspepsia, sick headache, and heartburn, and as they are put up in the convenient form of tablets can be taken quite secretly at or away from home, and their beneficial effects are quite permanent. Formettes are now sold by all chemists and the principal stores at 3/3 per carton. Anthony Hordern and Sons, Washington Soul, Pattinson Bros., chemists, wholesale Elliott Bros., or direct from S. H. Henshall, chemist, 246 Clarendon-street, South Melbourne.—Advt.

LABOUR CARNIVAL.

GREAT PROCESSION.

SPLENDID DISPLAYS.

VIEWED BY MANY THOUSANDS.

Labour, for its time-honoured annual celebration of the concession of the eight-hour system, was favoured with splendid weather. There was no boisterous wind to interfere with the uniformity in the procession or to threaten with destruction the expensive banners which imparted colour and dignity to each unit, and, indeed, during the forenoon at any rate, there was merely a gentle breeze tempering the heat, which otherwise might have reached the summer mark. The carnival was, therefore, held under the happiest auspices, and not only was the march through the city witnessed by thousands who crowded the line of route, but a great gathering of people assembled at the Royal Agricultural Society's Grounds to enjoy the programme of sports provided for their delectation.

It was a long procession. It took a full hour to pass down the streets in which the marshalling was done and leave the Town Hall. A crowd filled the spaces in front of the Town Hall, and lined the route. Sightseers swarmed over street vantage points, wherever they happened to be, and covered the awnings about the Queen Victoria Markets and other buildings. The tram traffic was stopped while it was in progress. Taken altogether, the spectacle was well arranged and directed. The banners of the various societies and unions broke the long line at frequent intervals, and as their colours were all of the brightest, the sombrous streets, filled with people in mostly sombre-coloured clothes, were lightened up, and, with the crash of martial music echoing from the walls, the city became gay for a while. It was a day out, of course, for the theatrical employees and the wigmakers and hairdressers. They had an opportunity of lifting portion of the procession from its utilitarian rose, and creating a welcome diversion. Beefeaters in red, four resplendent Life Guardsmen, and others in mediaeval garb, headed the section. There was a caravel upon a trolley, followed by a Noah's Ark, with the animals wagging their heads over the bulwarks and from the windows. The youngsters in the crowd cheered enthusiastically at this. Then came Indians in full war paint, mounted on fiery mustangs accustomed to city service and brass band music, and huge pantomime masks carried aloft over elongated bodies. Several other theatrical "props." were employed with success.

MEN IN ARMOUR.

One of the best sections followed the banners of the stovemakers, ironworkers, etc. Men in armour caracoled their steeds, and made way for a huge crown, borne on the shoulders of half a dozen others, and a double trolley display of horseshoeing. The smithy was complete, being roofed and fitted up with furnaces and anvils. The ponies courageously stood their unaccustomed elevation well, and the smiths did their best to make the operations last for an hour. This show was followed by a body of men in dark blue working clothes, each with his leather apron on, and the result was that it gave a distinctive appearance to the show. This form of carrying out the trades' display might with effect be extended. As a rule there was to be seen an exhibit of some kind on a trolley, and the members of the union simply following on foot in ordinary "best" clothes, mostly one of patches when it might be turned into an event of carnival appearance from end to end almost.

TRAMGUARDS AND FIREMEN.

In the course of time street processions such as this will be marched, not merely walked. When the defence policy has made its due mark those following the banners will not straggle along in disorderly squads, but will show by their erect bearing and their pacing in step to the beat of the drum that they have been drilled. As it was, there was no military precision in the procession until the tramguards came into view with a company of firemen behind them. In neat blue uniforms they kept time. For the moment the character of the procession was changed. As they marched along York-street towards Druitt-street, where they turned in to follow the others, they were stopped for a few minutes by a block ahead. Looking down at them from the Town Hall windows, they swayed gently from side to side as they started time. Then the word "forward" was given, and they stepped it out gallantly, the sun glancing on the brass helmets of the firefighters. The crowd cheered heartily. A tramcar mounted on a lorry, and covered with green stuff and flowers, was the accompanying display piece.

The plasterers' had a striking tableau, consisting of some girls in white, surrounding one fair maiden, impersonating Ceres, in a classical robe of gold, on a throne under a pillared temple of white plaster. The plumbers' trade was represented by a grouping of grossic lead piping and other articles of the craft on a white ground in pyramid form. The art of the potter was demonstrated by a van of jars and moulded articles arranged on a stand. The work was shown by a small set piece, in which a couple of men plied at their tools of trade. The stonemasons had a large square of freestone and the marble masons were also busy chipping at a block. Slabs of brightly polished coloured marbles filled a frame on a trolley.

TRANSPORT PAST AND PRESENT.

Motors were brought into use in several sections. A motor traction engine champed its way along, bearing the proud announcement that it was designed and manufactured wholly in Australia. The women workers rode in a motor. Transport past and present was well illustrated by a number of models of all kinds running on a circular road in a small pavilion, in which primitive bullock teams were shown beside the model of the mighty locomotive engine. A carriage exhibit was also on a motor car.

The shipwrights carried models of boats of various kinds, and following them was a trolley heaped up with piles of rope and cordage inside a pavilion that had been the exhibit of the ropemakers. The tobacco trade was centred in a group in which the principal figures were a gladiator standing with drawn sword over his fallen foe. A huge cigar was borne on a vehicle, from which tobacco and cigars were thrown amongst the crowd. A piano, with other instruments around it was the piano manufacting employees' emblem. Basketmakers were at work in another effective group in a workshop. The City Council service men came along with a watering cart and a brand new rubbish conveyor, while the cleaning and dusting fraternity, proudly mounted on horseback, had their buckets on their heads, their baskets on their backs, and their brooms over their shoulders.

SAILORS ON THE MARCH.

The sailors were there with a banner which they pulled along themselves. As they passed the Town Hall they waved their caps to Mr Fisher, who was on the roof of the portico. Probably each man had a copy of the Navigation Bill in his pocket. Ten magnificently-equipped grey horses in blue and white, with jingling bells, drew a lorry load of wheat, with sheaves at the corners, and another ten greys with pale blue and white harness made a fine picture with a wool exhibit, on which were half a dozen pretty girls in a picturesque group, while others sat in niches in the sides of the woolpack. The glassmakers had a dazzling show of mirrors mounted on a four-sided stand, which flashed back the sun's rays in blinding confusion.

The Women Workers' Union, as previously mentioned, rode in a motor. There was also a display which was greatly admired. A frame on a lorry drawn by horses gaily decked out in purple flowers contained a "Queen of the Flowers" and a "Rosebud Queen." Several flower-makers were busy at their trade around them.

Those who had an eye for horseflesh had quite a treat in the splendid draughts that were in the procession. All were tricked out with ribbons and colours, and they formed no inconsiderable feature of the procession.

At the head of the procession, following the four mounted police, in blue and silver, and the marshal on a white horse, was the Pioneers' coach, containing those who had been at the head of unionism in its early years. In some part of the procession was a lorry show, divided into two, the characters in the one half being in rags and dirt, out of town. Teams from several Roman Catholic schools competed this year for the first time.

An unpleasant incident occurred in connection with the cycling events. The New South Wales Cyclists' Union officials had completed two heats in the race for the amateur bicycle championship of New South Wales, when the president of the League of Wheelmen insisted on starting the Fisher scratch race. The Cyclists' Union officials urged that their men were ready to complete the amateur event, but in spite of the protest of the League men were lined up on the grass, and sent away on their race. Mr. G. Liggins, secretary of the Cyclists' Union, and Mr. O'Halleran, race secretary, held a conference with their executive, and decided not to compete further. "The League officials have defied the Eight Hours Sports committee," said Mr. Liggins, "and their action is most unsportsmanlike." Mr. A. O'Brien, president of the league of Wheelmen, would say nothing further than that his men wished to get away, and the race was therefore commenced. "The union's event was scheduled for 3.35, and it was 3.50 when we started our race," he added. "I am very sorry if we offended them."

The principal events resulted as follows:—

Amateur Status, Half-mile (New South Wales Cyclists' Union).—First heat: W. Cross, 60yds, 1; Time, 1m 4 1-5s. Second heat: J. Pitgaway, 40yds, 1; Time, 1m 4 2-5s. Third heat: H. M. THE SPORTS.

The sports programme carried out at the Agricultural Ground attracted a tremendous crowd of spectators. The committee had specially catered for the children who competed in the events. As the little ones arrived each was presented with a bag of nuts and lollies. From 8.30 in the morning till the procession arrived at the grounds five men were engaged making up these parcels. A boys' holiday is made enjoyable with lollies or cakes, but it is not complete without ginger beer. So the Eight-Hours committee gave each boy and each girl, too, a pannikin, and provided as much ginger beer as any child desired. The Sutter Pavilion was reserved for the 500 boy and girl competitors. The Michaelmas holidays interfered with the children's events this year, as a number of teachers and pupils were

HER EXCELLENCY LADY DENMAN.

Mr. H. E. Pratten (president of the Chamber of Manufactures), Mr. G. Cann, M.P., Sir William M'Millan, and a number of the aldermen. The Premier and some of the State Ministers were posted at a position along the line of march. Senator M'Gregor was in the Pioneers' coach. A number of members of Parliament prominent in the movement took part in the procession. At Hyde Park the crowds were thickly on both sides of the line, and a strong force of police had a busy time in keeping order.

The committee made the following awards in connection with the procession:—

Most Artistic Display.—Wool and Basil Workers' Union, 1; Rope and Twine Binders, 2; Theatrical Employees' Union, 3.

Most Spectacular Display.—Theatrical Employees' Union, 1; Plasterers' Union, 2; Tobacco Workers, 3.

Trades' Display.—Farmers' Union, 1; Stonemasons' Union, 2; Wicker-workers' Union, 3.

Marching.—Tramway Employees, 1; Farriers' Union, 2; Fire Brigades, 3.

DRAUGHTS CHAMPIONSHIP.

TOURNAMENT AT EASTER.

The Australasian draughts championship is to be decided in Sydney during Easter week next year. The first contest for the title took place at the Melbourne Exhibition nearly a quarter of a century ago, when Mr. Patterson was the winner. A year or two later Mr. W. Warnock secured the honour at the Dunedin (N.Z.) Exhibition. Subsequently it was wrested from him by Mr Robert Mar, of Queensland, who held it unchallenged until his death in December, 1908.

Thereupon the Brisbane Draughts Club organised a tournament for the championship of Australasia in connection with the jubilee of Queensland Exhibition carnival, which took place in August, 1909. Prior to that contest the competitors from the various States held a meeting, at which it was agreed to form a draughts association of Australasia, and arranged the order in which future Australasian tournaments should be played biennially. The winner at Brisbane proved to be Mr. J. A. Boreham, of Dunedin (N.Z.).

In accordance with the resolution of conference, the Dominion became entitled to hold the next tournament, which was successfully carried out at Dunedin during Easter week last year. That encounter resulted in a decisive win for Mr. W. Penman, the well-known Scottish tourney player, who has since returned to his native land.

Following the order of rotation decided at Brisbane in 1909, New South Wales is entitled to hold the next contest for the comprehensive title. Accordingly, at a meeting of players held at the Sydney Central Draughts Club room, 770 George-street, Sydney, it was resolved that the next tournament should be held in this city at Easter, 1913, under the auspices of the Australasian Draughts Association. The local executive was elected as follows:—Messrs. L. M'Lean Shaw, president; John Lee, hon treasurer; W. M. Mills, hon secretary; J. Illingworth, E. Griffin, J. Drury, F. Ware, and F. Mathieson, committee. The rules under which the contest will be conducted are, briefly, entrance fee, one guinea; residential qualification, six months' residence in any part of Australasia; play to be on the two-life system, and two-move ballot restriction (43 openings); two sittings of four hours each per day), four games between each pair of players, with further pairs of games in the event of a tie, subject to Anderson's laws. The competitors are to meet before play begins, and decide as to the course to be adopted in the event of any pair of players having an equal score after 12 games have been contested. This is designed to prevent the undue prolongation of the tournament.

It is intended to offer the following sums as minimum prizes, which will be increased if funds permit:—First, £20 and trophy; second, £10; third, £5.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL, LORD DENMAN.

WHO TOOK HIS DEPARTURE FROM SYDNEY LAST NIGHT, OWING TO THE DECISION OF THE GOVERNMENT TO CLOSE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT HOUSE.

ON THE BARRIER.

SPEECH BY MR. THOMAS.

BROKEN HILL, Monday.

Speaking at the Eight-Hours Day banquet on Saturday night, Mr. M. F. Considine, in proposing "The Day we Celebrate," hoped this would be the last occasion on the Barrier that Eight-Hours Day would be celebrated. He hoped the working class of Broken Hill would raise the slogan of a six-hours day, and that the Hill would be in the van of Australian unionists in unfurling the six-hours flag.

Other speakers supported Mr Considine's remarks and expectations.

Mr Josiah Thomas, the Minister for External Affairs, said that in order to solve the problem of the distribution of wealth in Australia it was necessary for them to be courageous. By that he meant the courage to try experiments. Australia owed more to the prospector than it did to anybody else. He meant by the term prospector, not necessarily the men who prospected for minerals, but the prospector in the wider sense of the word. If they but achieved what they were anxious to achieve, there would not be the great contrasts in life there were to-day. If the wealth of the land was to be fairly and equitably distributed, they must be prepared to take some risks in experimenting, even if those experiments brought about a certain amount of disaster in their train. Until they became courageous they could not hope to solve the problem. It would be a bad day for civilisation if the time came when everybody was absolutely contented.

DUNTROON BOYS.

VISIT TO MELBOURNE.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The second batch of cadets who are training at the Royal Australian Military College, Duntroon, are visiting Melbourne, with the object of inspecting the various Commonwealth factories. The boys will remain in Melbourne for three days.

MILITARY.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The Victorian battery of the Permanent Field Artillery will leave Melbourne on November 13 for Sydney, to attend the school of instruction at National Park, where field training and shooting will be carried out.

LADIES' KENNEL CLUB SHOW.

KEEN COMPETITION.

The fifth annual championship show of the Ladies' Kennel Club yesterday attracted the biggest entries (621) of the year. Not only were most of the metropolitan owners represented, but fanciers from Victoria, Queensland, and South Australia also entered. The latter show was held in the roomy pavilion of the Agricultural Society's grounds. The 11 judges got through their work so expeditiously that nearly all the awards were made by 1 o'clock.

Fox-terriers topped the entry list with 102 nominations. Chief honours in dogs went to J. C. Wood's Newcastle Whitehouse (imp.), who was very closely pressed by Ebsworth and Jones' Pungilly (imp.). T. F. Hammon's Adelaide bitch, Glenora Bridget, silenced all the local cracks, her nearest rivals being F. Roberts' Ivanhoe Radiance and Ivanhoe Regalia.

Bulldogs, with 85 entries, also made an imposing array. Half a dozen imported specimens of this popular breed were in the ring. Clarke and Patrick's Loddon Obsession Sandy (imp.) won in the dog and bitch classes. The championship, however, went to the Newcastle dog, champion Lord Tom Noddy, owned by Mrs. J. W. Clark. A son of this dog, Lord Noddy (owned by C. Lee, of Brisbane), was runner-up. Then came H. Ekin's Lord Regent, who was in front of the well-known Darlington (imp.). The Pilcher champion (imp.), Colchester Rajah (imp.), and Lord Chancellor. These eight dogs made the best open class that has been seen for a long time. In the bitches H. G. Lamb did well with his New Zealand purchases, Meltrah Bellona and Meltrah Serpico, but H. F. Shaw's Madame Mahomet (imp.), the open class winner, was the best of her sex shown. A. Goss's Bankside Gem (imp.), the Bulldog Society's champion, was not brought into the ring.

In the Irish terrier section open dog class, Mrs. J. T. Brown's ch. Flown Fire (imp.) beat A. Kienast's Melbourne representative, ch. Crow Gill Muddler (imp.), who was succeeded by another good one in J. Melbourne's Rhaeal Barney, ch. Whitehorn (imp.). The champion bitch was Sheilah, owned by J. J. Costello, of Newcastle, the runner-up being H. Molloy's ch. Erina Sheilah also gained the special prize for the best Irish terrier in the show.

The Cocker spaniels were well judged by Mr. F. A. Bridgement. H. and R. Macdonald won in open dogs with Hills Dixe, and Mrs. V. Baker scored in novice and open bitches with Flossie. The chief field spaniel awards went to H. L. Holterman's Bonny Buttie (dogs), and Mrs. F. A. Bridgement's Bonny Brunette (bitches). Mrs. E. M. Hope ran up in the classes with Lindley Bonny Brilliant, and Bonny Beet.

Yorkshire terriers were a pleasing collection. In blue and tans D. Munro's ch. Lord Carrington added to his many laurels. Other winners were R. Mason's Mexinghu Marvel (imp.), F. Dyer's Bill Bailey, Mrs. H. Wright's Imboola of Wara, Mrs. Kingsbury's Little Lady, and D. Munro's Melba. In the silver classes Mrs. A. Albert scored with Kingsboro Little Pearl, S. Mason with ch. Silver Gwen and ch. Silver Cob.

Pugs provided a record for the breed, 76 of both sexes being benched. There were separate classes for the fawn, apricot, and black varieties. A. E. Owen's ch. General Grand again won in fawn dogs, and Dazzler Dick ordered the novice and puppy classes to Miss G. Jubley. In the bitch classes Mrs. Newman's Venus of Drayton, P. Connelly's Trifle, Mrs. T. Brooke's Corrard Dame Pohen were winners. In the apricot division Mr. J. Black won with Kuri Pai, and Miss Walker with Enmore Polly. Mrs. R. Tovey was runner-up with Tom Moore and Patricia of Drayton. Several good blacks came out. Mrs. Shepherd won puppy and novice with Dombey's Double, and open bitch with Princess Dombey (imp.). Mrs. T. Brooke's Corrard Coon was the open dog winner, and her Corrard Lubra was runner-up in open bitches.

Cattle dogs were not numerous, but several good ones came before the judge. H. A. Tingle won with an excellent heeler, Bluey and Coo. In kelpies competition was also restricted. G. Fox took the open dog prize with Grit, and W. Johnstone that for bitches with Florence Nightingale.

The most notable among the big dogs were Lebheus Hordern's pair of Borzois, Ingewood and Lady Hopewood; J. Hagermann's mastiffs, Judge and Star of Oman, A. Dibbs Moore's deerhounds Moorcrofts Don Royal, Lively, Capture, Ayrshire Marvel, and Fly. In greyhounds the winners included the well-known plumpton dogs, Mrs. Grey Keighery's ch. Grand Slam, and A. Franks's Colston Boy.

Collies had 41 entries. H. F. Carling won eight first prizes with Hallon Harold, ch. Rose-Tytton (imp.). Mrs. Jefferd scored with the New Zealander Moonglet Ringer, J. R. Robinson with Peveril Lassie, T. A. Field with Peveril Laddie, R. B. Smith with Royal Princess, and W. Austin with Glen Avon, Golden Fleece.

There were not many Australian terriers, but those exhibited were a fairly even lot. W. A. Walker won with Jack and Bunce, but A. P. W. Mair gained both championships with ch. Lynwood Union Boxer and Lynwood Norma.

Sydney Silky Terriers saw a keen contest. Queen Mrs. J. Longhurst's Kinvara Commander and Mrs. J. Pring's ch. Bob, who were first and second in open dogs. T. J. O'Loughlin had the best bitch, ch. Kinvara Duchess, other winners being C. Dunlop's Lady Dandydown String, Mrs. J. Croall's Highland Boy, F. Dyer's Lady Madcap.

Black and tan terriers brought out some good ones, the best being J. Slattery's Sooty Prince Charles, ch. Surrey Vixen, by Sooty's Gipsy, and Mrs. Price Hayes miniature ch. Foco.

Pomeranians were a nice lot, especially the smaller variety. The winners were Miss J. H. Kitchen's Gladeyes Zu Zu, and Belmont Pom. C. J. Bennett's Hazelbrush Bonnie Bobbie and Sunny Sam, Miss E. Brain's Hazelbrush Tiny Tina, F. Lynch's Hazelbrush Sable Prince, and Mrs. J. Turner's Sable Queeny.

Poodles are increasing in numbers. Prizes were won by Miss L. Fisher's Duchy Miss E. Newton's Prince Robert, Mrs. Kershaw's Daisy Queen, Miss A. Monsborough's Caldwood Princess.

Foxhounds mustered fairly. A. Ludbergs veteran ch. Noblesian headed the open dog class, G. Barnes won in novice, and Poppleton, in bitches. J. A. Hunter's Maywell scored in the open, and M. Phillips's Highland Lassie in novice. The puppy prizes went to F. A. Goodall's Lewes of Dromana Peterine, W. Clifton's Royal Blue, C. Parker's Lindy Lue, and Miss A. Carlton Jones's. A. Lolberg won four of the twelve prizes, the others going to Burns, Dwyer, and Goodall.

The special prize for the best exhibit in the show went to J. Wood's (jun.) Newcastle Whitehouse, the best Australian Hordern's Borzoi Ingewood. The best sporting dog was H. F. Carling's ch. Hallon Royal, who was followed by W. Clark's bulldog Lord Tom. Noddy, and Mrs. Hordern's black pug Princess Ingewood.

In the ladies' class for toy exhibits Mrs. Fritz Hart's miniature black and tan Lassie was the winner. In the open class Mrs. Hordern's greyhound, ch. Grand Slam, was the winner. Other special prizes were won by Kellaway's collie Baston Royal, and Mrs. and Miss F. Roberts's Dalkeith Ivanhoe Radiance.

ARMIDALE'S NEW CATHEDRAL.

ARMIDALE, Monday.

The ceremonies connected with the opening of the new Roman Catholic Cathedral at Armidale commenced on Saturday, when a large number of visitors arrived by train. Amongst the visitors were Dr. Murray (Goulburn), Dr. Dunne (Wilcannia), Archbishop Duhig (Queensland), Monsignor O'Reilly (New Zealand), Dean Beasley (Grenfell), Archbishop Delaney (Hobart), the Very Rev. Dean Ryan (Provincial of Passionists), Dean O'Neil (Tamworth), Fathers Walsh, Barrington, M'Dermott, Foley, and Lloyd. The latter Archbishop Kelly was accompanied by Monsignor O'Haran. Amongst the laymen were the Hon. J. Meagher, M.L.C., T. J. Dalton, K.C., P. M'Garry, M.L.A., Major O'Neill (Newcastle), and others.

After formal introductions to the Mayor and aldermen and leading citizens, the visitors were escorted by motor to the Town Hall, headed by two members of the mounted Police, a cavalcade following. At the Town Hall a civic welcome was tendered, the Mayor (Alderman Solomon) presiding.

The Archbishop thanked the large gathering for their cordial and bright welcome, which was very different to the cold weather, but such cordiality dispelled thoughts of weather, and enhanced the pleasure they all felt at being present to participate in the work of their Bishop in building a new cathedral. Armidale was another instance of the progress of Australia, which was every day being shown on the part of all members of the country. The best Australians were first true Australians and fellow-citizens whatever religion they observed. Help but added to the true sense of citizenship to patriotism, and was an ennobling affair to each. He trusted the day would come when genuine Australians would be indifferent regarding religion.

Dr. Dunne, Archbishop Delaney, and also addressed the gathering, after which Mayor tendered a welcome to the followed by addresses from the clergy and laity.

No matter how much you had to drink, take two of Chamberlain's before retiring and you will be [illegible] morning.—Adv.

Demonstrations Daily in Our Model Kitchen, From 10.30 a.m. to 12.30 p.m., and from 3 to 5 p.m.

We have fitted up a model kitchen in our Kitchenware Department, and from this morning are holding daily demonstrations from 10.30 a.m. to 12.30 p.m., and from 3 to 5 p.m. In this Model Kitchen there is a whole world of possibilities in cooking dainty dishes, in simple and effective ways, that the Australian housewife has not yet dreamt of. Special Features of the Demonstrations will be Weeks' Patent Food Preserving Jars and Apparatus; the French method of Casserole Cooking; also on separate tables will be shown the very latest ideas and improvements in labour-saving devices that will materially help the housewife in these days of "scarce labour."

Weck's Preserving Jars and Apparatus.

Foods, Fruits, Vegetables, and delicacies of every kind can be preserved by the most simple and perfect method known to science. An important feature of this method is that Fruits, Vegetables, etc., can be served up all the year round, or they can be kept for years. Below is a list of prices of the Weck's Preserving Apparatus:—Demonstrations of this wonderful apparatus are being held every day this week.

22.—Bowl Shape. Number TB Capacity 5 pints. A splendid shape, preserving fruits and keeping them whole. Price, 3S/ per doz.

Some of the Labour-Saving Devices Shown.

FOR CLEANING KNIVES. Knife Cleaners, a great variety shown, each being most reliable. The following is a list:—

The "ACME" for cleaning single knife at a time 1/

The "EASY" Knife Cleaner, polishes both sides at once 2/3

Holts' Improved Dover Egg Beaters, will beat white of an egg to a stiff froth in 40 seconds 1/

The Lightning Paisley Cutter, highly recommended for all fine chopping purposes. Will cut all kinds of herbs, citron peel, etc., quicker than any other appliance 1/3

The French System of Casserole Cooking.

Foods cooked in French Fire-proof China—"Casseroles"—The new and appetising way of cooking meats, vegetables, and custards. They ensure genuine, wholesome cookery. After stewing or braising on a Casserole you will never go back to the old method. Meats or soups can be served on the table steaming hot in the Casserole in which they are cooked—this does not by any means sum up all their advantages. The Casserole can be used for all cooking purposes in the same manner as metal utensils, and if care is given in handling they will last just as long.

FRENCH FIREPROOF CHINA (Casserole Cooking).—As its name indicates, this China withstands the action of Direct Heat, and is Perfect for Culinary Purposes from the Actual Cooking to Serving at the Table.

ON THE LAND.

FARM AND STATION.

ITEMS.

The annual report of the New South Wales Sheepbreeders' Association for 1912 is now available.

The "Agricultural Gazette" publishes a warning anent adulterated pollard. Samples submitted to the department contained 33 and 18 per cent. of common salt.

Such produce has been responsible for the deaths of poultry and pigs. If suspicious crystals are found in pollard, samples should be sent to the department for investigation.

Producers should be fully protected by law against such adulteration of food intended for stock.

The recent hot weather has done harm to the growing crops in the western district.

The Tamar Agricultural Association claims that as a result of its exertions settlers from the United Kingdom, with capital aggregating £30,000, have been induced to settle in Tasmania.

A number of farmers in Riverina previously on "shares" have taken up land under the Closer Settlement Promotion Act, and the liberality of the financial clauses has enabled them to establish a home on a more permanent basis.

The absence of rabbits since the break-up of the dry spell experienced earlier in the year has been noticeable. However, with the warmer days, they are again putting in an appearance.

Camperdown (Vic.) Co-operative factory is using two motor waggons for the purpose of cream collecting. One of these waggons is doing the work of five horses, three vehicles, and three men, in half the time, at a saving of 25 per cent.

The disappointed exhibitor is still in evidence at many country shows. It is amazing that ring stewards do not take more drastic action to protect the judges from abuse. The latter often has to put up with a good deal of jeering and insulting remarks, which should not be tolerated.

An Ashburton (N.Z.) farmer has been experimenting with oats as a pig fattener. He sold the bulk of his crop at 2/ per bushel, but the balance which he fed to the pigs panned out at 4 per bushel. It pays to sell crops "on the hoof."

Some of the wheat exhibited at the Wyalong show by Messrs. D. and J. Gage, of Spy Hill, illustrates the good work being done by the experimental plots established by the Department of Agriculture. A splendid sample of Bunyip which went 68½lb to the bushel was purchased by the department.

A few years ago the only varieties of wheat grown in the Wyalong district were Dart's Imperial and red and purple straw, but since the establishment of the experimental plots the value of Federation, Bunyip, and Comeback have been duly appreciated, as varieties suitable to the district.

At the spring shows which have been held in Riverina this year the most marked improvement in the different sections is among draught horses. The deterioration and decreased number of blood horses is a contrast indicating the growth of farming.

A few years ago the harvester was considered the last word in machinery in the wheat belt, but the "header," which is somewhat similar in principle, but of larger dimensions, is expected to revolutionise harvesting on the big farm.

The pig and poultry expert in Tasmania experimented with a view of ascertaining the varieties of lucerne which gave the best results during the winter months. Six varieties were tried, and he found that the Arabian in situations which were wet gave a growth greatly in excess of the others. Next in order of merit came Hunter River and Peruvian.

The value of fallowing is being more appreciated than ever in Riverina, and both ploughing teams and steam ploughing plants are busy turning up the ground for next year's crops. The crops grown on fallowed land this season have caused increased attention being paid to the necessity of spelling the land for a season.

The South Australian Farmers' Co-operative Association, which handled a large proportion of the wheat crop of members last year, made a profit during the twelve months of over £22,000. The turnover was £1,030,000. Besides the purchase of a steamer for lightering, the company has increased its reserve fund from £5000 to £20,000. A dividend of 10 per cent. was declared on the paid-up capital of £50,000. The credit balance in hand amounted to nearly £10,000.

Even in a season which has been so backward and full of vicissitude as the present one there are wheat crops which stand out very prominently. In the vicinity of Marrar, on the Junee-Narrandera railway line, there is example in a crop which must soon be above the fence. Inquiry revealed the fact that the land was subjected to the best methods of tillage.

Farmers often complain that most of the profits from the wheat crop are eaten up by the purchase of new machinery. On some farms this cannot be wondered at, the owners being so careless with their implements. Even now the harvesters that took off some of the crops last season are still standing in a corner of the paddock exposed to the weather.

It is gratifying to note that on some of the recent subdivisions that have been made in Riverina that those who have taken up farms are planting avenues of trees leading to the farm homestead. Sugar gum or blue gum seem the most popular; the first named for preference, as it grows very rapidly. Other farmers are planting currajongs, which are most valuable for their edible qualities, but slow in growth.

Mr. W. Forsyth, of Hamilton, Victoria, the well-known sheep-breeder, found part of his land showing a tendency to sourness, and he used lime at the rate of 5cwt. to the acre in the rye paddock. The manure-spreader used treated 15 acres per day. Very quickly there was noticeable an improvement in the growth of the pasture, and an increase in the nitrogenous plants, while the live stock showed an inclination to graze in the treated localities. He estimates the cost at about 8s per acre.

DESTRUCTION OF TIMBER.

£5190 OFF 20 ACRES SACRIFICED.

Mr. W. Secombe, Coff's Harbour, writes:—I notice the Minister for Agriculture has passed some remarks re the wholesale destruction of our State forests, and Dorrigo in particular. The Dorrigo plateau is the best and most heavily timbered belt of country in the State, and not one single acre of that vast plateau should ever have been made available for settlement until the railway had been made and the timber removed. Settlement should have followed the sawmiller. Some time ago I protested against an area of 20 blocks, parish Stewart, county of Fitzroy, on the Bobo, being thrown open to settlement, on account of the valuable pine on the whole area. One of these settlers has just felled 20 acres of his holding. On this 20 acres there were 173 pine trees, averaging 4000ft each (or, say, 3000ft each) when cut into boards. These boards, on wharf, Coff's Harbour, would be worth 20s per 100ft super net, so the value lost to the State in timber was £5190 off 20 acres. And yet surveyors are hard at work at present designing further large areas of similar timbered land on the Bobo and Little Nymboida Rivers. Besides pine there are hundreds of millions of tallowwood, scrub, box, blackbutt, etc., distributed all through this Dorrigo country, especially so in that part of it known as Eastern Dorrigo. Large tracts of beautiful tallowwood are being destroyed by ring-barking. Settlers rush this country, but unless they get work at the sawmills or raise money on their timber they have no chance whatever of making a living off the land for years, whereas if the railway was built and the sawmiller preceded settlement the settler would find his land partly cleared without sending thousands of pounds worth of wealth up in smoke.

ENGLISH WOOL TRADE.

VALUES FIRM AND PROSPECTS GOOD.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

BRADFORD, Sept. 6.

Conditions in the wool trade appear to be very satisfactory, a fair amount of new business having been registered during the past week. Some seem to think that on Thursday hardly as much was done in crossbreds as last week, users having to a large extent covered their requirements and retired. All the same the market presented many encouraging features, and business generally must be described as good. It must be said that the autumn trade has opened out splendidly, and much better than even the most sanguine ever expected. The question was put pointedly on Thursday as to whether we thought things were as healthy at the foundation as the majority were trying to make out, and whether the abnormal season, so far as weather is concerned, was going to adversely affect the textiles in general. This, no doubt, is an aspect of the case which must be faced, for without doubt agricultural and pastoral enterprise lies at the foundation of all successful business. It does seem a pity that we should have had incessant rains instead of sunshine, but it is remarkable that in every lot there is a cross, and that in most cupboards there is an unwelcome skeleton. A well-known topmaker said on 'Change this week that no less a sum than £150,000,000 was wrapped up in Great Britain's agriculture, and while this is not in any sense lost, adequate returns must be forthcoming before the influence of the large number of families throughout the land can be felt to any appreciable extent in the demand for textiles among both town and country clothiers and drapers. There has always been harvest time in the world's history up to the present, and although crops may have been spoiled, they are not entirely ruined.

After all, it cannot be said that British agriculture is languishing. Hay crops are, on the whole, distinctly heavier than last year, and even if their feeding value has been partially reduced, there is quantity if not quality. The writer was travelling about a week ago to a seaside resort for a week-end in company with a fairly big Yorkshire Dales farmer. Naturally the weather was the chief topic of conversation, but he made the significant statement that all classes of stock were fetching good prices, cattle being £2 per head dearer than a year ago, while sheep are likewise making distinctly higher values. All cereals and farm produce are also fetching more money, hence we do not think that in the aggregate farmers will be very much worse off than they were a year ago. An unusually early and good demand has begun for autumn and winter fabrics, overcoatings appearing fully six weeks earlier than a year ago. All this means trade, and it is significant that both spinners and manufacturers have not yet felt any ill-effects from the adverse weather conditions of the past three months. We do not want to say one word to either frighten or excite the market, but we are still sanguine enough to believe that mills will continue to be fully run during the coming winter, and if the quantity of lightweight goods sold this summer has not been large the export trade has been sufficient to maintain mills in a fair degree of prosperity.

MERINOS IN A SOUND POSITION.

If one carefully analyses the standing of fine wools to-day, he cannot but be impressed with the absence of forcing tactics. It is surprising how steady and firm values have remained during the past month, and when one thinks of the considerable amount of business which has been done in fine tops it is surprising that an out and out advance has not been established. Does it not show that our largest importers and topmakers have their eye upon the opening of the colonial season? That undoubtedly is correct, and the majority think that to start importing on a 27d basis for 64's is high enough to be consistent with safety. Nothing has impressed the writer more during the past few weeks than the sober views expressed by those who are responsible for determining prices, and even fine tops to-day can be bought at the figures we quoted a month ago. More business has been done this week than last, and so long as stocks last topmakers say that they will sell and realise profits. There is persistent talk about forward sales, but we can find no one prepared to risk the future by selling for next January delivery at less than current prices to-day. Spinners are in the mood for listening to any offer at less money, but naturally are fighting shy of paying 27d for next year's delivery. Topmakers are certainly acting most wisely in refusing to sell forward until they know where they stand, for it is useless mortgaging the future in face of a shortage and healthy conditions obtaining on the Continent as well as America. The market to-day is very healthy and sound, prices are exceedingly firm, and, taking all things into consideration, there is little to indicate that lower prices are likely to prevail.

CROSSBREDS VERY FIRM.

Business has been somewhat reduced in volume this week compared with last, and it looks as if the majority have covered their requirements. Possibly the higher quotations which firms are enforcing have had something to do with the tapering off of new orders, but the situation is undoubtedly sound, and the whole aspect of crossbreds presents a healthier and more robust appearance than was the case a month ago. Do as he will, no man can minimise the influence of the American factor, or in the least disparage the demand which has been made for both wool and tops. The largest firms of buying brokers in Bradford acknowledge to their clients having done in many cases a record business, and although several firms bought more crossbred wool at the last series of London sales than they have ever done before, they are congratulating themselves on the profit they have been able to make. A most unusual circumstance has happened—that of topmakers selling wool to each other, and so long as they could see a profit they have wisely secured it. It is noteworthy that two or three of Bradford's leading firms have been rather badly caught by the present move, for they sold some months back big weights of 44's to 48's tops for delivery during July, August, September, and October at a thick penny less than to-day's quotations. These low sellers are naturally out of the market to-day, and are more to be pitied than blamed, for at one time it looked as if they would be able to execute their orders without a loss. However, that is a passing phenomenon, which will always occur, no matter what course values take, for the man is not born who can see months ahead and never make a mistake. This week there has again been a fair amount of activity in wool, and the Continent has in no sense been a despised customer. There seems to be a new demand springing up for scoured medium crossbred wool for shipment both to Germany and Russia, this giving additional strength to values. Most topmakers are to-day asking 14½d for 40's prepared, but the most pronounced demand is still that which is being made for medium carded tops, and even 50's are not excluded. English wools are moving very nicely, and topmakers and spinners, faced with the certainty that prices are going to be no lower, but possibly higher, have bought some fair weights during the past fortnight. Some qualities are already getting scarce, and there has never been a time in the history of the trade when the country has been so cleanly swept of domestic wools. Country dealers have exerted themselves in a most unusual manner. A month back they paid prices sensibly above those current in Bradford, feeling that the future was with them. The stocks then purchased look right to-day, but several firms are sitting upon them in the hope of making a considerable profit at a later date.

NOILS SELLING BETTER.

The position of this by-product of the top trade is worth more than passing notice. We understand that during the week increased activity has been witnessed in merino descriptions, but to what it is due no one can say. Evidently one or two dealers have reasons for operating on a fairly large scale, and even merino noils are, if anything, slightly dearer on the week. Their competitors appear to be a little mystified, and cannot understand what this latest turn of events really means. It is just possible that they are experiencing an augmented demand on Continental account, but other firms say that they have felt no impetus, and are still on the quiet side. Be that as it may, a fair amount of business has been done, and we think topmakers are wise in selling. We have been approached as to what we think of the future of noil prices, and we must say that we cannot at the moment see any sound reason for expecting these to improve. All authorities agree that the coming Australian clip will be more "noily" than the last, and the new Queensland wools, which were offered last series in Coleman-street, showed unmistakable signs of being shorter and weaker in staple, important factors, which mean more noil production. We hope topmakers realise this fact, and will make all due allowance in fixing their prices for any prospective business on January account. So far as crossbreds noils are concerned, there is still a big business doing in 40's to 48's, and those who have contracts running are naturally regretting their position. No satisfactory explanation has been given for the pronounced activity which has been seen in strong qualities, but we suppose it is largely due to a lessened production together with an increased call on the part of blanket and crossbred tweed manufacturers. Mohair noils are very slow and relatively cheap, while cashmeres are very scarce.

VETERINARY ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting of the above association was held on Friday, the president occupying the chair. It was decided that, in place of the November meeting, a dinner should be held, and Messrs. Dodd, Sanderson, and Henry were appointed a committee to arrange the matter. Progress with regard to the Veterinary Surgeons' Bill was reported. Mr. Henry spoke on the variegated thistle (Cardnus marianus) as a poison plant, showing that, judging from the symptoms, post-mortem appearances, and the results of treatment, hydrocyanic acid is probably the cause of death in many cases. He also described a case of poisoning by Homeria collina (Cape tulip).

CLOSER SETTLEMENT PROMOTION ACT.

"Dairy Farmer" (Casino) writes:—Mr. Beeby some time ago foreshadowed an amendment in the Closer Settlement Promotion Act, doing away with the necessity for three applicants in the case where it is decided to bring land under the Act and substituting in place thereof one only. If it becomes law it will be the means of increasing the productiveness of the country, fulfil a much-desired want, and give many a struggling settler a chance of procuring a home of his own, which under the present conditions is denied him. There are innumerable cases in the country wherein the present occupants of land are surrounded by special circumstances which make it inadvisable to put their holdings to use, and who would be only too willing to sell to those who would work the land to its full, but the requirements of the present Act prohibit them from doing so. It is to be sincerely hoped the Minister will bring forward this greatly-wished-for change.

HERD TESTING.

MURWILLUMBAH.—During the time that Mr. L. T. M'Innes, Government dairy expert, has been in this district he has addressed 21 meetings of farmers on the Tweed and Brunswick Rivers with regard to the formation of herd testing associations. His work has been keenly appreciated by the farmers interested, and considerable enthusiasm is being evinced in the formation of the associations as the result. Mullumbimby has formed an association with four branches, while at the Tweed steps have been taken to form at least six associations. Approximately the number of cows to be included under these associations will be 10,000. Long distances have been traversed by the expert to accomplish this, and the feeling towards the Agricultural Department, as expressed by the dairymen, is one of appreciation. Judging by present indications there appears to be very good prospects. The movement initiated by Mr. M'Innes will spread, and within a short period will embrace the whole of the herds in this corner of the State.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETIES.

ARDLETHAN.—A meeting of the A., H., and I. Association was held in the School of Arts on Saturday to make final arrangements for the second Ardlethan Show, which takes place next week. Among other business of importance decided upon was a motion that motor cars should not be admitted to the show ground, as pending the granting of a block of ground for show purposes the Recreation ground, used at present, afforded little enough room for exhibits. Great interest is being taken in the show, which promises to eclipse that of last year.

WYALONG.—According to particulars furnished at a recent meeting of the Wyalong P., A., and I. Society, remarkable progress has been made in the district since fifteen years ago. At that time Wyalong had only just commenced to develop as an agricultural district. The number of holdings in Wyalong and Barmedman districts was only 89, with an alienated area of just under 73,000 acres, and a cultivated area of only 2600 acres. When the railway connection was made eight years ago the number of holdings had increased to 229, the alienated area to 128,733 acres, and the cultivated area to 15,565 acres. According to the latest published returns, the figures for the year 1911 were:—Number of holdings, 362; alienated area, 202,527 acres; area under crops, 95,871 acres. Thus for every one acre under the plough 15 years ago there are now 36. In addition to the land permanently occupied under purchase, there is an area of 301,000 acres of Crown land held under lease. The number of live stock depastured in the Wyalong and Barmedman districts is:—Sheep, 176,600; horned cattle, 5800; horses, 4000; swine, 630.

MEETINGS OF FARMERS.

FOREST REEFS.—At the Spring Hill Agricultural and Horticultural Bureau recently established, meetings are held monthly by the members of the F. and S.A., who have started a veterinary surgery. A full kit of instruments has been purchased for emergencies, and periodical instruction is given by the officials of the department.

DAIRYING.

WOLLONGONG.—There is an enormous quantity of milk leaving this district this year for the metropolis, and it is almost impossible to supply the demand. All the companies are taking evening and morning milk now, and with a continuance of the present dry time it will be a hard thing to be able to supply the demand, as cattle are going off considerably in their flow of milk, and many of the farmers are resorting to hand feeding, as the grass already is becoming very parched. Water, too, is beginning to get short, and the creeks, which were all so flush a month ago, are showing signs of drying up quickly.

EGG-LAYING.

GRAFTON.—The month of September was characterised by heavy laying. Mr. J. L. O. Smith's (Byron Bay) pen heading the list with 158 eggs, the average for the month being a shade over 129 eggs per pen.

DISTRICT ITEMS.

BATHURST.—The rains which have fallen in the past couple of days have completely relieved the anxieties which farmers were beginning to entertain. Up till the recent showers there was scarcely any growth in parts. Generally, stock are in poor condition, though in parts good lambing percentages have been obtained. At Maitland Camp Mr. B. G. Whittaker has marked over 70 per cent. of lambs, but considerable annoyance has been caused through the presence of the wedge-tailed eagle. The ravages by this bird have been considerable. A remedy which had a fair effect has been strychnine and fat. The eagle is so powerful that it can kill a lamb at one blow of its bill, and has no trouble in carrying the carcase away. In the Crudine country a good yield of honey is expected. Five hundred acres of freehold land fronting the Macquarie, in the estate of Mr. P. S. McPhillamy, have just been sold. Mr. D. Murphy purchased 300 acres at £12 2s 6d per acre, and Mr. E. Bestwick, the remainder, at £11 17s 6d per acre. A farm containing 260 acres was disposed to Mr. Caffin at £5 15s per acre. The total realised was over £7000.

BLACKTOWN.—Even after the adverse weather, crops of apricots, peaches, plums, quinces, grapes, and passionfruit promise to be above the average, but in many instances the hay crops will cut light. Pumpkins, maize, etc., are being put in. Where the ground was not in fallow, ploughing is difficult, the ground being hard and dry.

COFF'S HARBOUR.—A meeting of the directors of the bacon company was held on Friday. Mr. R. A. Walsh was elected secretary, and a vote of thanks was passed to Mr. A. E. Long, late hon. secretary. It was decided to ask Mr. Sharp, late chairman, for a report of his trip to Dorrigo. Messrs. M'Leod and Walsh were appointed a ground committee. It was decided that the first meetings to secure additional shares be held at Bellingen, Never Never, Repton, and Gleniffer.

COOMA.—The stock inspector reports a good shoot in grass throughout the district. The water supply is adequate, but a general rain is necessary for the summer supplies. The stock is in poor to good condition, but improving. Poisoning has been adopted for rabbit destruction, with good results. The fumigation of burrows is also attended with success. Rabbits are breeding freely at the present time, and renewed efforts are required for their extermination.

CRABBOON.—A splendid change in the weather conditions occurred on Friday, when 76 points of soaking rain fell. This has greatly enhanced the prospects of district farmers, whose crops had already shown signs of the recent dry spell. Should no further rains occur there are certain to be good hay crops, as the rain has fallen just when it was most wanted. Corn crops which have been recently sown will greatly benefit by this fall, and should now make rapid growth. Crops which are up are looking strong and healthy, and, given a favourable season, there will be good crops, as a large area is under corn.

GRAFTON.—It is stated that this year's crushing at Harwood sugar mill has demonstrated that the quality of almost all varieties of cane is deteriorating, and in some cases to a very noticeable extent. The Colonial Sugar Refining Company has done a great deal in maintaining the standard of cane by the importation of fresh varieties free from disease and specially suited to this climate, but it is apparent that the company's work in this direction is not completed, and if they wish to foster the industry on this river to its fullest capacity further attention will have to be devoted to experimental work. A Lower Clarence farmer experimenting with the growing of millet for broom-making purposes is perfectly satisfied with results. He found it to be a profitable crop, returning £15 per acre, and requires very little attention while growing. The planting is done between September and January, and the grain is sown similar to maize. Mr. Marks, of the Agricultural Department, has made arrangements for a small plot of land (about three acres) for experimenting purposes at Coramba. The land secured is high-class alluvial on the river bank, on which almost any kind of crop would do well. It is claimed that experiments should also be made with the poorer classes of land, which could be of far more importance, as everyone knows what to do with good land.

MERRIWA.—The recent fall of 103 points will do an immense amount of good, in freshening up the herbage and promoting the growth of grass. The recent dry spell had a withering effect, and stockowners were becoming anxious, as the outlook for the season was anything but favourable.

WENTWORTH.—There was a slight fall of rain on Friday, but not sufficient to make any appreciable difference in the dry conditions prevailing. The crops for hay are not making too fast a growth, in some cases not exceeding 6in in height. Unless a substantial precipitation occurs soon the outlook for the hay harvest is not too promising. There is a small area under wheat for grain. It is an increase on previous years, but still far below the possibilities of the district. Shearing is practically complete in this district, and the last sheds will cut out within a few days. Large quantities of wool are awaiting transport in the lower rivers, efforts being devoted to the loading of the consignments in the higher reaches, so as to make a sure market.

YOUNG.—At the monthly meeting of the Fruitgrowers' Union it was decided to fall in line with Bathurst, Goulburn, and Orange in sending delegates to the International Fruitgrowers' Conference, and a sub-committee was appointed to draw up a list of subjects to submit to this conference.

MUNICIPAL MARKETS.

EFFECT ON FISH SUPPLY.

In a report on the working of the Sydney Municipal Markets, which has just been furnished by Mr. Breden, the officer in charge, it is stated that the vegetable market contains 288 stalls, which are allotted to individual growers, the charge on the dual system being 1s 6d per cartload, with a maximum amount for each stall of 4s. It is estimated that the quantity of vegetables dealt with per annum totals from 16,000 to 20,000 tons. The produce market is occupied almost entirely by agents, who are also allotted stands on the same scale of 1s 6d per load, with an additional reserving fee of 1s per week for the particular stand. The fish market is managed on an entirely different plan, and is in reality, apart from the electric lighting undertaking, the only municipal trading venture of the council. The effect of the council's action has, in Mr. Breden's opinion, undoubtedly worked [illegible] good, both for the fishermen and the consumer, though not in the direction of lowering the price to the consumer. The [illegible] condition of the fish put before the public is wonderfully improved, [illegible] agents, in order to compete with [illegible] the council offer [illegible] miraculous way [illegible] returns to the fishermen [illegible] the report concludes [illegible] with the [illegible] and condemnation [illegible] means a pure food supply.

PLEASANT WEATHER.

BLUE SKIES AND MILD TEMPERATURES.

During Saturday night or early on Sunday some further light but scattered rain was recorded at places on the highlands. The largest amount was 28 points at Kiandra. Wyalong had 24 points, Barmedman 10, Coolah 9, Carcoar and Delegate each 7, Albury and Adelong each 6, Urana 5, Tumbarumba and Nimitybelle each 4, Tumut 3, and Yass and Deniliquin each 1 point.

A high pressure still covers the eastern States, as on Sunday, and has been responsible for a continuation of the pleasant weather conditions generally, with moderate day and cold night temperatures. The temperature, however, rose rapidly in all parts of New South Wales, due to an approaching Antarctic disturbance. The differences in the 9 a.m. readings between Saturday and yesterday were considerable. At Menindie, for instance, 84deg. was reported at 9 a.m., which is 21deg. higher than on Saturday. The early morning temperature, however, was cool, for the registrations were all in the 20 and 40 deg. The lowest were—Carcoar 24deg., Mudgee 29deg., Molong and Inverell each 30deg., and Queanbeyan and Rockley each 31deg. A frost was reported from Armidale, on the northern tablelands.

Yesterday morning it was fine and clear generally, except cloudy at a few places in the south-west.

GULGONG.—On Friday afternoon a thunderstorm from the west broke over the district, with heavy rain (32 points fell), which will do good to the crops and grass. At Beryl, five miles from here, on the Wialdra Creek, it blew down a number of old huts, digger's tents, and sheds. Several farmers spoke disparagingly about the wheat crops before the rain came, saying that there would be no crops unless rain came soon. It has also filled the house tanks. Last week the waterfalls were low.

NUNDLE.—Snow fell on the highlands here on Friday night and Saturday morning. Numbers of shorn sheep perished.

CONSUMPTIVE IMMIGRANTS.

Prompted no doubt by the recent disclosures in Victoria, Alderman Lindsay Thompson has given notice of his intention to move at to-night's meeting of the City Council that representations be made to the Premier urging the desirability and importance of taking all necessary steps and precautions to ensure that the closest medical examination shall be made as regards intending immigrants at the port of departure with a view to preventing consumptives and others suffering from ailments which it is desirable should be controlled from being admitted to the city of Sydney.

GHASTLY RESULT OF A FALL.

FACE DISFIGURED BY ULCERS.

MARVELLOUS HEALING BY ZAM-BUK.

Mrs. Ethel Flaherty, of 117 Melville-street, Hobart, Tasmania, says:—"My two little children, Annie and Ethel, have both derived great benefit from Zam-Buk. Annie had a nasty acne form on her forehead, the result of a fall. She kept scratching this, and eventually poisoned it, for the wound started to fester and spread, then blood-poisoning set in, and broke out on her body and head. She made this worse by always rubbing and scratching it. Her forehead and nose were awful sights, and the ulcers having attacked them, nearly all the flesh was eaten away from her nose and the bone almost exposed, leaving it a ghastly sight. Various ointments were prescribed by a medical attendant, but not one of them did her any good, instead, she continued to get worse.

"At last I decided to give Zam-Buk a trial, and the immediate results were most satisfactory. After only a few applications, the disease was arrested, the irritation and itching ended so completely that she did not attempt to scratch or touch the sores. As Zam-Buk was persevered with, all bad matter was drawn out, and the sores and ulcers gradually dried up and healed. New healthy skin was grown over the places where the sores had been, and no traces of the terrible ulcers remained.

"My baby had an outbreak behind her ears through teething. The sores were continually running, causing great irritation, and making her extremely cross. Zam-Buk soothed the pain and allayed the irritation in a wonderful manner. By regularly applying this balm all trouble was banished, and the sores perfectly healed.

"My mother for a long time was a martyr to that dreaded complaint, piles, but I am glad to say Zam-Buk completely freed her from [illegible] Zam-Buk should be [illegible] home. We are never without it [illegible] and chemists at 1/6 and 3/6 [illegible]

HURD.—In loving memory of our dearly-beloved daughter, Lillian, who died October 8, 1908. Inserted by her loving father, mother, and sister. At rest.

LEES.—In loving memory of our loving mother, Harriett Lees, who departed this life October 8, 1911, aged 75 years. Inserted by Will and Jane Morgan.

MANNING.—In loving memory of my dear little Hilda Gladys (Hillie), aged 2 years 11 months, who died October 8, 1901. Not forgotten. Inserted by her loving mother, E. Brown; also grandparents, J. and E. Brown, and Uncles Stan. and Bert.

MARTIN.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Ann Maria Martin, who departed this life October 7, 1907. Inserted by her loving son and daughter-in-law, William and Catherine Martin.

POYNER.—In loving memory of our dear uncle, Francis Poyner, who departed this life October 8, 1911, aged 91.

We who loved you sadly miss you,
Though we know that God knew best,
When he eased your pain and suffering,
And took you home to rest.

Inserted by his loving niece, Cecelia McNelly, and nephew, Walter Harris.

SHARP.—In loving memory of our dear brother (Cal), who departed this life October 7, 1909.

There is one bond death cannot sever,
Loving remembrance, which lasts for ever.

Inserted by his loving family.

THIELE.—In loving memory of our dear mother, who departed this life October 8, 1906.

Gone but not forgotten.

Inserted by her loving sons and daughters and son-in-law, J. Wagner.

TIMMINGS.—In loving memory of my dear grandchild, Frank Timmings, accidentally drowned October 8, 1908, aged 7 years.

A little flower of love,
That blossomed but to die:
Transplanted now above,
To bloom with God on high.

Inserted by his loving grandparents, J. and E. Timmings.

WARREN.—In sad but loving memory of our dearly-loved and only son, John Reginald (Jack), who departed this life at Sydney Hospital on October 8, 1906, aged 19 years and 5 weeks.

Sweet Jesus have mercy on his soul.

Inserted by his sorrowing parents, J. C. and E. Warren.

WARREN.—In sad but loving memory of our dearly-loved and only brother John Reginald (Jack), who departed this life at Sydney Hospital on October 8, 1906, aged 19 years and 5 weeks.

May his soul rest in peace.

Inserted by his loving sisters, Beatrice and Alice.

WILLIAMS.—In ever-loving memory of my darling wife, Clara Jane Williams, who departed this life October 8, 1911.

With tearful eyes I watched you, dear,
Going on your way.
Although I loved you, Clara, dear,
I could not make you stay.
Oh, how my heart is breaking
When I think of how you died:
To think you could not speak to me
Before you closed your eyes.

Inserted by her loving husband, Henry T. Williams.

WILLIAMS.—In loving remembrance of our dear father, Edward Williams, who departed this life October 8, 1911. At rest. Inserted by his loving daughter and son-in-law, E. and J. Garner.

WILLIAMSON.—In loving memory of dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Jane Williamson, who departed this life on October 8, 1911.

One less on earth—
Its pain, its sorrow, and its toil to share;
One less the pilgrim's daily cross to bear;
One more the crown of ransomed saints to wear,
At home in heaven—at rest.

Inserted by her loving daughter and grandchildren, Christina Burall, Oliver, Richard, Robert, Charles, and George.

WILLIAMSON.—In loving memory of our dear mother, who departed this life October 8, 1911 (late of Macleay River).

As the ivy clings to the oak,
So will our memory cling to thee.

Inserted by her loving daughter and son-in-law, Robert and Jane Grace, also grandchildren.

WILLIAMSON.—In loving memory of our dear mother, who departed this life October 8, 1911, late of Macleay River.

Worthy of everlasting love
From those she left behind;
A better mother could not be,
Nor one more true and kind.

Inserted by her loving daughter and son-in-law, William and Elizabeth Brown, also grandson, Percy, 18 Lodge-street, Forest Lodge, Sydney.

YOUNG.—In loving memory of their father, Philip Robert Jones, who died at Ryde, October 6. Inserted by his son and daughter-in-law, Robert and Ada Young, 79 Lennox-street, Newtown.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1912.

LORD DENMAN'S DEPARTURE.

The Governor-General of the Commonwealth of Australia left Sydney last night amidst numerous expressions of loyalty and patriotic sentiment on the one hand, and personal goodwill and friendly feeling on the other. The many thousands of people who assembled at the railway station to greet Lord Denman on his departure represented every class of the community, and testified in an emphatic and unmistakable manner that the general public of this State does not approve of the action which the Government has taken in this matter. If it be suggested that the citizens' committee, who have with real public spirit endeavoured to focus the opinions of the community on the subject, represent only one section of the people, the recent meeting at the Town Hall, and last night's demonstration, provide a sufficient answer. In both instances it was certainly not the so-called "society" people who predominated. The working men and women of Australia do not lack the spirit of courtesy and hospitality or the love of fatherland which is embodied in the terms loyalty and patriotism. It was they who were the most vigorous and spontaneous in the enthusiastic "send-off" which was given to the Governor-General.

In his admirable farewell message to the citizens of New South Wales, which conveyed so much in so few words, Lord Denman expressed his regret at his eviction from Government House, both on personal and public grounds. We, too, echo the sincere regret which the people of this State, and especially of its capital, feel at his departure from our midst, both on personal and on public grounds. We have learnt to respect the efficiency with which the Governor-General has performed his difficult task, and the tact, kindliness, and good fellowship with which both he and Lady Denman have bestowed in so ample a measure during their residence in Sydney. But on public grounds this paltry action on the part of the Government is to be condemned because, above all things, it betokens a lack of loyalty to the chief representative of the King and the Empire in the Commonwealth, and prevents his residence in the mother State, and in the most important commercial centre of Australia. British subjects give allegiance to their King, and respect his representatives throughout the Empire, because they are the embodiment and the symbols of the national life. In dishonouring a viceroy we show, not merely discourtesy to a person, but disloyalty to the patriotism and the bonds which unite the whole Empire together. Lord Denman last night stated that he accepted the post he now occupies on the clear understanding that he should have a residence at Sydney as well as in Melbourne. It is quite obvious, therefore, that his eviction from Government House constitutes a gross breach of faith. It will now be for other States in the Commonwealth who once were governed from the historic building which Lord Denman has now vacated to show the Governor-General, and through him the King and the Imperial Government, that the Australian people as a whole are not lacking in those qualities of hospitality and loyalty which the Government of New South Wales has so lamentably failed to display.

MR. FISHER'S CHALLENGE.

The Prime Minister has learned the lesson which the referendum has taught. No longer does he ask right out that the Commonwealth should be invested with supreme power over the States. All he asks for now so plausibly is that the Commonwealth should be given some extended powers in order to protect the community industrially and commercially. Nothing is further from the thoughts of the Commonwealth Government than that the powers of the States should be invaded, according to Mr. Fisher, and so he pleads for support at the referendum to be taken at the time of the general election. Beforehand he gives the warning that the answer must be in the affirmative to all the questions asked over which the Attorney-General is now exercising his subtle mind. But even from Mr. Fisher's own statements, made yesterday, and on Saturday, it is plain that the proposed amendments to the Constitution will be the same in substance as those proposed over a year ago, and that, if carried, they will diminish to a very serious extent the powers of each State to control its own internal affairs. The instances quoted by the Prime Minister prove that this is so. The Brisbane tramway strike would have been short-lived had the Commonwealth power to step in. We do not deny it. Did not the Prime Minister contribute to the fund of the strikers? If he had possessed the power it is easily perceived on what side it would have been exerted. Both the Brisbane tramway strike and the Newcastle coal strike were matters peculiarly within the State sphere, and yet Mr. Fisher says that if the Commonwealth had intervened, as it would have intervened had it the power, there would have been no attack on State rights. What term does he apply to such interference? As he would have the Commonwealth override the State in industrial control, so he would have the Commonwealth override the State in matters commercial within the State.

The declarations of the Prime Minister constitute a challenge to the State Ministers to declare their position. Largely it was by the division in the Labour party in this State that the referendum was defeated. Now he is daring Ministers to oppose him. The National Parliament, he says, should have the power to help unionists without distinction of boundary. Unionists are to be the favoured children. Mr. Fisher speaks as though the National Parliament exists for one class in the community alone, instead of representing all classes. He speaks as though unionists alone have the right to protection from the Commonwealth, and as though only the Commonwealth can protect them. Will State Ministers allow such a position to be forced upon them without protest? Mr. Holman may surrender. The Labour Conference has spoken, and, therefore, he is content. What will Mr. Beeby do? He has spoken out strongly against the fallacy of unification. He cannot allow himself to be coerced. The issue is plain. If State rights are not successfully defended we shall get unification on the instalment plan, and Labour will never be satisfied till it has brought about unification. The reason is plain. It is so much easier for Labour to sway one Parliament than seven. It is practically impossible for Labour to be in power in all seven Parliaments at one and the same time, and wherever it is in the cold shades of opposition there the progress towards socialism is too slow for its desires. These are facts which will appeal to the great body of the people who from sympathy, not from conviction, supported Labour at the last election, and which will turn the scale just as it was turned at the last referendum.

THE COAL TRADE.

It is sometimes impossible to quite kill the goose that lays the golden egg, and the remarkable figures we were able to give yesterday seem to show that this is the case with the Newcastle coal trade, now worth very little less than two millions sterling a year. The increase is almost wholly to be put down to the comparative absence of labour troubles this year, for there has been no very noticeable advance in development, and no very special effort to secure foreign markets. But that only shows that the coal trade is quite able to make its own way if only it is given a reasonable chance. Newcastle and the Hunter River Valley in general possess the finest coalfields in Australasia, and amongst the finest in the world. The potential wealth of the mines is almost incalculable—certainly he would be a bold man who would place any limit upon it. Our own coal consumption will naturally increase by leaps and bounds as the demand for locally-made goods becomes more and more pressing, and the progress of local manufactures is another remarkable evidence of the solid prosperity of the State. But, apart from home consumption, we have, or ought to have, an unlimited foreign market for our coal. The East especially provides us with a rich field to exploit, and South America is another area particularly open to us. It is satisfactory that during the past year our trade with the Argentine has very largely increased, but we ought to be developing a consistent and steady coal trade with the whole of South America. The market is there, and if we lose it we have no one to blame but ourselves.

Not so long ago much the same thing might have been said of the East. Now it is not a little significant that it is from this quarter that the few serious decreases in volume of trade are reported. The Philippines and the Straits Settlements, for instance, show a great falling off, and we have done little more than hold our own in other parts of the Pacific. Everyone knows how this trade has become lost or stagnant just as everyone knows how readily it might be doubled or trebled. While the control of the industry by shippers and proprietors may not be all that we should like to see there is no doubt that the main factor hindering progress has been industrial unrest. The absolute uncertainty of labour conditions has stopped progress in all directions. Although the present increased bulk of trade is something to be thankful for, it is hardly too much to say that it would have been twice as great but for the labour troubles of the past few years. At one time, indeed, it looked as though we were in a fair way to lose our foreign coal trade altogether, to say nothing of the fact that we directly induced the other States to open up much inferior mines of their own. It is impossible to undo the harm thus done, though we may atone for it by expansion in fresh directions. Japan, for instance, has largely taken our place in the East, and she has every right to the trade her freedom from labour difficulties has secured to her. It is no use crying over spilt milk, but when we see how the industry can grow if it is given a reasonable chance, surely everyone should think more than twice before deliberately hampering its progress.

THE DOMESTIC PROBLEM.

Of late our minds have been so exercised over momentous issues that we have rather forgotten a problem lying at our very doors, which, if less spectacular than some questions that have received wider advertisement, involves the health and happiness of a large portion of the community. We refer to the difficulty of obtaining domestic help. It is a difficulty which is being experienced all over the world, but is, surely, felt nowhere more acutely than in New South Wales. The reason is not far to seek. In Australia the idea of domestic service has been confounded with the idea of domestic servitude, and recruits for what under proper conditions should be a very natural vocation for womanhood have been few and far between. Lately we have been almost entirely dependent on immigration for this class of employee, and before newcomers reach Sydney there is many a port and many an inducement to prevent them coming so far. The result is that, as already many an overburdened housewife knows, the women folk of an establishment are condemned to a life of intolerable drudgery. To this state of affairs an additional complication has been added by the proposal to include domestic workers in the schedule of the Industrial Arbitration Bill, and so to bring their hours of employment into harmony with those of other vocations. Like many of the schemes of the present Government, this is well intentioned; also, like many, it is ill-devised. There is a proverb about good intentions which is peculiarly apposite, because undoubtedly this will pave the way to domestic doom.

The objections to including domestic service in a time scale—as apart from a wage scale, for which much may be said—is twofold. In the first place, it is impossible; in the second, unnecessary. No one need be told why it is impossible. Every housewife knows that the work at home is by no means continuous, and that an eight-hour day would entail periods of idleness which are allowed in no other form of employment. It would also mean that a man in a position to afford one domestic assistant would condemn his wife to household duties at the only times of the day when he could enjoy her society. Such a provision is also unnecessary now. There was a time when these employees were treated shamefully. Bad accommodation, scraps and leavings for food, and scanty holidays were the rule. To suggest that such a state of affairs obtains to-day is sheer nonsense. The reform may not be due to any inherent virtue on the part of employers, but simply because, service being at a premium, the conditions must be made doubly attractive if it is to be secured at all. In view of this suggestion Miss Rose Scott's words were particularly appropriate. This lady, who has always championed the cause of her sex, does not think that good will result from any such scheme. Indeed, how can it? A belief has been propagated that domestic service is degrading, though why it should be so is difficult to explain. No other relation of employer and employee is thought degrading, and to-day domestic service simply amounts to a business relation, with a measure of intimate and personal association which is often very desirable. Indeed, it has advantages over any other business relation because it is one of the few employments where no training, no experience, no special equipment of any kind whatsoever is necessary in order that work may be forthcoming. Its wages are relatively not great compared to those of other forms of employment, but they include board and lodging—to-day not an inconsiderable item. No one suggests that domestic service should be the be-all and end-all of existence; it is merely an excellent apprenticeship towards the managing of a house of one's own. No one suggests that a mistress should be allowed to tyrannise over her employees. In view of the present shortage the latter are well able to take care of themselves. We do, however, contend that any attempt to put them on all fours with shop assistants and clerks, as is proposed, is ill-judged, and will be disastrous both to themselves and to the whole community.

HOLIDAY PEOPLE.

The holiday of yesterday is to be added to the long list of Sydney festivals which have made for the enjoyment of thousands of our people. Favoured by fine weather, this particular holiday, falling as it does in the springtime of our year, is certain of its public. It had it yesterday in every one of the innumerable resorts that make the environs of Sydney famous. The attractions of the harbour, in particular, find in Eight-hour Day a convenient preliminary to the summer re-awakening of an unrivalled pleasure-ground, and with other allurements of all sorts and conditions active in and about the city, it is no wonder that the holiday record of yesterday is a story of crowds and of pleasures very easily found. It must have been notably apparent to anyone who moved amongst the people yesterday that their characteristic holiday mood needs no forcing. It comes effortlessly to them, not only by reason of the singularly genial surrounding of their native conditions, but also because of the favouring circumstances that allow them to make the most of those conditions. A Sydney crowd out upon holiday is essentially a happy crowd. It was that yesterday. Very largely, as befitted the festival of Labour it celebrated, it was made up of workers. But they bore little signs either that their work is of the wearing sort, or that it was in any sense arduous by reason of its poor reward. On the contrary, it is possible that in but few cities of the world would holiday crowds so composed give such evidence as yesterday's of prosperity and of happy conditions of life.

We hear from time to time of the stringency of money, and the high cost of living, and of other similar ills very well calculated to diminish the spending power of the working community. The holiday exodus of yesterday gave no hint of any such effect upon our people. The very reverse appeared to be the case, indeed, if judgment from appearances is to be trusted. But it does not need a holiday to emphasise the happy fortune of the workers of Australia as compared with those of other countries. We are known about the world as an amusement-loving people, and that not only by reason of our many holidays but by our unceasingly strong support of the recreations of life. In sport that is unarguably so, and in other recreative interests it is easily demonstrable. The consistency of our public's patronage, for example, of theatres and music-halls, and of the picture shows that are the latest development of the art of entertaining an audience, reveals our people as keenly alive to the virtue of the lighter side of life, and intent upon possessing it. Clearly from that it is to be argued not only their immunity from the worries which would soon unfit them for energetic effort upon such pleasures, but also their capacity to pay for a very great deal of enjoyment. And if the highest national good is the contentment of the people, Australia is entitled, by virtue of this characteristic of the public, to believe itself nationally well-circumstanced. And as to that, the holiday of yesterday, and the happiness in it of tens of thousands of the public, is further proof.

The Week in London.—Our Special correspondent in London, whose letter this week appears on page 3, makes some interesting points in connection with Empire building. The home newspapers are beginning to see that what is wanted is the great mass of people free from over-anxiety about daily bread, and capable of discussing Imperial needs, because relieved from the burden of a desperate fight against starvation. Such a stock to draw from would solve the problems of emigration. Admiral's Henderson's speech at Glasgow seems not to have been reported in English papers from fear of offending New Zealand. The last part of the letter is devoted to the first tube collision.

Parks for the People.—"One of the world's finest gardens" is the tribute paid by Mr. C. C. Follmer, a visitor from Grand Rapids, Michigan, to the Sydney Botanic Gardens. Mr. Follmer said yesterday that the people of Sydney had reason to be proud of these beautiful gardens so close to the city. There were few more picturesque sights. He said that in Grand Rapids they were acquiring all the sites for parks they could lay hands on, not so much for the present use as with an eye to the future. Just before he left as much as 300,000 dollars had been passed for the purchase of land.

Chain of Wireless.—The chain of wireless stations around Australasia will in a very few months be an accomplished fact, and Australia, New Zealand, and the islands will be in constant touch, day and night. The station at Awanui Bay, North Auckland, is practically in operation already, although not yet officially taken over by the Government. The installation, a 30-kilowatt one, compares very favourably with that at Pennant Hills and with the high-power station at Fremantle, and will enable Auckland to "speak" to Sydney or Fiji at any time. A similar installation is now in course of erection at the Bluff, in the south of New Zealand, and there are three supplementary stations in the Dominion. At the conference in Melbourne some three years back, at which this Australasian wireless scheme was set afoot, it was pointed out that it would be a great aid to the defence of all parts of the Commonwealth and New Zealand. Use is being made of the wireless in New Zealand as an aid to weather forecasting, the Government meteorologists there being in receipt every day of messages from warships and other vessels equipped with wireless installations conveying the latest news of storm areas approaching, breaking, or dispersing round the coast of the Dominion.

The Birth-rate.—The birth-rate in Sydney, at all events, is increasing without the aid of the maternity bonus. In his annual report the city health officer (Dr. Armstrong) shows that the number of births registered in the metropolis during the year 1911 was 17,829, or 1625 more than in 1910. The number of births is the greatest ever recorded in the metropolis, and corresponds to a birth-rate of 27.78 per 1000 of the population. This rate is 8 per cent. above the average of the five preceding years, and is the highest since 1896.

Cadet Parades.—The Minister for Defence said yesterday that the Attorney-General had considered a proposal for the compulsory payment, by employers of cadets for time off for parades. Mr. Hughes had advised that the High Court decision in the Harvester case prevented the Government from enforcing such payments. The Commonwealth could not afford to pay cadets, and the Minister would have to continue fixing parade hours, as far as possible, out of working hours. The motion which was passed by the Presbyterian Assembly in favour of early morning drills was preposterous.

Beach Formation.—Mr. E. C. Andrews, in an address before the Royal Society on the formation of the shoreline of New South Wales, stated that in sand flats the prevailing element is horizontality combined with uniform height above sea-level, and in the case of sand dunes irregularity is the chief feature. The only regular characteristic of dunes was their arrangement upon the sand flats at the seaward margin, as at Botany Bay, Bondi, Manly, and Newcastle. There was evidence that these sand flats, which occur at heights from five to 20 feet above high water mark, have been formed by current action below the sea, and that by a slight movement of elevation a few hundred years ago, were converted into dry land, the winds then piling up the sand dunes upon their margin. The symmetrical scollops along the beaches, especially after storms, were accounted for by the regular interference of waves breaking near low water mark and running thence up the beach in the form of constantly widening circles. At the meeting points of the circles the waves destroyed each other's motion, and returning down the beach, excavated the deep troughs. When developed these possess strong backwashes, which prove so dangerous to surf bathers.

Dusty Streets.—Complaints regarding the dust nuisance in the city increase as the weather grows warmer. A proposal by Alderman Mallett is to be discussed at the meeting of the City Council to-night that, in the best interests of the public, the council should communicate with the municipal authorities of Berlin or some other up-to-date city with a view to getting one of its officers to pay a visit to Sydney to advise and report on the best methods of dealing with the dust nuisance and keeping the city clean; the expenses in connection with the visit to be borne, of course, by the City Council. Another motion by Alderman Mallett is,—"That, with regard to the alleged prevailing sickness in the city at the present time, the health committee be requested to consider the advisability of instructing the city health officer to take samples of dust, sweepings, and air of the various public places of amusement in the city with a view to analyses being carried out, and a report furnished to the council."

"Sporting Out-of-door Life."—British East Africa is, according to Mr. George Toombs, a mining engineer, who lately spent 12 months there, and arrived in Sydney by the Van Linschoten on Saturday, a "fine place for a man who likes a sporting out-of-door life," but not for the small settler. No man ought to go there to live, he said, unless he had plenty of money. Most of those who had taken up land had gone in for the cultivation of coffee and sisal hemp. The raising of cattle had not been a great success. That was because stock diseases were rife. The country simply teemed with game—zebra, antelope, giraffes, rhinoceros, and so forth. Roosevelt's "bag" had been but a drop from the ocean. The Government, however, did not allow indiscriminate slaughter, and limited the number of animals to be shot when issuing licenses. Though Nairobi was so close to the equator, the climate was quite mild, by reason of the great elevation of the settlement.

Russian Farmers.—Mr. Le[illegible], a Russian, who has just been to [illegible]hern Territory to investigate the [illegible]lities of establishing a settlement of [illegible] farmers, is at present on a visit to Sydney. He states that the Russian Government d[illegible] not want its people to leave the country. It puts every obstacle in the way of emigration. If facilities were offered thousands and thousands would come to Australia. Plenty would go to the Northern Territory, but if the Commonwealth Government wanted to ensure settlement there they would need to give some financial assistance. He had put this view before the Minister for External Affairs, and Mr. Thomas had promised to go into the matter and let him have an answer in a few days. Exception was taken by Mr. Illin to the references made to conditions in Russia, and to the habits of the Russians themselves, by Mr. G. H. Blakemore in the course of an interview a few days ago. He said that his compatriots in this country were very indignant at being characterised as "an abominably dirty people." Every Russian house had its bathroom—a sort of Turkish bath—and every Russian used it at least once a week. "I intend writing a book about Australia for the benefit of my countrymen," said Mr. Illin, "and if I liked to look for defects, as evidently Mr. Blakemore did when he went through Russia, I could tell quite a number of things that would not redound to your credit. Would it not be a wicked perversion if I described Australians as drunkards because I have seen a number of them drunk, or as a nation of gamblers because I have seen some gambling? Because Mr. Blakemore happened to see a few dirty Russians, is it fair of him to say we are a dirty people? Mine are a suffering and oppressed race, with a blood-sucking Government. Russia is a wonderfully rich country, but the people will never be happy and contented till it is governed differently."

PERSONAL.

VICE-REGAL.

Their Excellencies the Governor-General and Lady Denman, attended by their staff, were present at the A.J.C. races at Randwick yesterday. His Excellency lunched with the committee.

Their Excellencies the Governor-General and Lady Denman, attended by Mr. R. V. Vernon, Major Quilter, and Captain Burnham, left by the Melbourne express last night. Their Excellencies will attend the Bendigo Agricultural Show on Wednesday, and then proceed to Melbourne.

The Prime Minister (Mr. Andrew Fisher), who has been the guest of his Excellency the Admiral and Lady King-Hall at Admiralty House since Saturday, left for Melbourne last evening. He was accompanied by Senator M'Gregor (Vice-President of the Executive Council), Mr. King O'Malley (Minister for Home Affairs), and Mr. M'Donald (Speaker of the House of Representatives).

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Young, of Fairymead, Queensland, are staying at Admiralty House.

The Prime Minister (Mr. Fisher), accompanied by Mr. Hugh Paterson, chairman of the Federal Art Advisory Board, visited the National Art Gallery on Sunday, and spent a considerable time in inspecting the collection. Mr. Fisher, in expressing his appreciation of the works, made special mention of those by Australian artists, in which he takes a keen interest, and commended the trustees for the very liberal support and encouragement they had given to the Australian artist.

The Federal Attorney-General (Mr. Hughes) is remaining in Sydney to attend the manufacturers' dinner.

Mr. Joseph Cook, M.P., will return to Melbourne by the express to-night. Mr. Cook was unable to approach the train last night, owing to the crush on account of the Governor-General's departure.

Mr. Hugh Paterson, chairman of the Federal Art Advisory Board, is at present in Sydney, with the view of inspecting the studies of portrait painters, and leaves this evening for Brisbane with a similar object.

Mr. G. A. Moore, chief assistant at the Sydney Municipal Library, has been appointed acting librarian during the absence of the librarian (Mr. C. A. Bertie) on long service leave.

Mr. W. J. Ralph, owner of the Taupiri coal mines, near Auckland, is at present on a visit to Sydney.

Mr. W. F. Grace, general manager of the Waihi Grand Junction mine, is in Sydney on his way back to New Zealand from a visit to London.

THE HOLIDAY.

GLORIOUS WEATHER.

HOW THE DAY WAS SPENT.

The Eight-Hour procession and sports, of course, furnished the chief item in yesterday's holiday programme, but there were also other important events for the public enjoyment.

On such a day, and one so obviously adapted to the display of the most charming and expensive of spring fashions, it was only natural that the Randwick Racecourse should be chosen by the fair sex yesterday for spending the holiday. They formed a very large contingent of the great throng of turf devotees who patronised the A.J.C. meeting, and presented a pleasing picture on the lawns of pretty frocks, whose variegated colours harmonised well. The racing, especially the Metropolitan, was watched with keen interest and excitement, and a most enjoyable afternoon was spent.

Next in order of merit was the Balmain Regatta, which attracted a fair share of support from those to whom the call of the sea is irresistible. There were thousands of people, however, who found more relaxation at the attractive picnic resorts available at so many points along the tree-fringed foreshores of Port Jackson and Middle Harbour. For such excursionists the ferry companies had made ample provision, and there was also a great rush of holiday-makers to Manly, Coogee, and Bondi, where the delight of surf-bathing could be indulged in. The Hibernian Society's picnic and demonstration took place at Botany, and passed off successfully; and the special trains provided by the Railway Commissioners for those who had a weakness for country trips were filled to their capacity.

There were large attendances at the special matinee performances given by the management of the theatres and other places of amusement, and in the evening "house full" was posted early.

COMMONWEALTH BANK.

ESTABLISHING BRANCHES.

MR. MILLER'S TOUR.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The Governor of the Commonwealth Bank (Mr. Denison Miller) has returned from a visit to Western Australia and South Australia. He has visited Kalgoorlie and Boulder City, and some of the agricultural areas near the coast, with a view to further business, and has also completed arrangements for giving savings bank facilities to the men employed in the construction of the western section of the transcontinental line. It has been decided that a car should be fitted up as a savings bank, and kept at the head of the works.

Mr. Miller went on to say that he intended to go to Sydney to-day to attend several important matters. He would visit Tasmania at the end of the month for the purpose of establishing an office and interviewing candidates for employment. He had been advised of a site which he thought would be suitable. He expected that the business of the bank would be begun in the Northern Territory on Monday next. It was his desire to visit the Federal capital territory when returning from Sydney, and it would depend a good deal on what he saw there as to whether he would take steps at present to open a branch there. The people of the territory, however, were in a peculiar position, as they could not obtain advances from the savings bank at New South Wales. He was, therefore, considering the desirableness of establishing at Yass-Canberra not only a savings bank, but a general bank.

BORDER RAILWAYS.

INTERSTATE GOVERNMENT CONFERENCE.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The Premier (Mr. Watt), the Chief Secretary (Mr. Murray), and the Minister for Railways (Mr. M'Bride) will leave for Sydney on Friday to confer with the Ministry of New South Wales. A conference between New South Wales and Victorian Ministers will be held on Saturday and Monday with reference to the border railways, the Murray River agreement, and probably the proposed transference of industrial powers from the States to the Commonwealth. The Victorian Ministers will return to Melbourne on Tuesday.

"WE WANT MORE POWER."

MR. FISHER EMPHATIC.

REFERENDUM A PARTY ISSUE.

"The referendum overshadows everything else," said the Prime Minister (Mr. Fisher), in an interview yesterday.

"We want more power. It is ridiculous that we should be limited as we are at the present time. The early settlement of industrial disputes means a tremendous lot to Australia. We want to be able to set the Commonwealth Arbitration Court in motion as soon as any difficulty in the industrial community arises, no matter in what State it starts, and no matter whether it is confined to the limits of one State or not.

"I have two instances in mind—the Brisbane tramway strike and the Newcastle coal strike. Both troubles would have been short-lived had the Commonwealth been possessed of power to step in. We want the Commonwealth Arbitration Court to have not only appellate jurisdiction, but also original jurisdiction.

"The Attorney-General (Mr. Hughes) is preparing the referendum proposals now, and I expect that they will be ready for presentation to the public in about a month. Whether the proposals are presented on election day in six questions or sixty it will make little difference in the actual result. It will be little use voting 'Yes' to one and 'No' to another. We want the people on this occasion to vote 'Yes' to all, and I think they will.

"The referendum proposals are not an attack on State rights, as has been stated. It is necessary that the Commonwealth should have the extended powers it asks for in order to be in a position to protect the community industrially and commercially."

Upon being asked whether the referendum on the next occasion would be a purely party issue, Mr. Fisher answered without hesitation, "Yes."

"Mr. Justice Higgins," the Prime Minister added, "has done magnificent work in the Commonwealth Arbitration Court. He has saved the community at least £20,000 a year, I should say." And Mr. Justice O'Connor also did splendid work before him.

In reply to a further question, Mr. Fisher said that in the event of the Commonwealth being given the extended powers it asked for facilities would be given for promptly bringing industrial cases before the Court so that in the event of there being several upheavals at one time there would be no delay.

Mr. Fisher expressed strong disapproval of the term "baby bonus" in connection with the Federal Government's maternity allowance scheme. What it was proposed to make, he said, was a maternity allowance pure and simple. Whether twins or triplets were born it would make no difference. The allowance would be just the same.

Upon the subject of Mr. Flowers' proposal for a further maternity allowance, Mr. Fisher said that the State would start where the Commonwealth left off. If the State gave mothers a further allowance so much the better.

It could be taken for granted, Mr. Fisher said, that the Navigation Bill would be passed, no matter how long it took to do it. The present intention was to close the session about the first week in December, and he did not think it would be later.

Discussing the naval question, Mr. Fisher expressed the opinion that New Zealand sooner or later would come into an Australasian scheme. He derided the idea that the intention was to restrict the operations of the Australian navy like a policeman on his beat. The Australian unit, he said, would not be tied to any particular place. It would go wherever it was deemed advisable it should go in time of danger.

"Yes," Mr. Fisher added, "I feel sure that New Zealand sooner or later will come into an Australasian scheme of naval defence."

VERY AWKWARD.

STATE MINISTERS' DILEMMA.

ISSUES TO BE FACED.

There was no doubt about the note of warning issued by Mr. Fisher at the Trades Hall dinner to State Ministers who are opposed to the referendum proposals.

Mr. Fisher said that the referendum failed on the last occasion through misapprehension and misrepresentation. The "misrepresenters" include the Attorney-General (Mr. Holman) and the Minister for Lands (Mr. Beeby). The latter has publicly denounced the Federal proposals as a unification scheme, —nothing more and nothing less. Mr. Holman's denunciation was no less critical, and immediately provoked the resentment of the Australian Workers' Union, who did not hesitate to brand him as a traitor. Mr. Holman replied to the charge in vigorous terms at Temora, and again referring to the referendum proposals said that they were ridiculous. Incidentally Mr. Holman challenged his critics to show that the referendum proposals were on the Labour platform.

Mr. Holman's arguments against the referendum stand as good to-day as they were then. But the referendum has since been placed on the Labour platform, and as a good Labour man Mr. Holman, no matter what his opinions may be, is called upon to support it. In short, he is to be asked and is expected to subscribe to a policy which he thinks and says is "ridiculous."

At Cobar on Saturday night, probably at the moment when Mr. Fisher was attacking him, Mr. Holman made it clear that the State Government would not go to the country till the Parliament expired by effluxion of time. When that day comes the referendum will have been settled "yes" or "no," and the Federal election will be over.

Before a selected Labour candidate can contest an election he has to sign a pledge to support the platform. If the State Labour party went to the country before the Federal elections, as it intended some time ago, each individual member would be compelled not only to support by his signature the referendum, but also to go on the platform and advocate it.

Once the referendum is over and done with there will be no need to support it, and if State members do not go to the country before the issue is decided they will not have to sign the pledge. At least, they will not have to sign it till the issue is dead. Perhaps this is the way out for Mr. Holman and Mr. Beeby, provided the Labour conference, which has placed the referendum on the platform, is willing to allow them to remain quiet during the Federal campaign. Whether or not they are let alone will doubtless largely affect the attitude of these two State Ministers, who are the backbone of their Government, and the pillars of their party.

In most matters of controversy between the Federal and State Governments, Mr. Hughes is the power behind the throne on the one hand and Mr. Holman on the other. The correspondence on Government House disclosed a good deal of temper on both sides; and Government House is not the only subject of controversy. There is the matter of the Savings Banks, in which the State Labour Government is ranged alongside the Liberal Governments of Victoria and Queensland in fighting the Federal Labour Government. There are Federal Labour members and Labour leaguers who think this siding with the Liberals is treason, and more is bound to be heard of it later on.

There is ample room for trouble over the referendum questions. Every State politician believes, as Mr. Beeby has said, that the carrying of the referendum means unification. With unification will disappear 90 billets in New South Wales at £500 a year. It remains to be seen what the power of £ s d will have upon the campaign which Mr. Fisher, backed up by the Labour conference, demands shall be supported by every Labour man, Federal and State—whether it mean self-dismissal and a return to work, or not.

THE HUME SEAT.

FARMERS AND SETTLERS ACTIVE.

WAGGA, Monday.

At a meeting of the Wagga branch of the Farmers and Settlers' Association, Mr. Fraser moved, "That this branch request the general secretary of the association to convene an electoral conference, at which a returning officer can be appointed for selecting a candidate for the Hume if such be deemed desirable by the conference when it meets." Mr. Fraser stated he had been told by persons in authority that Mr. J. G. Fletcher was the chosen candidate in the case of an extraordinary election but not for a general election. Mr. Crouch said that the Liberals were not playing the game in the districts where the people were almost to a man opposed to Labour. Mr. Field stated that the Liberals were organised only with the object of getting voters to the polling booth on election day. The motion was put and carried on the voices.

THE BALKANS.

MACEDONIAN REFORM.

PROMISED BY THE PORTE.

BUT WAR STILL THREATENS.

BRITAIN'S ATTITUDE.

The position in the Balkans is still critical. The Powers have not yet come to an understanding, and every day's delay obviously increases the difficulty with which war may be averted. The British Government has taken up a hostile attitude towards the proposals made by Russia and France with regard to Macedonia, on the ground that the independence of Turkey will be violated. Meanwhile, the enthusiasm in Greece and the Balkan States for war continues unabated, and mobilisation is progressing.

EFFORTS OF DIPLOMATISTS.

A RIFT IN THE LUTE.

LONDON, Oct. 7.

The Constantinople correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph" says that as a result of the efforts of the British, French, and Russian Ambassadors the Porte has accepted the application of article 23 of the Treaty of Berlin to Macedonia, and will grant reforms similar to those in Crete and Eastern Roumelia.

It is also reported that the Porte is applying to Macedonia the reforms which were drawn up in 1880 for Oriental Roumelia.

VIENNA, Oct. 7.

Austria has substituted the word "Macedonia" for "Christian population" in the Note, and has intimated that she prefers verbal representations to the Porte to written communications.

Newspaper comment suggests that Austria dislikes the role of policeman, which, besides being expensive, would tend to ruin Austrian trade in the Balkans. She could prevent Servia from annexing territory, but, the papers ask who could make Bulgaria withdraw if she were victorious?—certainly not Russia.

Austria is apprehensive of a Servian invasion of Novi Bazar, and fears that the Greeks will land at Salonika.

PARIS, Oct. 7.

M. Sazonoff, Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, and M. Poincare have accepted the modification suggested by Austria to their proposals, making it clear that the Powers will guarantee Turkey's integrity.

The scheme as now formulated will be submitted to the Powers.

It is reported that Sir Edward Grey takes exception to the phrase "the Powers have resolved to take a hand in the realisation of reforms," which M. Poincare and M. Sazonoff deem essential.

Sir Edward Grey is said to consider this wording in the Powers' Note to be incompatible with Turkey's independence, and tending to reduce it to the level of Persia.

The "Temps" criticises Britain's attitude, which, it points out, is so different from her humanitarian enthusiasm of 1878.

ROME, Oct. 7.

Italy is joining the Powers in regard to the joint Note, but she will not interfere at Constantinople until peace has been concluded in connection with the war in Tripoli.

THE FINANCIAL QUESTION.

LONDON, Oct. 7.

Financial authorities declare that the Balkan States are looking to Paris to finance them. France has issued several loans during the last year or two, of which considerable balances still remain in Paris at the borrowers' credit. They point out that if the Parisian banks attempt to curb the fire-eaters by cutting off supplies Servia and Bulgaria may fight with paper money. They add that London must support Paris in the matter.

FRONTIER FIGHTING.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 7.

Collisions have taken place between Turkish and Greek frontier guards near Metzosto.

The Turks frustrated a Servian attempt to cross the frontier near Bashka.

VIENNA, Oct. 6.

The "Neue Freie Presse" states that a body of Montenegrins entered the sanjak of Novi Bazar on Thursday. The Turks killed 100, and the rest then recrossed the Tara River.

TURKISH LEGISLATION.

HAVE TO JOIN COLOURS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 6.

Talaat Bey and Djavid Bey, two well-known politicians, have been called to the colours as reservists, and have gone to the front, although they had paid for exemption.

During a demonstration yesterday the windows of the Greek Consulate were smashed. Gendarmerie eventually dispersed the rioters.

All graduates of the military schools have received sub-lieutenant commissions.

BULGARIA.

PARLIAMENTARY ACTION.

SOFIA, Oct. 6.

Parliament has passed extraordinary army credits, amounting to 72,000,000 francs. Members adopted the estimates with acclamation.

Parliament has also assented to the declaration of a state of siege and a moratorium for three months.

The Minister for Finance has been authorised to curtail the salaries of all public officials by from 10 to 20 per cent.

SERVIAN MOBILISATION.

THE KING STATES REASONS.

BELGRADE, Oct. 6.

The King, when opening the Skupshtina, said that the Christians had been threatened with extermination, and instead of carrying out the reforms which had been promised Turkey had mobilised her troops, thus endangering Servia, and thereby compelling a counter mobilisation.

Three thousand boy scouts tendered their services as messengers and clerks in the public offices. The offer has been accepted, and the boys are replacing the reservists in the departments who have joined the colours.

FIRST GREEK SUBMARINE.

SINEWS OF WAR.

ATHENS, Oct. 6.

The first Greek submarine has arrived from Toulon. The crew were accorded an enthusiastic reception.

The Minister of Finance states that in the event of war it will not be necessary for Greece to borrow, as she has 58,000,000 francs in foreign banks, and over 100,000,000 in the National Bank.

He added that the budget for the current year showed a considerable surplus.

MONTENEGRO.

CETINJE, Oct. 6.

A moratorium has been declared in Montenegro.

BULGARIAN BRIGAND'S RAID.

TURKISH BARRACKS BURNED.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.

The "Frankfurter Zeitung" says that Sandansky, a Bulgarian brigand, who kidnapped Miss Stone some years ago, is at the head of a force of 2500 men, and has occupied the ford at Kresna, over the river Struma. He has also burned the Turkish barracks at Oschumara.

THE KOCHANA MASSACRE.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 7.

A court-martial condemned a Moslem to death in connection with the recent Kochana massacre, and another to penal servitude, while several minor sentences were also passed.

INDEMNITY FOR DETAINED GRAIN.

Russia is threatening to demand an indemnity of Turkey for detaining Russian grain in the Greek ships held up in the Dardanelles.

Regarding the first cable message published above, sections XIII. to XXII. of the Treaty of Berlin, which deal with the formation of the province of Eastern Rumelia (now part of Bulgaria), may throw some light on the proposed scheme for Macedonia. The province was to "remain under the direct political and military authority of his Imperial Majesty the Sultan, under conditions of administrative autonomy," and was to have a Christian Governor-General. The Sultan was to have the right of providing for the defence of the sea and land frontiers of the province, by erecting fortifications on those frontiers, and maintaining troops there. Internal order was to be maintained by a native gendarmerie, assisted by a local militia. In forming these corps, the officers of which were to be nominated by the Sultan, regard was to be paid in the different localities to the religion of the inhabitants. The Sultan undertook not to employ irregular troops, such as Bashi-Bazouks and Circassians, in the garrisons of the frontiers. The regular troops were not to be billeted on the inhabitants, or to make a stay in the province when passing through it. The Governor-General was to have the right of summoning the Ottoman troops when necessary to maintain order. He was to be nominated by the Sublime Porte, with the assent of the Powers, for a term of five years. A European Commission was to be formed to determine, within three months, "the powers and functions of the Governor-General, as well as the administrative, provincial, and financial system of the province," and the commission was to administer, in concert with the Sublime Porte, the finances of the province until the completion of the new organisation. Treaties and other international arrangements were to be applied to Eastern Rumelia as to other parts of the Ottoman Empire, the immunities and privileges acquired by foreigners were to be respected in the province, and the Sublime Porte undertook "to enforce there the general laws of the Empire on religious liberty in favour of all forms of worship." The rights of the Porte with regard to railways were to be maintained in their integrity.

Article XXIII. of the Treaty of Berlin, which is specially referred to in the above cables, reads as follows:—The Sublime Porte undertakes scrupulously to apply to the Island of Crete the Organic Law of 1868, with such modifications as may be considered equitable. Similar laws adapted to local requirements, excepting as regards the exemption from taxation granted to Crete, shall also be introduced into the other parts of Turkey in Europe, for which no special organisation has been provided by the present treaty. The Sublime Porte shall depute special commissioners, in which the native element shall be largely represented, to settle the details of the new laws in each province. The schemes of organisation resulting from these labours shall be submitted for examination to the Sublime Porte, which, before promulgating the Acts for putting them into force, shall consult the European Commission instituted for Eastern Rumelia."

THE SUBMARINE DISASTER.

OPINION OF EXPERTS.

SEAWEED OBSCURES PERISCOPE.

LONDON, Oct. 6.

Divers who at first reported that they had found the submarine B2, which was sunk as a result of a collision with the Hamburg-Amerika liner Amerika, have discovered that a rock was located in mistake. The work of sweeping is being continued by four destroyers.

Some experts are of the opinion that some seaweed obscured the periscope of B2, and the submarine was forced to ascend just as the Amerika was approaching.

Naval circles believe that the disaster was due to suction from the liner.

The impact probably exploded the air cylinders, wrecking the interior, and killing the crew immediately.

Lieutenant Pulleyne, the sole survivor, is recovering, but is still unable to give a complete account of the disaster.

He says he came on deck and saw the liner Amerika. He signalled her approach, but it was too late to avert a collision.

He states that he was carried to the bottom with the submarine when she sank, but a terrific rush of escaping air inflated his oilskins, and carried him to the surface. Afterwards he wriggled out of his oilskins and water boots, and was able to swim freely.

TWO MORE ACCIDENTS.

TO HAMBURG-AMERIKA STEAMERS.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.

The Hamburg-Amerika Company's steamer Vandalia collided with a floating dock in the Elbe, and sank. The passengers were saved, but the cook and carpenter, who were below, were drowned.

Later the same company's steamer Graecia collided with the wreck, and had to be beached.

COMMONWEALTH SYMPATHY.

His Excellency the Governor-General has addressed the following telegram to the Secretary of State for the Colonies:—"Will you kindly convey to the relatives of those who lost their lives in the accident to Submarine B2 an expression of deep sympathy on behalf of the Government and people of Australia, who have received the sad news with profound regret.—Denman."

HOME RULE BILL.

POSSIBILITY OF COMPROMISE.

IRISH LANDOWNERS MEET.

LONDON, Oct. 6.

Lord Macdonnell states that a private meeting of moderate Conservative Irish landowners was held, at which the Home Rule Bill was discussed.

It is rumoured that the meeting considered the possibility of a compromise being arrived at.

October 7.

There are rumours that the Government is negotiating with Mr. J. E. Redmond with a view to enabling Ulster to contract out of Home Rule.

COVENANT PROSECUTIONS.

SIR EDWARD CARSON'S VIEWS.

Sir Edward Carson, M.P., leader of the Irish Unionist Party, speaking at Rottingdean, referred to the proposed prosecution of the signatories to the Ulster Covenant.

He said that he was the proper person to prosecute, adding, if that were done he would tell the Court if it is a crime to strain every nerve to preserve the people of Ireland in a right to which they were born, then he was guilty, and he would say, "Do your worst."

AERONAUTICS.

A DOUBLE FATALITY.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.

Herr Alig, an airman, and his mechanic fell 200 metres while flying at Johannisthal, and both were killed.

AN AMERICAN RECORD.

ANNAPOLIS (Md.), Oct. 7.

An American record endurance flight in an hydro-aeroplane was established by Lieut. John H. Towers, of the Naval Aviation Corps, who flew for 6h 10m 35s. J. Peck was the previous holder of the record, with a flight of 4h 23m 38s.

THE LABOUR PROBLEM.

HIGHER WAGES NO PANACEA.

LONDON, Oct. 7.

Mr. J. Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the Labour party in the House of Commons, stated, in course of a speech at Bradford last night, that it was no solution of the labour problem to lift up wages in order to lift up prices. He declared that despite the trade unions there was a bigger gulf between the man at the top and the man at the bottom today than there was twelve or twenty years ago.

He added that the present Parliamentary machinery was bad. It was necessary to decentralise Parliamentary authority and to give the municipalities more power.

AUSTRALIAN CRICKETERS.

MATCH AT PHILADELPHIA.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6.

In the match against Philadelphia the Australians scored 101 in the first innings, Mayne being the highest scorer with 51.

King took five wickets for 22 runs.

Philadelphia has scored 218 with a loss of seven wickets. King contributing 45.

AUTOMOBILE COLLISION.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6.

A collision occurred on a bridge between three automobiles, resulting in the death of seven occupants of the vehicles.

The cars overturned, and were shattered, the victims being buried in the wreckage.

Two other occupants were seriously injured.

FIRE ON A BATTLESHIP.

TOKIO, Oct. 6.

A mysterious outbreak of fire was discovered close to the magazine on the battleship Mikasa. It was quickly extinguished.

The occurrence is attributed to an incendiary, who committed suicide.

SPANISH RAILWAY DISASTER.

MADRID, Oct. 6.

In connection with the railway disaster at Alicante owing to the failure of the brakes on a goods train, which crashed through a dead-end and into a waiting-room, eight people are reported to have been killed.

One hundred and twenty-two persons were also injured, 22 being seriously hurt.

CHINESE FINANCE.

LONDON, Oct. 7.

The Peking correspondent of the "Daily Mail" states that the contract for a Franco-Belgian £10,000,000 loan has been signed. The object of the loan is the extension of the railways in North China.

NATIONAL HUNGER STRIKE URGED.

LONDON, Oct. 6.

Mary Gawthorpe has proposed, in order to force the granting of the franchise to women, that a national hunger strike should be instituted, to commence at midnight on December 25.

Her appeal is made particularly to the wives, sisters, and mothers of Cabinet Ministers and members of the House of Commons.

HARBOUR TRAGEDY.

THREE WOMEN DROWNED.

CAPSIZE OF A BOAT.

DESPERATE STRUGGLE FOR LIFE.

A sad boating fatality occurred last night in Rushcutter Bay, to lend the note of tragedy to yet another of Sydney's holidays.

The details to hand so far are somewhat meagre, but from what can be gathered two lives have been lost for certain, while another is said to be missing.

From what can be gathered it would seem that the heavy north-easterly swell that was sweeping across the harbour last evening was responsible for the accident. According to the report furnished by the police, the party consisted of 10, including Mr. James Bain and Mrs. Ada Maud Bain, of 2 Stevens-street, Paddington; Mrs. Florence Webster, Mrs. Mary Sjoberg and Annie Hodges, of 236 Glenmore-road, Paddington; Jane and Chrissie Doran, of 10 Suffolk-street, Paddington; Miss Ivy Wren, of Victoria-street; and Arthur and Fred. Smith, of 61 Cambridge-street. They were in a 16ft skiff, and were homeward bound from Clark Island to Rushcutter Bay.

When rounding Darling Point Mr. Bain and one of the Smiths were rowing, when water began to come in over the stern as the following seas caught them. This became momentarily worse, and at last was so serious that the women of the party began to get frightened, and at last Mrs. Webster stood up and crossed to the opposite side of the boat, with the result that it immediately began to sway dangerously, and finally heeled right over. All were thrown into the water, and, though some managed to get hold of the upturned boat, Mrs. Webster clutched Mrs. Bain about the body, and both went under.

There were fortunately for those in the water a number of other boats in the vicinity, and these were steered to the spot in time to rescue all who were to be found on the surface, but, though they rowed about in the vicinity for some time, when all had come to shore, and names were called, it was found that three of the women were missing, as follows:—

Mrs. WEBSTER, of 236 Glenmore-road.
Mrs. SJOBERG, of 236 Glenmore-road.
Mrs. BAIN, of 2 Stevens-street, Paddington.

Two of the rescued were brought ashore just in the nick of time, as they were in an unconscious condition from immersion. The Civil Ambulance was called, and took them to Sydney Hospital, where they were admitted for treatment, and later in the evening were in a greatly improved condition.

As soon as it was found that there were still three missing the news was quickly passed to the naval authorities near by, and the searchlights from the Protector were at once requisitioned, and the powerful white lights swept the water in every direction, while a score of boats from the ships near and from the shore put out in a forlorn hope of rescue. Their efforts were only rewarded by the recovery of two bodies, those of Mrs. Bain and Mrs. Sjoberg, which were removed to the morgue, but up to a late hour last night no trace had been found of Mrs. Webster.

One of those in the hospital, Miss C. Doran, tells an exciting story, from which it appears that the picnic party, numbering in all about sixteen, took two boats from Bank's Boatshed, Rushcutter Bay, and were returning there at about 6.30 last evening.

One of these boats is said to have been very heavily loaded, and as they were approaching the shore, the stern of the boat was exposed to the swell that arose from the fresh north-easterly wind that was blowing, and the water began to splash over the stern. It seems that there were several girls in the stern of the boat, and these complained that the water was coming in and flooding the stern, and was up to their ankles.

On this one of the men of the party offered to change places with them, and they were in the act of doing so when the water came inboard with a rush. This terrified the ladies, who sprang to their feet, with the result that the boat capsized.

All were thrown into the water, and Miss Doran managed to keep herself afloat until she felt a man's hand grasp her and pull her into safety.

BOATMAN'S STORY.

HOW THE ACCIDENT OCCURRED.

Mr. Banks, of Banks' Boatshed, Rushcutter Bay, when seen last night, said that a Mr. S. Penton went to his shed at about 8.30 a.m. yesterday, together with three other young men, and hired a 17ft rowing boat. They took two pairs of sculls, and rowed off towards Clarke Island. The four men were the only occupants of the boat when it left the shed, there being no ladies present. The four young men had apparently met the ladies during the afternoon.

"The accident," said Mr. Banks, "happened while the party was on its way back. They had rowed back to a spot opposite Darling Point spit—right opposite Mr. Hordern's boat-house. While there one of the ladies was splashed with water, and she sprang suddenly to her feet, apparently on one side of the boat. This caused the boat to tilt over and fill with water, and the occupants were all thrown out.

"Mr. Jackson, of Darling Point, brought back two ladies in his dingy. They were very wet, and were suffering from shock."

Mr. Banks also said that the first two bodies of the unfortunate victims were brought into Vipond's boatshed by the motor launch from H.M.A.S. Protector.

The four men were also brought ashore safely, but Mr. Penton, who hired the boat, was so overcome that he could not give any coherent account of what had happened.

The accident occurred between 6 and 7 o'clock in the evening, and, as it soon grew very dark, the searchlights of H.M.A.S. Protector was played on to the scene, and proved a very useful aid to the searchers. The Protector's launch was thus enabled to pick up the boat and tow it alongside.

In conclusion, Mr. Banks said the water at the spot where, he understood, the boat upset was quite shallow, and he could not realise how the unfortunate women were drowned there.

UNLUCKY HOLIDAYS.

It is interesting to note that for the past 12 months Sydney's public holidays have been particularly unfortunate. On New Year's Day there were the drowning fatalities in George's River; on Anniversary Day there was the shark fatality in the Lane Cove River; on King's Birthday were the fatal Haymarket riot and a large city fire; on Eight-hour Day 12 months ago was the harbour collision, resulting in the sinking of the Union Company's steamer Taviuni.

MISHAPS TO SAILING BOATS.

MANLY STEAMER TO THE RESCUE.

POLICE LAUNCH BUSY.

A fairly stiff breeze prevailed on the harbour yesterday afternoon, and, as it was of a somewhat variable nature, several sailing boat crews found themselves in difficulties.

Captain J. Hart, of the Manly ferry steamer Bellubera, while off Chowder Bay on his way from Manly to Circular Quay at about 3.15 p.m., noticed a sailing boat capsize off Bradley's Head. He ordered a boat to be lowered, and on proceeding to the spot it was found that the capsized boat was the Amy. There were eight people in the water, and six of these were picked up by the Bellubera's boat, taken on board the steamer, and brought on to Sydney.

The remaining two were picked up by a small oil launch, which also took the capsized Amy to Rushcutter Bay.

Another mishap occurred off Dawes Point, when the 18ft sailing boat Airlie, which was competing in the Balmain Regatta, capsized. The crew were picked up by the police launch Argus, and, together with the capsized boat, were taken to Dawes Point.

A third accident happened off Bradley's Head. In this case the 10-footer Ensign was in trouble. She was found floating bottom upwards by the police launch, and was towed to the wharf at Bradley's Head. There was no one in the vicinity of the capsized Ensign when the police arrived, but it was afterwards learned that all of the members of the crew had previously got safely ashore.

VICTORIAN BUDGET.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The State Budget speech for 1912-13, which is expected to contain several interesting announcements of Ministerial policy, will be delivered in the Legislative Assembly tomorrow by the Premier.

LABOUR'S AIM.

UNIVERSAL GOVERNMENT.

SPEECH BY MR. HOLMAN.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.)

COBAR, Monday.

The Attorney-General (Mr. W. A. Holman) was present at the Eight-Hours celebrations at Cobar to-day.

In the course of an address Mr. Holman said that the gaining of the eight-hours principle by the miners was practically the first important step towards that general success of organised labour that they were celebrating that day in the presence of Labour Governments in the Federal and States' Parliaments. They had begun at one end of the scale by aiming at the simple boon of the limitation of the hours of labour, and they had gone from one goal to another, till to-day labour had aimed at what many would regard as the ambitious project of controlling the entire government of the country in which it found itself. (Applause.) The movement was worldwide. Even in conservative England, and in still more conservative America, countries which had hitherto lagged behind in the general development of labour ideals, the workers were at length alert, and beginning to pass over from the mere trades union ideal, and were insisting on some share in the control of the government of their country.

While this idea was world-wide they might claim in Australia that it had more nearly reached its goal than in any other country in the civilised world. There was no country but Australia where they had a Government admittedly and avowedly Labour in its sentiments. (Applause.) Here they had the Commonwealth Labour Government, and the Parliaments in the greatest State, N.S.W., in the largest state geographically, Western Australia, and in the State of South Australia controlled by Labour Governments. Although it was too early yet to say that Labour principles were in any permanent way inculcated or established, it was not too early to say, "We shall not be defeated." They would have vicissitudes and periods during which they would have to keep a stiff upper lip and steel their hearts against setbacks, but no one who had seen the advance that had been made could doubt that Australia was destined to be governed by the workers, and the workers would govern it wisely and well, and in the interests of the community as a whole. (Applause.)

That was the goal to which Australia was going, and it was only possible, by the steady loyalty and organisation of the workers, which commenced and gained its first great victory in the eight-hour principle, which they were celebrating. Let them celebrate it in a spirit of hopeful looking forward, and as a foretaste of hundreds of other victories they were to celebrate in the near future. While they rejoiced over what Labour had done, let them determine that in the future the organised workers of Australia should do a great deal more. (Cheers.)

THE LABOUR DISPLAY.

"BEST ON RECORD."

THE PREMIER'S APPRECIATION.

The Premier, Mr. M'Gowen, stated last night that this year's Labour demonstration was without doubt the best on record in Australia. He had, he said, with one exception, when away in the country, seen every Eight-Hour Demonstration in Sydney since 1874, and he never remembered one that could equal yesterday's for the degree of perfection attained in every respect. Not only was it a glorious day, but there was perfect management, as well as splendid order in the streets. The general good order was equal, he said, to that of the King's Coronation; while in some parts of the city the density of the crowd was equal also to that of London, inasmuch as the packing could hardly have been closer. The display of banners, the number of societies (77), and the aggregate of processionists, were far and away ahead of anything of the kind in his long experience. The promoters were therefore deserving of the highest commendation. The same also applied to the unionists who showed their undoubted strength by walking in such large numbers.

Mr. M'Gowen was for three years chairman of the Eight-Hour Committee—from 1888 to 1891. In the latter year he was first elected to Parliament. He has also attended officially Labour demonstrations in Victoria and Queensland. When therefore he gives Sydney the pride of position it is not without being fully qualified to give an impartial opinion.

RACING SENSATION.

ALLEGED MALPRACTICE.

INQUIRY BY STEWARDS.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

An inquiry was commenced to-day at the V.R.C. office by the stewards who acted at the Yarra Glen and Lilydale Hunt Club meeting at Moonee Valley on September 11 into the circumstances surrounding the running of the Steeplechase. The race was won by The Wave. There were five starters, and The Wave went out second favourite at 3 to 1. Some days after the meeting whispers of a serious nature were circulated, it being alleged that an attempt had been made to fix up the race so that The Wave could win, in order that certain people might land a good stake in bets. These rumours coming to the ears of the stipendiary stewards, they set to work with a view of ascertaining if there were any grounds for them.

A sensational development took place to-day. All the parties connected with the race were requested to be present, but when the inquiry opened A. Seastream, rider of Archway, was an absentee. During the course of the investigation the stewards were informed by a friend of Seastream's that the jockey was at the detective office, and a serious charge against him had been threatened. E. J. Wright, the V.R.C. detective, at once proceeded to the detective office in order to get bail for Seastream if it was found that he was being detained. There Wright was informed by the authorities that though certain allegations had been made against Seastream, the person who had made them (he is prominently connected with the case) had not signed any charge.

Seastream was thereupon allowed to leave with Wright, and proceeded to the V.R.C. office, where he made a statement before the stewards holding the inquiry. This was to the effect that he had been approached before the race in question and offered a certain sum to prevent Archway from winning, and that he informed the owner of Archway of the circumstance before the race.

Other witnesses gave important evidence as to the inducement said to have been held out, and the inquiry was adjourned till Thursday.

When seen to-night regarding the matter Detective Ashton said:—"I was walking down Elizabeth-street when a bookmaker named O'Neill called me into his office and said that he wanted to give a jockey named Seastream in charge for alleged blackmail. O'Neill was telling me of Seastream's demands, and he was just about to explain the details when there was a knock at the door and Seastream entered. I said, 'What is all the trouble?' and Seastream replied, 'I've been pooled.' He made a further statement, and not being sure of my grounds I decided to take Seastream to Sub-inspector Gleeson at the detective office. O'Neill accompanied us, and when the matter was explained to Mr. Gleeson he advised that there could be no charge preferred against the jockey, as no felony had been committed. In the meantime O'Neill had left, and a few minutes later Detective Wright arrived. He was informed that Seastream had not been arrested. The jockey was not detained at the detective office any longer than was absolutely necessary.

WAS IT A TIGER?

STRANGE ANIMAL SEEN.

GOULBURN, Monday.

A party of young men and women at Mummell yesterday saw a strange animal coming along the road. When it saw them it leaped a fence, landing amongst some sheep, which scattered. Its appearance also seemed to excite the bush birds. The animal cleared a couple more fences, and made off towards Crookwell. The party are of the opinion that it was a tiger. A couple of weeks ago a strange animal was seen near Taralga.

It may be remembered that some years ago Canon M'Donnel, while in the Marulan district, saw the tracks of a tiger.

RACE ACCIDENTS.

A HORSE KILLED.

SEVERAL RIDERS INJURED.

The sport at Randwick yesterday was marred by several accidents, resulting in minor injuries to the rider of a jumper and the death of the horse, while another animal was badly hurt.

As the field for the Metropolitan neared the nine furlongs post Hartfell fell, and Irish Figure came down over him, while Simla and Ocean Blue toppled over the prostrate horses. J. Pike, who had the mount on Hartfell, was considerably knocked about, and received several cuts on the face and head, but fortunately the wounds are not of a dangerous character, and after receiving surgical treatment in the casualty-room he was able to go home. P. J. Foley, F. Ferrell, and K. Bracken, who had the mounts on Ocean Blue, Simla, and Irish Figure respectively, were little the worse for the accident. Hartfell came down heavily, and his trainer says that the Epsom winner will not be fit to race again for some days. Jacamar had a very narrow escape when Hartfell came to grief.

The Queensland colt Simla was badly injured in the loins, and was removed from the track in the horse ambulance, but Irish Figure and Ocean Blue escaped injury.

The stewards instituted an inquiry into the cause of the mishap, but adjourned it until Pike would be able to give evidence.

The First Steeplechase also provided a chapter of accidents. The field was one short of a dozen, and only five of them finished the course. The first to come down was Nimrod, who broke one of his legs, and was subsequently destroyed, while his rider, J. Trenowith, had one of his wrists badly sprained. Master Gambol turned his head at the same obstacle, and Fitz was the next to strike trouble, but neither rider (G. Phillips) nor horse was much the worse for the fall.

The fence near Kensington in the last round brought down Kairoma, Tadpole, and Revised, and W. Hall, who had the mount on the last named, had one of his wrists broken, but the horses escaped serious injury.

SHOOTING CASE.

A PECULIAR AFFAIR.

MAN COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

WEST MAITLAND, Monday.

The recent shooting case at Lorn, when a schoolboy named Meredith McMinn was wounded in the leg with a revolver shot, was heard at the police court to-day. Robert Edward Hipwell, a young man, was charged with having on September 24 maliciously wounded the boy.

The police evidence showed that when accused was arrested he admitted having been at Lorn in company with a young woman, and that he fired the revolver, as he thought, over the heads of the boys, to frighten them, because they were passing remarks. The revolver was of poor type, and according to Sergeant Murray its carrying power was twenty yards at the most. Meredith St. Clair McMinn and two other boys stated that one of their companions sang out, "What's the matter with father," while the same tune was whistled. Accused said something, and then a shot was heard, the bullet passing through the knickers of a boy named Mosman, and through the calf of McMinn's leg.

Accused was committed for trial at the Maitland Quarter Sessions.

GONE TO THE WILDS.

RECALCITRANT CADET.

TAKING TRAVEL PICTURES.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

In the Northcote Court to-day Lieut. Fargher, area officer, proceeded against Clive Irwin David Birtles, for failing to attend for medical examination. Lieut. Fargher stated that the case had been adjourned previously to give defendant a chance of attending for examination, but he had failed to keep two appointments made for him, and his father had written to say he had gone with his brother, Francis Birtles, on a picture-taking tour through Northern Australia. He had ignored the order of the Court. It was a pure case of contempt.

Dr. Cole, P.M.: What do you ask us to do?

Lieut. Fargher: We ask for an order for his arrest as soon as he comes back into civilisation.

Dr. Cole doubted if they had any power to do that. He said that the minimum fine was £5, but what was the use of imposing a fine in the face of the instruction that fines were not to be enforced.

After further argument a fine of £5 was imposed, in default distress.

NAVAL POLICY.

CONFLICTING VIEWS.

NEW ZEALAND PRESS OPINION.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Monday.

Discussing editorially Sir Joseph Ward's speech in Parliament on the subject of naval defence, and Senator Pearce's remarks thereon, the Wellington "Post" says: "In one respect the Commonwealth Minister is better qualified for the task than any of our own Ministers would be. He has had inside information regarding the defence conference of 1909, which no New Zealander except Sir Joseph Ward himself possesses, and is also au fait with the development of ideas both of Australia and the Admiralty concerning a local navy. Senator Pearce points out that at the conference Sir Joseph Ward admitted the idea of a Pacific fleet to which New Zealand should contribute in kind, and was prepared to see New Zealand take the control of portion of the China unit out of the hands of the Admiralty. Yet the ex-Premier now talks as though the policy of local responsibility conflicted with the scheme of a united navy, and would substitute a number of sectional tinpot navies. Senator Pearce indicates the inconsistency between Sir Joseph Ward's proposals of three years ago and his comments to-day, and claims that the policy which Australia has supported without wavering does not hamper the Admiralty, and leaves us free to develop the naval spirit of the Commonwealth.

"Subject to the condition that a New Zealand or Australasian squadron must remain an integral part of the Imperial navy, we see nothing but good in the policy of close co-operation with Australia along the lines she has already laid down, nor can we see any more sense in disparaging the strength of the naval force that Australia or New Zealand could provide individually, than there would be in taking the units of the combined Pacific fleet under the old conditions, and pointing out the insufficiency of each for the work of the whole."

THE GAS CRISIS.

A DEPUTATION ARRANGED.

The Premier (Mr. M'Gowen) stated last night that he was not prepared to make any general statement in regard to the threatened gas crisis until he could ascertain thoroughly the position taken up by the employees. He did not really know what portion of the bill now before the Legislature was objected to. This, however, would be all cleared up by the deputation which, he said, he would be glad to receive in due course.

FIRE ON A STEAMER.

BURNING ORE.

BRISBANE, Monday.

While on a voyage from Newcastle to Brisbane a fire was discovered in No. 5 lower hold of the Norddeutscher Lloyd's steamer Griefswald. The hold contained ore, and when the hatches were removed it was seen that the ore was on fire. The sulphurous fumes were so strong that it was impossible for the seamen to go down the hold. As there was no other cargo in the hold, however, there was no immediate risk. On Friday morning the hose was played on the ore, and on arrival at Brisbane it was found that the ore was still burning. Orders were given that the ore should be discharged, and be analysed and reconditioned before being shipped in any other steamer. This was done, and no damage to the ship is apparent up to the present.

TO AVERT A STRIKE.

COMPULSORY CONFERENCE.

MR. BEEBY TESTS HIS ACT.

A compulsory open conference has been summoned for to-day respecting the dismissal of James Russell, secretary of the Mount Kembla Miners' Lodge. In summoning this conference Mr. Beeby is testing his Arbitration Act. Mr. Wade's Act had no such provision.

This is a trouble which threatened to be serious, and Mr. Beeby hopes to nip it in the bud. As a fact, the men were talking of strike, in which the whole of the southern collieries were threatened. The issue is one of principle, as in previous upheavals. Much now depends upon the result of the open conference, which will be held in the Industrial Commissioner's office.

"The matter was reported to the Industrial Commissioner," said Mr. Beeby, last night, "and the compulsory conference has been summoned under the special provision which I had inserted in the Act. The parties will be called upon to state their cases, and will be given the opportunity of calling evidence. It is the first time the section under which a compulsory open conference can be held has been put into effect."

TELEPHONE TROUBLE.

THE GIRLS WIN.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL'S STATEMENT.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Fisher, made good the promise which the Postmaster-General gave to the Exchange girls, and paid a visit yesterday afternoon to the Telephone Department of the Sydney General Post Office. He was accompanied by Mr. Frazer, and was shown round by Mr. Blackstone (manager) and Mr. Monaghan (assistant manager). Miss Clinton, the secretary of the Women Telephonists' Association, again pointed out where the work was most arduous, and where more simple methods might be introduced. Mr. Frazer, who saw the pressure of work of Epsom morning (Saturday), was able to explain to Mr. Fisher how Sydney's work differed as compared with the work of the Exchanges in other Commonwealth centres.

In a statement to the press last night, the Postmaster-General said he had made certain observations during the time he had been in Sydney, and had become acquainted with the difficulties in regard to the "central" and "city" exchanges. "Personally," said he, "I am satisfied that the conditions existing between 'city' and 'central' are such as to impose abnormal conditions upon the girls employed. I intend to revert to the conditions that previously existed, but the girls have to understand that so soon as we get the complete establishment of the common battery in Sydney the abnormal conditions will have been removed, and they will be called upon to accept the conditions common to all the States. At the first of the month we gave to certain of the girls the leave due in consequence of the alterations of conditions. It may be inconvenient for the department at this busy time to have matters adjusted now, but consideration will be given to the matter, and the girls will be given time off in lieu of that which they have worked in excess of the conditions previously existing."

THE NEAR EAST.

RAID BY CHINESE PIRATES.

THE WENCHOW TYPHOON.

PORT DARWIN, Monday.

The Taiyuan brings Hongkong exchanges to September 20.

A Hongkong paper comments on the serious increase of burglaries, and deprecates the small penalties inflicted in cases of conviction. It urges the necessity for largely increasing the police force.

Details of the recent piratical attack on Dumbbell Island, situated only 22 miles from Hongkong, show that about 50 pirates took part. Many European and wealthy Chinese reside there, but were not meddled with. The pirates shot three Indian policemen dead, and thereafter seized and looted the police station of its arms, ammunition, and a considerable quantity of coin. The only means of communication with Hongkong is by launch, and the pirates disabled the only launch to prevent an alarm being given. Then they stayed on the island some hours, looting several business premises, and eventually departed in boats in the direction of Macao with a considerable quantity of booty.

Particulars are published of a terrible typhoon in Upper Wenchow, North China, on August 26, giving rise to unprecedented floods. The city of Chuchow was utterly destroyed and swept out to sea, the death roll being estimated at 30,000. The wreckage of the town was swept down to Taichoufu, an island port due east to the mouth of the Wenchow River, where the beach was heaped with every conceivable kind of wreckage, and gave rise to the wildest speculations respecting the nature of the disaster.

CHINESE GAMBLERS.

RAID IN THE HAYMARKET.

TWENTY-THREE ARRESTS.

At about 10 p.m. on Saturday night Sub-inspector Kelly and Senior-sergeant O'Day, in charge of four constables from the Regent-street police station, raided Chinese premises in Blackburn-street, off Elizabeth-street, Haymarket. Their efforts resulted in the arrest of twenty-three Chinese.

Stealthily the police officers approached the premises, and without any ceremony broke in the front doors. There was no back exit, so the inmates were caught in a trap.

A scene of confusion met the police. They rushed the fan-tan table, but the money on it only amounted to about ten shillings. In a waste-paper basket, however, an officer found £6.

The Celestials stood around, crestfallen, and silently awaited developments. The police barracks were communicated with, and a reinforcement of constables soon arrived to assist in the arrest.

At the station the 23 Chinese were charged with being found in a common gaming-house without lawful excuse, and one of them was further charged with assisting in the office of doorkeeper. They will be brought before the Court this morning.

OBSTRUCTING A FUNERAL.

WAGGON DRIVER FINED.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Charles William Alexander was proceeded against at the Northcote Court to-day on a charge of having wilfully obstructed the roadway. Henry Bussell, an undertaker, said that on September 17 he was taking a funeral to the cemetery. At the intersection of St. George's-road and Clarke-street a two-horse lorry blocked the roadway. He asked the driver to move round, but the latter said, "I'm not going to move." Witness said, "It's a funeral," and he replied, "It's the last ride; it does not matter where they go." Alexander refused to move, and then became very insolent. Finally the funeral had to go round on the wrong side of the road.

Constable Power said that when he approached defendant he galloped away. Witness pursued him on a bicycle, and caught him after riding a mile. Defendant was fined 40s, with 23s costs.

CONSTABLE IN CUSTODY.

CHARGED WITH PERJURY.

ADELAIDE, Monday.

The suspended constable, Leslie Hercules Asker, appeared at the Adelaide Police Court to-day to answer a charge of perjury, arising out of alleged attempted burglary at the warehouse of Bickford and Sons, Adelaide, on June 2. The Crown obtained an adjournment until Monday, and opposed the granting of bail, on account of Asker having gone out to Hergott Springs after the summons against him had been issued. His father was present to assist him with bail, but the magistrates refused to grant it, and Asker was taken away in custody.

MOTOR CAR BURNED.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The members of the railways standing committee, who have been touring by motor car along the proposed route of the Upper Murray railway, arrived at Tallangatta to-day by coach. The car, which was owned and driven by Mr. H. Bartlett, of Wodonga, was destroyed by fire. After the petrol tank had been filled it was inspected with a naked light. The vapour ignited instantly, and the car became a mass of flames. It was valued at £375.

THE DEPARTURE.

LORD DENMAN LEAVES SYDNEY.

LOYAL DEMONSTRATION.

A TRIUMPHANT PROCESSION.

Lord and Lady Denman left Sydney last night. They had a unique farewell. Never has Sydney seen anything like it.

The citizens had in the past said farewell to many Governors, and to several Governors-General. But in the past King's representatives had left us in the ordinary course of events, having fulfilled the work they came to do. Here was a case of the eviction of the King's representative by the Government of the State. And realising the situation the thousands of citizens who thronged the railway station, where the Governor-General and Lady Denman caught the Melbourne express, did everything in their power to let their Excellencies see that their sympathy was with them.

By the time the vice-regal party was due to arrive the open space in front of the archway leading to the station was thronged, several thousand people lining the drive and crowding round the entrance. But it was a particularly orderly crowd, and the posse of police under Inspector Goulder had no difficulty in keeping them within the prescribed limits. Yet there was no mistaking the temper of the crowd.

One little incident showed exactly how the crowd felt. While the Lord Mayor was delivering the farewell address to his Excellency a harsh voice from somewhere in the crowd yelled, "What about the democracy?" But it was one individual siding with the Government, surrounded by thousands of loyalists. Instantly there were cries of "Shut up" and "Clear out," and the Lord Mayor turned angrily on the interjector and exclaimed, "You're a cipher."

The Governor-General was escorted by the citizens from Government House to the station. There was a little crowd waiting in the semi-darkness of Macquarie-street some time before the party started off. Momentarily the numbers swelled, till fully 200 people were standing in a semi-circle about the gates of Federal Government House.

Up at the main entrance to Government House a little line of mounted men was ranged in the shadows of the trees. Then the bodyguard sprang to attention, falling into their appointed places as the carriage swept down the drive. His Excellency sat side by side with Lady Denman; on the opposite seat were the two A's.D.C., Sir Walter Barttelot and Captain Nutting, who were to remain in Sydney for the night. Mr. Vernon, Major Quilter, and Captain Burnham were to accompany their Excellencies on the train.

As the cortege of Lancers and Mounted Police surrounding the vice-regal carriage passed through the gates into Macquarie-street, a storm of cheering rose from the waiting crowd, and a thin spray of white handkerchiefs flickered in the dim light. From every balcony and window loyalists waved and cheered as the carriage passed, and the ovation was taken up enthusiastically all along Macquarie-street. People along the pavements stopped and cheered. Motors and cabs fell in behind the backs of the escort, till a regular procession was formed.

Passing rapidly down the little St. James'-road, the procession entered Market-street from Elizabeth-street, to receive a further reception from the crowds swinging slowly along the footways. In Pitt-street the enthusiasm was still marked, despite the fact that the night was not an opportune one for a demonstration. The fact became more obvious as the cortege approached the southern end of the city. Here the street seemed comparatively deserted, and the significance of the procession scarcely appeared to be realised by the few people who were passed. It was not till the carriage reached the incline to the station itself that the atmosphere of the initial stages of the journey was again felt. As the procession stopped at the asphalt platform outside the station the Governor-General stepped out to face a seething crowd of loyal and enthusiastic citizens.

AT THE STATION.

A REMARKABLE DEMONSTRATION.

As the lancer escort trotted up the crowd parted, and cheers rang out spontaneously. The band played the National Anthem, and Lord and Lady Denman must have known from the very demeanour of the crowd that Sydney was sincerely sorry to lose them. Their Excellencies were received by the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress, on behalf of the citizens, and by Sir William M'Millan (chairman) and Mr. Arthur Macarthur (hon. secretary) on behalf of the citizens' committee. When the cheers had subsided the Lord Mayor delivered a farewell address on behalf of the citizens.

THE CITIZENS' ADDRESS.

The address presented to his Excellency was in the following terms:—

To his Excellency the Right Hon. Thomas Baron Denman, P.C., G.C.M.G., K.C.V.O., Governor-General and Commander-in-Chief of the Commonwealth of Australia.

May it please your Excellency:

On behalf of the citizens of New South Wales I desire to express to you our profound regret and indignation at the series of events which have culminated in your departure from this State without any definite assurance of your return during the remaining period of your residence in Australia. We desire to inform you that the wholly unnecessary and indefensible action of the Government in depriving you of your home in New South Wales is condemned by an overwhelming majority of our citizens, whose loyalty to the Crown, which you and her Excellency so worthily represent, has never been hitherto challenged during the whole period of our Australian history.

We cannot help feeling that this wresting from its original purpose of the old historic house, erected as an emblem of British power, and as a tangible guarantee of the protection by the Empire of this, its remotest possession, may in all parts of the world where the flag flies be construed as a wanton act of disloyalty, as well as a personal insult to the highest representative of the King in Australia.

We can assure your Excellency that, notwithstanding these untoward appearances, we have had emphatic evidence, through public meetings attended by thousands of our citizens, by extensively-signed petitions, and by innumerable letters of indignant protest, that if it were possible to obtain the opinion of the whole community by referendum, the result would furnish overwhelming proof of our loyal devotion as a people to the Crown and the Constitution, as well as of the deepest sympathy for your Excellencies in this unparalleled outrage on national hospitality.

In bidding you what we still believe is only a temporary good-bye, we can assure you that the agitation begun some time ago to induce the Government to reverse their decision will not cease until you receive an authoritative message that the people of New South Wales have demanded, in a voice that must be obeyed, the reopening of the old historic residence for the reception of your Excellencies.

You can rest assured that at all times you will receive from this community a hearty welcome, and that your person and your office will meet with the respect and enthusiasm to which both are entitled in a country whose loyalty not only springs from a sense of material advantages, but, being the most British of all the oversea parts of the Empire, is founded on a patriotic devotion to the motherland, whose blood and tradition we inherit, and to which we owe eternal gratitude for the sheltering protection which safeguarded us in early years, when Government House was built, and which now endows us with the high privilege of belonging to the greatest Empire the world has ever known.

Signed on behalf of the citizens,
G. T. CLARKE,
Lord Mayor of Sydney.

The reading of the address was punctuated by cheers, and loud and continued cheering followed its conclusion.

LORD DENMAN'S REPLY.

His Excellency, in reply, said:—

"My Lord Mayor, Ladies and Gentlemen,—I am indeed grateful to you and to so many others of our friends for coming here this evening to bid farewell to Lady Denman and myself, and I can assure you we are both much touched by this expression of goodwill on the part of the people of Sydney to us. I need hardly say that I sincerely regret my departure from Sydney, and the events which have led up to it, but I am sure that you will not expect me on the present occasion to enter upon any controversial aspect of this question. I should like to take this opportunity of stating that my personal relations with the Premier, Mr. M'Gowen, have always been of the friendliest description, and will, I hope, always remain so. (Applause.)

"I desire to say one word of a personal kind from my point of view as to the history of this matter. Last year, shortly before I left England, and several months after I received the appointment of Governor-General of Australia—an appointment which I accepted on the clear understanding that I should have a residence in Sydney—(cheers)—I learnt from the London 'Times' that the Government of the State had given notice of their intention to resume possession of Sydney Government House. I was advised by high authorities in England, and by my Ministers in Melbourne, to come here and endeavour to arrive at an amicable settlement of the matter. I have tried to do so. (Applause.) I suggested that the greater portion of the grounds of Government House should be handed over for public use. I am one of those who always agreed with the people who held the view that too much ground should not be reserved in the heart of the city for the residence of any individual. (Hear, hear.) But such efforts as I have made have been made in vain.

"The regret which I naturally feel on account of my failure to arrive at an understanding with the authorities in this matter is much softened by the marks of kindliness and goodwill shown by so many people in Sydney to Lady Denman and myself. (Applause.) There is none that I will value more than the presence of so many citizens here to bid farewell to us to-night. (Applause.)

"I have only this to add: I am sure that the King, whom I serve, and whose chief representative in Australia I have the honour to be—and always remember he is your King as much as my King—(loud cheers)—will be glad to learn that I have not been permitted to depart from your city without an expression of goodwill from you, my Lord Mayor, and from so many citizens of Sydney. (Applause.) Once more I thank you all. I wish you all good-bye and good luck."

PRESENTATION TO LADY DENMAN.

His Excellency's address was followed by loud cheers, and the Professional Musicians' Band struck up "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Lady Denman was presented with a beautiful bunch of wild flowers by the Lady Mayoress, on behalf of the citizens' committee, and with several other bouquets from ladies who attended at the leave-taking.

Amongst those present at the station to see their Excellencies off were very many representative citizens. The members of the State Ministry were conspicuously absent. But in the crowd on the station, in addition to the Lord Mayor (Alderman G. T. Clarke) and the Lady Mayoress (Miss Clarke), were the leader of the State Opposition (Mr. C. G. Wade), Sir William M'Millan (chairman of the Citizens' Committee), the State Commandant (Colonel Wallack), Lieutenant-colonel Kyngdon, Lieutenant-colonel Luscombe, Colonel Rupert Carington, Colonel Burns, Colonel Kenneth Mackay, Colonel Roberts, Colonel Vernon, Major Darvall, Captain Geo. Smith, Major White, Sir Albert Gould, Mr. Arthur Macarthur, Mr. T. Johnson (Chief Commissioner for Railways), Professor Anderson Stuart, Sir James Graham, Mr. David Storey, Mr. J. Russell French, Mr. A. W. Meeks, Dr. Crago, Mr. Wood, M.L.A., Mr. J. A. Hogue, Mr. Earp, M.L.C., Mr. H. E. Kater, M.L.C., Mr. F. W. Walker, Mr. C. T. Burfitt, Mr. J. G. Farleigh, M.L.C., Mr. M. Severn, Mr. W. Cope, Rev. C. Sackville West, Mr. W. P. Dunlop, Mr. Churchill Tucker, Mr. Piercy Ethell, Mr. T. Watson, Mr. T. Henley M.L.A., Mr. F. G. Sargood, M.L.A., J. J. Rouse, and many others. Captain Dumaresq and Captain de Moleyns attended on behalf of the State Governor, Lord Chelmsford.

A HIGHLAND GREETING.

As their Excellencies moved towards the platform, followed by the cheers of the multitude, the Highland Society's pipe band struck up Macgregor's March, and selections from Lochiel's March, Lord Lovett, Colonel Stewart's Reel. The pipers were under the command of Drum-major Bellson and Pipe-major Mackay. Lord Denman personally thanked the six-foot-four drum-major for the presence and music of the pipers.

The vice-regal carriage, which was beautifully decorated with waratahs and peach blossoms by the citizens' committee, was then besieged by a loyal crowd of citizens bidding a last farewell to the Governor-General and his lady. On the platform of the next carriage were the Prime Minister, Mr. Fisher, and the Minister for Home Affairs, Mr. King O'Malley, but they were quite ignored. Mr. Joseph Cook, rushing up, failed to fight his way through the seething crowd, and emerged on the platform just in time to miss the train.

"HE'S A SPORT."

A few minutes before the train moved off Lord Denman heard that about a thousand people were waiting at the end of the platform, apart from the thousands who had assembled in front of the railway station. Immediately his Excellency ran down the platform with Lady Denman, and thanked the people for coming to see him off. "It is very kind of you to come and see us off," he said, "and I am touched by your kindness. I am not leaving Sydney of my own accord. I only wish it were possible to stay here longer. I thank you all."

Quite appreciating the action of the Governor-General, the crowd sent forth a farewell cheer. One of the porters of the station voiced the thought of the crowd when he exclaimed, "Well, he's a sport."

Meanwhile, Lord and Lady Denman personally shook hands with all their friends who had come to the station to see them off. All the vociferous greetings died away. The parting was felt by all. All the members of the citizens' committee iterated and reiterated their intention to leave no stone unturned until the disgrace to the State had been wiped out, and the King's representative once more installed in Sydney's historic Government House. It was to be au revoir, and not good-bye.

Just as the train moved out the crowd sang "Auld Lang Syne" and "God Save the King," and the last thing Lord and Lady Denman heard was the three loyal cheers of the crowd on the station.

SPONTANEOUS SEND-OFF.

STATEMENT BY SIR WM. M'MILLAN.

"It was indeed a magnificent send-off," remarked Sir William M'Millan after the train had steamed out.

"There were extraordinary manifestations of enthusiasm—quite an answer to the Government's abominable action of eviction. I feel ... of this, that the feeling displayed towards Lord Denman was more than representative of the enormous crowd which attended. It typified the opinions of the vast majority of the people of New South Wales. Such a spontaneity as was demonstrated was what the citizens' committee were anxious to secure. We wanted the people of Great Britain, and the people of the other States, to understand and fully realise that the vast majority of the citizens here were not in favour of the action of the Government, but were absolutely opposed to it. It has thus been shown to the Government that they do not represent the views of the people. It is an extraordinary situation. It shows the present system of caucus rule in its true light.

"Some time ago," urged Sir William, "Mr. Holman said, when the question of increases of Parliamentary salaries was referred to, that the Government had heard no murmur from the great body of the people. But after there were two great meetings held in the Town Hall, and various other manifestations of disapproval from the people as to the proposal to evict the Governor-General, Mr. Holman did not take the same stand as he did respecting the increase in salaries. If the Government did not get proof of public hostility in the one case they got it in the other. The Government, however, took absolutely no notice of the expressed wishes of the people, and carried out their determination to perpetrate one of the most disgraceful incidents in Australian history. They could not see ... there was wrapt up in the whole proceedings a national principle. It is an act that can only be described by the word tyranny, and it is recorded in the century which is supposed to be typical of freedom. The people ought to get from the incident an inkling of the danger of power in certain hands."

THE FIGHT TO GO ON.

THROUGHOUT THE STATE.

The hon. secretary to the citizens' committee, Mr. Arthur Macarthur, was also delighted at the character of the send-off. "I am sure," he said, "everybody will be pleased, for there was never any justification for such an action as this notorious eviction. The crowd who attended assembled at a most inconvenient time of the day, not to mention that it was the close of a public holiday, when thousands of people were hurrying home. I am quite sure that if the departure of his Excellency had been so timed that the public could have attended with the minimum of inconvenience there would have been one of the largest and most influential gatherings ever witnessed in Sydney.

"The committee were pleased that their efforts were successful. There were no hitches of any sort in the arrangements. We received the most courteous help from the railway authorities, to whom we are greatly indebted, and the organisation of the police, under Superintendent Goulder, was really splendid. Everybody seemed to do all that was possible to make the function pass off smoothly.

"Lord Denman was extremely grateful," [illegible] Mr. Macarthur. "Just before the train [illegible] he expressed himself in terms of the highest appreciation at the success of the arrangements, and offered his appreciation [illegible] to the public in what has been to him [illegible] ordeal."

Regarding the future intentions of the committee, Mr. Macarthur explained that there would be no [illegible] in the agitation. It would go on vigorously. Lord Denman, as he shook hands with Mr. Macarthur, said he hoped that something would be done to heal the breach, and that before long he would be back in Sydney again. The committee intend issuing circulars to all the Mayors in the State and the presidents of shire councils, asking them to call meetings in their respective districts. If they will communicate with the secretary, addressing the letter to the Sydney Town Hall, all information required will be sent. Should it be so desired, leading public men in Sydney will undertake to speak at those meetings, if word is sent to the committee that this assistance is required.

MOSS VALE DEMONSTRATION.

MOSS VALE, Monday Night.

A great crowd assembled on the platform to-night to meet the Governor-General and Lady Denman as they passed through Moss Vale on their way to Melbourne. The Mayor of Moss Vale (Alderman Leighton Jones), on behalf of the residents of the town and the Berrima district, addressed his Excellency, and expressed their loyalty to the King and to the Governor-General as his Majesty's representative in the Commonwealth. They felt they would be wanting in loyalty if they allowed the opportunity to pass without expressing their regret and their entire disapproval of the action of the State Government in depriving the King's representative of State Government House as his residence during his sojourn in N.S.W. They felt that such action on the part of the Government was entirely at variance with the wishes of the majority of the people of this State. They desired to enter their protest against such action. He hoped that some amicable settlement might yet be arrived at by which Sydney Government House might be retained for the Imperial Government, and that they would again see it occupied by Lord Denman during his term of office as Governor-General of Australia.

Lord Denman, in reply, expressed his pleasure at seeing such a large crowd to meet him at such a late hour. While he regretted leaving Government House, which had been the home of Governors of Australia for more than 70 years, he knew it was from no ill-feeling to himself, as the great demonstration in Sydney and the one here in Moss Vale amply proved. (Applause.)

Lady Denman was presented with a fine bouquet of flowers by Mrs. Fitz Hill, president of the Moss Vale branch of the Women's Liberal and Reform Association. The "National Anthem" was sung, and the crowd gave three cheers for the Governor-General and Lady Denman as the train steamed out.

JOINT COMMITTEE.

SHORTLAND COLLIERY AGREEMENT.

NEWCASTLE, Monday.

An agreement in respect to the Shortland colliery was completed at to-day's meeting of the joint conciliation committee. The principal features are that the yardage rate has been fixed at 3s, and that 5s is to be paid for opening out bords to the full width of eight yards. The management has undertaken to sharpen the miners' drills and tools when required, and payment is to be made for slabs at the rate existing at the New Lambton colliery. The miners are to receive 1s per man extra for working in wet places. The agreement also provides that in future the colliery will work in what is known as the front and back shift system. Front shifts are to start at 6.40 a.m., and leave off at 2.30 p.m., while back shifts will commence at 7.45 a.m., and knock off at 3.45 p.m.

The lifting of certain bottom coal at Bellbird colliery was also considered. As the joint committee could not arrive at an agreement as to whether the miners should take the coal up at pick rates, or the management should lift it with shift-men on a daily wage, the matter was referred to the chairman for a decision.

MUSKETRY EFFICIENCY.

RIFLE CLUBS' GOOD POSITION.

Independent altogether of the citizen forces, there are 50,341 riflemen in Australia, members of 1120 clubs, and 35,004 of them have proved themselves "efficient." These remarkable facts are shown by the latest official statement, which has been prepared by Major Boam, Director of Rifle Clubs and Associations. Victoria occupies the most favourable position with regard to numbers, possessing 17,261 members of 334 clubs. New South Wales following with 12,535 members of 280 clubs. Queensland and South Australia are the only States to show an increase in the membership rolls as compared with last year.

On the score of efficiency New South Wales riflemen stand well ahead, 85 per cent. having qualified as against 71 per cent. in Queensland, 64 per cent. in Victoria, 60 per cent. in South Australia, 59 per cent. in Tasmania, and 57 per cent. in Western Australia. In every instance except that of Tasmania a satisfactory improvement is shown. The average strength of the club in each State during the last financial year was as follows:—Queensland 45 members, New South Wales 44, Victoria 51, South Australia 43, Western Australia 33, Tasmania 36. The greatest number of riflemen on the rolls during any one year was 57,866, in the 1908-9 period, but that total was unduly expanded as a result of many non-shooting men retaining their places on the official lists for purely sentimental reasons. In the meantime the Defence Department has pursued a ruthless policy of striking all "dead-heads" from the rolls, and the present statistical statement indicates what may be considered as the true position with regard to practical riflemen who would be of any service in a national emergency.

EIGHT-HOUR DAY IN THE COUNTRY.

COBAR, Monday.

The local trades unions celebrated Eight-hour Day by a sports meeting at the show ground and a procession through the streets of the town. In the front row of the procession marched the Attorney-General (Mr. Holman), Mr. Spence, M.P., Mr. Fern, M.L.A., and Mr. S. Edmonds, president of the Eight-hour committee.

Mr. Holman, in opening the Show Ground proceedings, was received with loud applause.

Mr. Spence, M.P., said he had taken a hand in the movement which first secured for the miners of this State the eight-hour principle. Many changes had taken place since then. They could not now find an employer who denounced the eight-hour principle, because they had discovered that it had been a benefit rather than an injury to them, and they had begun to realise that it did not pay to have men overworked. The Labour movement to-day was the one movement which was gaining ground rapidly. They had in Australia advantages to enable them to get nearer the solution of these problems than in other countries, and with the advances they had made they were securing a better standard of living, more leisure, and more opportunity to live the life that man ought to have the chance to live in a great country like Australia. (Applause.)

Mr. Fern, M.L.A., complimented the various organisations which had taken part in the procession on the fine display they had made, the day's celebrations being a record in every respect.

Mr. Edmonds announced that the engine-drivers and firemen had won the first prize for the procession display, the Wrightville branch of the A.N.A. securing second prize.

COOTAMUNDRA, Monday.

Eight-hour Day was celebrated at Cootamundra in splendid weather. A procession was held, in which Friendly Societies took part. At the Show Ground a sports meeting was held.

LAURISTON, Monday.

Eight-hour Day here was not observed as a close holiday. The employees of the Camden Haven Harbour works invited the children and parents of Lauriston to a picnic. The sports programme included a water polo match.

THE WAIHI STRIKE.

The Waihi strike, which has been dragging along for some months, was not occasioned by any dissatisfaction on the part of the men with the conditions of labour, but by the action of the winding enginedrivers in deciding to break away from the Federation of Labour, and to form a separate union of their own. Mr. W. F. Grace, general manager of the Waihi Grand Junction mine, who is in Sydney, says that the general conditions of work and pay at Waihi are as good as any in the most favoured places in Australia. The average amount of pay for the whole of the men—surface and underground—worked out at 14s 3d per shift for a 44 hours' week. Some of the men were returning to work, but there would probably be a considerable shortage of labour for some time to come, as a great many of the men had left New Zealand and come over to Australia, where they would no doubt remain. He did not know where the labour they would require was coming from, but possibly an appeal would be made to the Government to give assisted passages to miners, as they did to farm labourers.

SOUTH GRAFTON MURDER.

THE CONDEMNED MAN.

GRAFTON, Monday.

The condemned man Louis Thompson, sentenced to death for the murder of Edward Hoet at South Grafton, has [illegible] despondent and now fully realises the seriousness of his position.

INDUSTRIAL LAWS.

TWO NEW BILLS.

QUEENSLAND AND SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

The material which Australasia is furnishing the rest of the world with in regard to the regulation of industries and the settlement of industrial disputes will be increased by two measures which have been before the Parliaments of South Australia and Queensland in recent weeks. The Queensland bill has the excellent title "The Industrial Peace Bill." South Australia follows this State in naming its measure "The Industrial Arbitration Bill." The former bill has passed the Legislative Assembly, and is now before the Upper House; the latter bill is in committee in the House of Assembly.

Neither State has hitherto had a system of compulsory arbitration. Wages boards have been in existence in South Australia since 1907, and in Queensland since 1908. Conciliation boards for the settlement of industrial disputes in South Australia were established as long ago as 1894, but the Conciliation Act of that year has been practically a dead letter.

FOLLOWING NEW SOUTH WALES.

Both measures follow the fundamental feature contained in the New South Wales Industrial Disputes Act of 1908, and continued in the Industrial Arbitration Act of the current year, in combining the system of wages boards with an Industrial Court, which has the dual function of hearing appeals from the boards and promoting the settlement of disputes. In both cases, however, there are new proposals which are not included in the New South Wales Act, and, indeed, are unique in industrial legislation in Australia and New Zealand.

PICKETING AND BOYCOTTING.

Thus the South Australian Bill deals with picketing and boycotting. It provides that

> Any person who (a) attends at or near any workshop, factory, place of business, or other place where an industrial dispute is taking place, or is threatened or impending, or has taken place, or at or near the residence or place of business of any person, and (b) induces or attempts to induce any other person to take part in such industrial dispute, or in a lock-out or strike, or to do or abstain from doing any act, matter, or thing whereby any party to such industrial dispute, or any other person, either directly or indirectly interested therein, or connected therewith, may or might be injured in his trade, business, or calling, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, or to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a term not exceeding three months.

Boycotting and black-listing are prohibited in the following terms:—

> While an industrial dispute or a lockout or strike is taking place, or is threatened or impending, or after it is concluded, any association, whether a party to such dispute, lockout, or strike, or not, or any officer or member thereof, which or who (a) induces or attempts to induce any person not to deal with, or not to employ, or not to work for, any other person who is or was a party to such industrial dispute or lockout or strike; or (b) directly or indirectly interferes with the free carrying on of the business, trade or calling of any person who is, or was, a party to such industrial dispute, or lockout, or strike, or any other person, either directly or indirectly, interested therein or connected therewith, shall be liable to a penalty in the case of an association not exceeding five hundred pounds, and of an individual not exceeding twenty pounds.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

The South Australian bill expressly excludes agriculture in its definition of "industry," and the Queensland bill excludes agricultural pursuits from the industries scheduled to the bill, with the exception of work in the sugar fields. The Queensland measure also excludes any industrial matter arising in connection with employment by or under the Crown in its definition of "industrial dispute," thus differing from the law in New South Wales and the Commonwealth in this respect. Both bills provide for an appeal from the boards to the Industrial Court, for the convening of compulsory conferences, subject to penalty, and for the registration of industrial agreements as in this State. The South Australian bill provides for the appointment of assessors to assist the Judge in finally adjudicating upon an industrial dispute. Neither bill contains provisions for the appointment of a Special Commissioner and conciliation committees, as in the New South Wales Act of 1912. The penalty for breach of an award in the Queensland bill is not exceeding £500 for an association, £250 for an employer, and £10 for an employee. In the South Australian Bill the figures are £250, £100, and £10 respectively. Injunctions may be obtained with imprisonment to follow, as in this State. The Queensland Bill provides for penalties being a charge on wages, and in South Australia all wages over £2 in the case of a married man, widower, or widow with a child under 21, and over £1 in the case of any other person, are to be withheld till the penalties are paid. Both bills make provision for the making of a "common rule."

STRIKES AND LOCK-OUTS.

The South Australian Bill follows section 44 of the New South Wales Act in providing penalties in the case of any strike or lock-out, in each case they are not exceeding £500, or three months' imprisonment. The Queensland Bill adopts a new method. It follows one feature of the Canadian law, in providing that a strike or lock-out is unlawful in connection with public utilities until a compulsory conference has been called by the Judge, and proved abortive, and thereafter until 14 days notice in writing of the intention to lock-out or strike has been given to the Registrar, and a secret ballot (to be taken by the Registrar) has been taken amongst the employers or employees, and has resulted in favour of a strike or lock out. In the case of other industries, the compulsory conference need not be called, but the 14 days' notice and secret ballot are obligatory. Public utilities are defined as including gas, electricity, the supply of water for domestic purposes, and milk, flour, or bread for domestic consumption, the slaughter or supply of meat for domestic consumption, and the getting, sale, or delivery of coal or other fuel for any purpose. The penalties for breach of these provisions are £1000 in the case of an association, and £50 for a person. The South Australian Act includes a provision that an industrial dispute shall not be deemed to have ceased on the ground that, in consequence of such dispute, the relationship of employer and employee has ceased. This point has been raised both in the Federal Court and the Supreme Court in this State, and the provision removes all doubt on the matter.

If these bills pass into law, as seems certain, there will be three States in the Commonwealth with both wages boards and Arbitration Court; and Victoria have wages boards, but no Arbitration Court; and Western Australia an Arbitration Court, but no wages boards.

THE IRONWORKS.

LITHGOW, Monday.

Mr. C. H. Hoskins stated to-day that the 35-ton steel furnace had been successfully tapped three times up to this morning, and was running very nicely indeed. The firm was pushing on with the completion of the coke ovens. The brickwork was completed before the strike commenced, but the necessary machinery and gear had now to be installed. Attention would be given to emptying the coal shaft, but this would not take long. When the shaft was sunk the seam had been passed through altogether. Everything would be done to get the different departments into work without delay.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

LONDON, Oct. 7.

The Bishop of London, speaking in the Lyceum Theatre last night, protested against any amendments that would weaken the White Slave Traffic Bill. He said that 5000 girls were required annually for this traffic in a single great city. He declared that all the male procurers should be thoroughly whipped.

It now transpires that the New Zealand Shipping Company's dividend for the year amounted to 10s. The amount at credit in the profit and loss account was £111,839, and £21,555 was carried forward after £30,000 had been added to the reserve.

A barge sank off Foulness Island, 8½ miles north-east of Southend, and three of the crew climbed into the rigging, where they clung for 20 hours without food. They eventually attracted the attention of a passing vessel by soaking portions of their clothing in paraffine and burning them.

The "Morning Post" applauds the decision of the trustees of the Felton bequest in purchasing, for £1000, a bronze replica of J. Havard Thomas's "Thyrsis."

Cardinal Logue, at Maynooth College yesterday, consecrated the Right Rev. Dr. Daniel Mannix, president of the college, as Coadjutor Archbishop of Melbourne.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.

Herr Zeiss, the proprietor of the Schichau Shipbuilding Works, has endowed the workmen's benefit institution to the extent of £150,000.

MADRID, Oct. 6.

PARIS, Oct. 7.

The French Federation of Boxing has declined to enforce the New York Commission's suspension of "Billy" Papke, who is to box Georges Carpentier on the 23rd inst.

BOMBAY, Oct. 6.

The Salvation Army is raising £50,000 in order to establish an industrial institution and settlements for the reform of criminals. The sum of £16,000 has been collected.

MANUFACTURES WEEK.

PATRIOTIC DISPLAY.

To-day is the opening of Manufactures Week. Hundreds of the leading shops of Sydney will display in their windows only those goods which are manufactured in this country. It will be no use for people with unpatriotic preferences to expect to see wines from France or linens from Manchester. For one whole week no firm will show anything but Australian blankets, Australian clothes, Australian leather goods, hats, crockery, tinware, furniture, pictures, carvings, everything, in short, will have its origin solely in the Land of the Wattle. The sight of two new and shining tramcars anchored on the pavement in front of the Customs-house yesterday was the first sign of the times to attract the attention of the Sydney public. They were locally built, from the workshops of the Meadowbank Company, to the order of the State Government. For the State's devotion to the good cause there were not wanting other signs, for at the Central Railway Station a number of burly locomotives proclaimed the efficiency of the Eveleigh workshops, while a large case displaying products of the small arms factory at Lithgow was the centre of considerable interest at Challis House.

FEDERAL MINISTERS TO ATTEND DISPLAY.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The Minister for Defence (Senator Pearce) will leave Melbourne for Sydney to-night, to attend a luncheon in connection with the "made in Australia" display, organised by the Chamber of Manufactures and the trade societies in Sydney. The Federal Attorney-General (Mr. Hughes) may also attend the luncheon.

NAVAL BASES.

BUILDING THE DREDGES.

SYDNEY SECURES WORK.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

In preparation for the development of the new naval bases, the first of two dredges has been ordered by the Naval Department. Senator Pearce (Minister for Defence) made the announcement to-day that Messrs. Poole and Steele, of Sydney, had been the successful tenderers at £34,875. The dredge will be built in Sydney within a space of 16 months.

NEW ZEALAND.

GOVERNOR WARNS FARMERS.

WELLINGTON, Monday.

Speaking at New Plymouth the Governor (Lord Islington) warned the farmers to be prepared against a slump in prices in the home market, should it ever come to pass.

CIVIL AMBULANCE.

At a meeting of the committee of the Civil Ambulance, reports were submitted which showed that during the month of September 616 cases were attended, and 2582 miles travelled. The treasurer (Mr. F. A. Thorpe) reported having received a cheque for £232 10s 6d from the ball committee, and a vote of thanks was accorded the ladies who had worked so energetically in making the ball a success. Mrs. Macneill Simpson, Mrs. Anthony Hordern, Mrs. Rouse, and Miss Edith Richardson were elected life hon. members of the corps in recognition of their services; and Mr. C. A. Jaques, Mr. Hugh Macneil, and Mr. Lebbeus Hordern were also appointed life hon. members.

The treasurer also acknowledged the receipt of £220 from the Hospital Saturday Fund, and £300 from the executors of the late W. R. Hall's estate. Mrs. W. R. Hall, Mr. R. G. Casey, and Mr. Kelso King were appointed life hon. members of the corps.

EXCISE AND BOUNTY.

MACLEAY FARMERS OPPOSED.

MACKAY (Q.), Monday.

Nearly 800 farmers assembled in the Britannia Hall on Saturday to consider the matter of the abolition of the excise and bounty. Communications were read from 84 others, expressing themselves in favour of the abolition. A motion was passed urging abolition, and legislation on the part of the State Government to exclude aliens from the industry.

CANEFIELD FIRE.

SEVERAL FARMS BURNED.

MACKAY (Q.), Monday.

A disastrous cane fire is reported from Alligator Creek. Several farms adjoining one another have been burnt out.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR.

COMING WORLD'S CONVENTION.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

It was announced at the annual convention of the Victorian Christian Endeavour Union to-day that the world's convention of Christian Endeavourers would be held in Sydney in March, 1914, and at that function speakers from all parts of the world would deliver addresses.

COMMONWEALTH EISTEDDFOD.

The competitions now being held by the grand Commonwealth Eisteddfod were continued at the Y.M.C.A. Hall last night. The programme opened with an open piano duet (section 3) competition, two of the competitors to qualify for the final on October 11. Misses Ivy Randall and Beatrice Nichol, of Newtown, were elected as the first couple, with Misses Elma Hubbard and Gladys M. Lomas second. Misses Olive Clement (first), of Granville, and Miss Norah Frost (second), of Sydney, were elected to qualify for the final of the piano solo (under 18), section 16. The grand champion violin solo (open section 74) was won by Miss Helena Collier, of Fairfield, Miss Florence M'Kenzie acting as accompanist. The subject was the difficult Wieniawski's "Souvenir de Moscow." There was considerable enthusiasm after Miss Collier had been requested by the examiner to play the piece a second time without accompaniment. Other results were:—

Section 38. Action song and dance, under 14: First prize, Pearle Bridson, Balmain; second prize, Ruby Phillips, Summer Hill; third prize, Rosie Dunn, Burwood, hon. mention, Doris Williams, Rozelle.

Section 35. Sword dance, under 14: First prize, Amy Appleton, Balmain; second prize, Jean Keith, Sydney; third prize, Rosie Dunn, Burwood, hon. mention, Doris Williams, Rozelle.

AUTOMATIC TELEPHONES.

PROPOSED INSTALLATION.

ADOPTION IN NEW ZEALAND.

The adoption of automatic telephones in lieu of the unsatisfactory system now in operation in Sydney is under consideration by the Postmaster-General, and this evening the electrical engineer for New South Wales (Mr. Nelson) will leave for Melbourne to consult with the Commonwealth Electrical Engineer (Mr. Hesketh) as to the installation of the system here.

In view of these developments interest attaches to a report by the New Zealand Government's chief electrician (Mr. T. Buckley), who has just returned from a tour of investigation through America and Europe. On Mr. Buckley's representation it has been decided to instal the system in Auckland and Wellington. Leaving ample margin for future developments, the cost will be £40,000 for each place. The financial aspect of the automatic, as compared with the present system, will be an annual saving of £2000 on each installation, which allows for interest and all charges. In his report on the development of the telephone in the United States Mr. Buckley says:—"There are to-day more automatic telephones in use in two cities, Los Angeles and Chicago, than there are telephones operating in the whole of New Zealand. It is now conceded by almost all telephone engineers that automatic and semi-automatic apparatus can be obtained that will work exceedingly well, and that will perform satisfactorily, under the manipulative guidance of the subscriber or of the centrally-situated operator, the functions of effecting connections for telephonic intercommunication. The controversial question that invariably arises is, will it do so economically as compared with manual when questions of first cost of plant, maintenance of plant, depreciation, and the needs of mechanics to keep the apparatus in order are considered? In the matter of the full automatic system the question also arises, in countries where it has not been in operation, whether the public will take kindly to effecting their own connections by manipulating a dial. So far as the manipulation is concerned, in my opinion, based upon inquiry and upon what has been observed, that feature need not be looked upon as an objection at all. People in the States seem rather to like to work the dial. In Munich, on the first introduction of the automatic there, about two years ago, fully 60 per cent. of the people expressed dislike to the system. They soon became pleased with it, however, and now not 2 per cent. of them have any objection. There are about 5000 automatic subscribers in that city."

SUCCESS IN AMERICA.

A considerable amount of additional evidence is available to prove the claims of the automatic apparatus, which is in operation at Geelong, in Victoria, and seems to be giving great satisfaction. Mr. T. H. Nesbitt, town clerk of Sydney, who, in his wrath, has characterised the present system as the most brain-irritating and nerve-racking that could be devised, has reported to the City Council on the advantages of the automatic service. It seems that there are something like half a million automatic telephones in use at the present time in America. The chief points in favour of the system, he says, are a 50 per cent. saving in cost of operation, absolute secrecy of conversation, the entire elimination of the present well-known calling troubles, and a constant and reliable service.

With regard to the success of this modern invention, it is interesting to briefly refer to several large installations which have been in successful operation for a period of years. A perusal of the list shows that some of the most important are Los Angeles, with 40,000 instruments, connected and arranged to have an ultimate capacity of 65,000. Columbus, with a five years' experience of operation, has 20,000. Grand Rapids, with a seven years' experience, has 15,000. The City of Rio Janeiro recently placed an order for automatic equipments for use in that city. The Government of the province of Alberta, Canada, after a thorough investigation, adopted the automatic equipment, which is now installed in Calgary and Strathcona. The United States Government is now operating automatic telephones for its arsenals, armouries, and naval stations, because of the secrecy and promptness of communication. The British Post Office, after receiving the report of Major O'Meara, sent a committee of four expert engineers over to America to report specially on the question. To-day it is making a trial of the apparatus at Epsom, the General Post Office, and at Portsmouth, where it proposes installing 12,000 lines. The little city of Honolulu, after using a common battery board of latest design for three years, threw it out and installed the automatic equipment. Interviews with subscribers at such places as Grand Rapids, Dayton, Columbus, etc., where the automatic is working side by side with the manual, show that the people using them are about nine to one in favour of automatic telephones. Indeed, the future of telephony seems to be wrapped up in automatic gear, the position being really analogous in regard to the advantages to be gained in printing by the use of the linotype as compared with the older methods of using a large number of compositors and setting type by hand.

TELEPHONES FOR FARMERS.

Telephones for farmers in the backblocks are much desired. Mr. Buckley relates in his report what is being done in Ontario. He says:—"Five years ago there were less than 2000 telephones in farm-houses in Ontario, while to-day there are approximately 460 systems owned by companies, associations, partnerships, and individuals, operating nearly 50,000 telephones, and representing a capital investment of about £830,000. Ninety per cent. of these systems were organised by farmers, who on their own initiative have established the service and furnished most of the necessary capital, not so much to earn dividends as to provide themselves with a telephone service. Some systems are operated by individuals and companies, with rentals varying from £1 to £3 per annum. Where the rental is under £2 the subscribers usually purchase their own telephones. Some systems are co-operative, each subscriber paying his share of the cost of the plant, and an annual assessment of from 4s to £1 to cover the cost of maintenance and operation. In some cases no assessment is made, but each subscriber maintains his own part of the system. In some cases there are separate party lines of two stations and over. The subscribers build their own pole line to the nearest main line of the telephone company, and pay a rental of from £1 13s to £2 10s per mile for a wire on to the company's line. In other cases systems are built up under the provisions of a Municipal Act, by which municipalities furnish the cost of the system to subscribers who are ratepayers, each subscriber repaying his proportion of principal and interest, plus the cost of maintenance and operation in 10 annual instalments."

MARINE WIRELESS.

SOUTH AFRICA'S POSITION.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

A letter from the Commonwealth agent in South Africa (Mr. A. H. Hinton) has been received by the External Affairs Department. Several matters of interest to Australia are mentioned. It is stated that of the steamers calling regularly at Capetown about 70 are equipped with wireless telegraph installations. The Government wireless station at Slangkop, near Capetown, which was erected by the Marconi Company, has a range of 400 miles over the sea in the daytime, and from 600 to 1600 miles at night. The station is favourably situated for communication with passenger vessels, with the result that an average of 400 wireless messages a month returns a revenue of about £100.

To Sell

a casual buyer a pound of tea is one thing, but it is altogether another thing to secure thousands of regular Customers. What we mean to say is, we might induce people to buy "Robur" Tea once by telling "crams" about it, but we certainly could not retain the large number of Customers who now use "Robur" unless the tea gave perfect satisfaction every time. We do assure you that if you give "Robur" Tea a trial, and honestly compare it with any tea sold at the same money, it will not disappoint you.

R.M.S. Zealandia left Vancouver on October 2 for Sydney.

R.M.S. Moana, from Sydney, arrived at San Francisco on October 3.

THE BOSSNET SIGNALLED.

Early this morning the French barque Bossnet, timber-laden, from Columbia River, bound to Sydney, was signalled six miles off the Heads.

STILL LARGER MOTOR-DRIVEN VESSELS.

Motor-driven vessels are being built and designed with ever-increasing carrying capacity. Messrs. Krupp, at their Germania Yard, Kiel, are building for the German branch of the Standard Oil Company the largest motor-driven vessel yet constructed. She will have a carrying capacity of 15,000 tons, and will be the largest "tank steamer" afloat. Vessels built for the transport of oil have hitherto carried only about 8000 tons. The new ship will be 420ft long and 63ft beam, and will be propelled by two Diesel oil engines. These develop 1800 h.p., and will have a speed of 10 knots. Fourteen motor-ships, ranging from 4500 to 15,000 tons, are now said to be under construction in Germany. The Selandia, the largest motor-vessel afloat at present, owned by the Danish East Asiatic Company, is 7400 tons, and her success has led the owners to order two vessels each of 10,000 tons. Five oil-driven vessels of 10,000 tons are also said to be under construction for the Italian General Navigation Company.

TITANIC MEMORIAL.

A Woman's Titanic Memorial Association has been formed in Washington to erect there a great marble arch in honour of the men who went down on the Titanic, that women and children might live. Many famous women in the United States are members of the committee of one hundred, which is in charge of the undertaking. In every corner of the world branch associations are working to interest women and to collect funds with which to build what, it is hoped, will be "the greatest arch the world has ever seen."

A SLIGHT DELAY.

The A.U.S.N. Company's steamer Kanowna, which arrived here yesterday, had some slight difficulty with her steering gear as she was about to leave Adelaide for Melbourne on Thursday last. The mechanism was speedily adjusted, however, and the vessel got away safely after a slight delay. The Kanowna will be docked here for overhaul and cleaning.

TRAINING SHIP MERSEY.

The White Star cadet ship Mersey, on her present voyage to Sydney, has 18 new cadets besides those who have made one or more voyages in the ship. It is also worth recording that out of 19 boys who went up for their examination for second officer at the termination of the last voyage, 17 passed.

OLD STEAMER SOLD.

The steamer Warooka, recently owned by the Gulf Steamship Company, Ltd., and which formerly traded between Adelaide and Edithburgh, was sold by auction on Thursday last by Messrs. Mallie, Russell, and Co., at Adelaide. A condition of the sale was that the buyer should not use the vessel in the steamship trade in South Australian waters. The Warooka was secured by Messrs. Simes and Martin, engineers, Port Adelaide, for £285.

IMMIGRANTS ON STATE STEAMER.

The steamer Western Australian, recently purchased by the Western Australian Government for its State steamship service, and which, according to cable advices, is delayed at Port Said, undergoing repairs to her machinery, has on board 49 immigrants.

AUSTRALIAN WEATHER.

THE "HERALD" MAP.

The high pressure, which occupied a considerable area of the continent on Saturday, with its centre to the north of the Central Bight, has made rapid easting (about 130 miles) in the 48 hours; being now centred between Brisbane and Clarence Heads, having gained slightly in barometric values there. The presence of this system has been coincident with pleasant weather generally.

Its movement appears to have been associated with a tilting of its major axis, from a west to east direction to a north-west to south-easterly. It now lies over the eastern half of Australia and the North Tasman Sea, with the exception of part of South Australia, Victoria, and Tasmania. Over the last-mentioned regions, as also the country between the Great Bight and the Tropic, and the Southern Ocean, south-eastward from Albany to beyond the Bluff (N.Z.W.), is an energetic Antarctic disturbance. The influence of this low pressure, where it impinges on the rear portion of the "high," is manifested in the northerly winds and rising temperature over the eastern States. The winds at places, both on its eastern and western aspects, are strong and squally from north and south respectively. Rain, but chiefly light in character, has been recorded in Western Australia, from Geraldton to Esperance, as also along the southern shores of the continent. As this disturbance moves further eastward, hot and sultry conditions, with squally northerly winds and thunder, should affect New South Wales.

The "high" which was just showing on Saturday off the west coast of Western Australia, has now reached inland to the goldfields, and has three isobars.

Ocean Forecasts.—North-west to south-west gales between the Leeuwin and Gabo.

CASUALTIES.

CYCLIST INJURED.

Mr. F. Correy, a cyclist, of Flinders-street, Darlinghurst, was treated at St. Vincent's Hospital for a fractured collarbone, which he sustained while riding in an Eight-hour sports competition.

A HAWKER'S DEATH.

Allen Tyndale Smith, 58, a hawker, aged at 280 Great Barcom-street, Darlinghurst, on Sunday, and his body now lies at the George-street North Morgue. It appears that on Saturday night he told his landlady he was feeling unwell. He went to his bedroom, but did not undress. On Sunday morning early he was found there breathing heavily, and later he died.

A CHILD'S FALL.

Donald Scott, 6, fell from a second floor window in Charlotte-lane, Woolloomooloo, at about 1.40 p.m. yesterday. He was taken to the Sydney Hospital, and admitted, suffering from a fractured skull and a cut under the chin. His condition is serious.

MINER KILLED.

KURRI KURRI, Monday.

William Benjamin Thomas was badly injured by a fall of stone at the Stanford colliery, and died on Saturday night. Deceased was aged 40, married, and leaves a widow and three children.

PEA RIFLE ACCIDENT.

ULMARRA, Monday.

A young man, Hercules Green, met with a serious shooting accident on Saturday. Whilst endeavouring to reach a bird in a tree his pea-rifle struck the trunk of the tree, exploding the cartridge. The bullet passed through his chest, perforating the lungs and embedding itself in the left shoulder. The bullet has not yet been removed. Green is in a critical condition.

POLICE SERGEANT'S DEATH.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Sergeant Edmund Forrest Mulcahy, officer in charge of the Geelong police, committed suicide to-day by shooting himself with a revolver. Mulcahy had a severe attack of influenza a month ago, and since then he had been despondent and worried, being under the impression that the office work was beyond his capacity. He leaves a widow and seven children.

LEG AMPUTATED.

LITHGOW, Monday.

John Hall, of Bell, had his right leg broken in a dray accident a fortnight ago, and when admitted to the hospital it was found that the limb was so badly smashed that it had to be amputated. The patient's vitality, however, was very low, and he gradually sank and died on Saturday.

DOCTORS AND LODGES.

LITHGOW, Monday.

At a smoke concert under the auspices of the Valley Lodge, M.U. of O., Bro. Kemp, Grand Secretary, who was among the visitors, spoke of the recent conference between the B.M.A. and the friendly societies, with Mr. Flowers as chairman. At that conference it was found that the medical gentlemen only asked a fair thing. The great majority of friendly societies were unionists, who would scout the idea of working with a blackleg, but some would like the doctor to be a blackleg. He looked to the time when medical men would come to them oftener, and there was a proposal now that the standing committee representing the friendly societies should confer with the medical officers from time to time. The proposal of the State Government was that arrangements be made for the mother to be provided with medical attendance and nursing during her time of need. This proposal would come into effect just as the Act providing for old age pensions had done away with the necessity for the old man to go to the Liverpool Asylum. The State Government was coming to the assistance of the friendly societies, and recognising that they were doing a great work.

KILLED BY FALLING CHIMNEY.

QUEANBEYAN, Monday.

A sensational accident occurred at the Commercial Hotel, Main-street. The hotel premises are being enlarged. OUR BALANCE OF TRADE MISSTATED.

Though the outlook in Australia is not so bright as it was twelve months ago, yet that is no reason why our persistent critic, Mr. A. J. Wilson, should misstate grossly the present position. In his latest number of the "Investors' Review" to hand by the mail, he writes:—

Financially the outlook in Australia does not see to be as comfortable as creditors and other friends would like to see it; at least the "Australasian Insurance and Banking Record" for July says that the wool clip is expected to be 200,000 bales less than that of last season, and prices are not so good. The contraction in value of exports is, therefore, put at between £2,000,000 and £3,000,000, and there ought to be no contraction, but an expansion if the position of the young nation is to be restored to health. For some years back imports have been exceeding exports to an extent which unquestionably threatens trouble if a change does not come soon. To continue importing more than a country exports, above all when that country is a debtor State, is first of all to raise the price of loanable capital within the country, and next to bring embarrassment into its money market.

Probably the decrease in the wool clip is underestimated, and so we can give the writer that much in. But imports have not exceeded exports for some years back. The present is the first year since 1904 when the imports of merchandise have exceeded the exports of produce, and if we include gold, the present year is the first year since 1892 when the total imports have exceeded the total exports. We give below a table showing the balance of trade since 1907:—

EXCESS OF EXPORTS.

	Merchandise.	Specie and Bul.	Total.
1907	£11,661,754	£9,358,380	£21,016,214
1908	1,511,917	12,999,868	14,511,785
1909	6,323,031	7,023,909	14,146,940
1910	11,173,482	3,303,317	14,476,799
1911	2,437,265	10,077,505	12,514,770
1912 (8 months)	—13,872,777*	8,525,585	—5,347,192*

*Excess of Imports.

Were this unhealthy balance to continue for three or four years, then the remarks of the English review would be justified. There is, it is true, a tightness in the money market, but no embarrassment, and it applies more to money wanted for other than trade requirements. The actions of Labour Governments have had more to do with the tightening of the market than the excess of imports over exports.

REVOLUTIONARY EFFECTS ON CHINA'S BANKS.

Although the effects of the revolution are not fully reflected in the Customs statistics for 1911, there is no doubt that it inflicted a crushing blow on the trade of China, says a consular report. From October 10, when Wuchang revolted, even before the rising spread to the lower parts of the Yangtse Valley, the whole banking system of China broke down, and it was to the financial crisis thus produced, rather than to the revolution itself, that the complete stagnation of trade at the end of the year must be more directly attributed. A run on the native banks for dollars, and the failure of many of them to meet their own "native orders," resulted in putting a stop to the usual facilities for business transactions. By the time that the weaker banks were eliminated and the financial horizon in Shanghai began to clear, the country everywhere had become so unsettled that neither goods nor money could be moved freely. When peace negotiations began in December, hopes that it might be possible to supply the demand were disappointed. Chinese bankers and merchants were too busy with politics to attend to their business, and money that might have been used to buy stocks was swept into the coffers of the Republicans, and wasted in unproductive military expenditure. What the trade would have been had there been no revolution may be imagined from these statistics. The gross value of the trade was £117,255,627, so that the year again constituted a record. The value of exports of native produce was less than in 1910 by some £470,000, the items showing no marked fluctuation in comparative value, but net foreign imports were £1,150,000 more, a decrease of over £360,000 in the value of foreign opium and of nearly £150,000 in metals having to be set against an increase of over £1,750,000 in cotton goods and of £500,000 in sundries.

LIQUOR AND TOBACCO REVENUE.

It is often made a matter for jest that a social club has drunk itself out of debt. And if a nation does not drink itself out of debt the yield of revenue from its drink and tobacco bill goes a long way to provide the wherewithal for government. In the Commonwealth the amount is more than 40 per cent. of the total customs and excise revenue. How the money would be raised were the people suddenly to become teetotal, and at the same time eschew tobacco, is an eventuality on which theorists have often pondered, but have not come to any satisfactory conclusion. Comparison for three years may be made thus:—

	1909.	1910.	1911.
Ales, spirits, and beverages.	£.	£.	£.
Customs	2,275,819	2,426,853	2,645,496
Excise	810,289	906,203	1,006,385
Tobacco.
Customs	976,783	1,039,895	1,095,885
Excise	650,176	706,472	760,595
Tl. ale, etc., tob.	4,713,037	5,078,423	5,502,301
Ct. total Customs and Excise	11,115,234	12,264,085	13,562,045
Prop. ale, etc.	Per cent. 42.40	Per cent. 41.40	Per cent. 40.57

BRITISH BUSINESS INSTINCTS.

Whatever may have been the case a few years ago it is undeniable now that the British business man has regained his place in the estimation of the world of business. The view is forcibly expressed by Mr. John Barrett, the director-general of the Pan-American Union. At the conclusion of a visit to Europe he said that he wished, as the head of the only great international [illegible] development of [illegible] to commend the [illegible] interests of Great Britain for the way they had built up British [illegible] all the world over, especially in [illegible]. In his experience as a [illegible] in Asia and [illegible] he had learned to admire [illegible] British merchants mastered [illegible] he could not sympathise [illegible] critical [illegible] found among a great many British statesmen and business men, "Looking at the situation impartially as a United States citizen and as an international officer," Mr. Barrett said, "it seems to me that there [illegible] which is holding her own in foreign trade better than Great Britain, and I find in the United States the principal argument which will make American business men work harder than ever to get in the foreign field is the fact that the business interests of Great Britain are leaving no stone unturned to lead the way. Whenever a man in the political or commercial life of the United States writes an article or makes a speech urging the business interests of the United States to build up their foreign trade he always cites Great Britain with her merchants and manufacturers, as an example of what can be done."

AMERICAN MONEY MARKET.

The expectation of a demand for money in the United States in the autumn greater than usual has been the occasion of anxiety for some time past, and on the authority of "Bradstreet's" it is stated that at the date of the last American mail such anticipation continued in financial circles. It has been repeatedly pointed out that the movement of the crops will this year create decidedly active employment for funds at the interior, and that the continuance of improving conditions in general trade tends to cause demands for banking facilities which will, in connection with the requirements due to the crops, be apt to render the calls of western and southern institutions on their banking connections at the principal reserve cities of the country much larger in amount than anything of the kind in recent years. As yet these demands have not assumed full proportions. There is a safeguard in the fact that the speculative market has been and continues quiet, and rather restricted in its operations. The demands of what are termed Wall-street borrowers are in fact comparatively light, and it is noted that larger interests connected with the stock market are understood to have partly supplied their requirements by means of sterling loans, the selling of what are termed finance bills created in that connection having been of late a factor of considerable importance in the foreign exchange market. Another circumstance which is considered likely to have considerable modifying effect upon the interior demand for money during the autumn is that the banking position at the principal western centres is a strong one. Chicago and St. Louis, for instance, are deemed to be able to finance the immediate calls for crop-moving purposes in the territories tributary to them, and have thus far done so with apparent ease. In short, there has been on all sides a considerable degree of preparation for the increased demands upon banking facilities, and this will undoubtedly act as a preventive of any acute financial disturbance such as would occur if the situation involved an element of surprise.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Further rumours in London of negotiations for the acquisition of the steamers of the Peninsular and Oriental line by the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company have been emphatically denied.

Failures in England last year attributable to financial and speculative enterprise had liabilities amounting to £1,347,000, compared with liabilities of a similar class of failure in 1910 amounting to £3,997,100.

INTERSTATE EXCHANGES.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

To-day's sales were:—Royal Bank, 25/9; Goldsbrough, 44/; Melbourne Building Society, 20/; Carlton Brewery, 8/9; Melbourne Tramway, 4/; Silverton, £5/3; Denny's Lascelles, 20/; Huddart, Parker (ord.), 23/; Colonial Mutual Fire Insurance, 45/; Cohn Brewery, 7/.

COMMERCIAL.

BOOM IN SHEFFIELD STEEL TRADE.

The boom in the Sheffield steel trade continues, orders being obtained almost without effort. The chief matter of anxiety is to get them executed. Deliveries are in some cases hopelessly in arrears, without a prospect of catching up. Sheffield has had its trade booms in previous years, but none even approached the present one in the volume of orders put through. The conditions are unique in the fact that the pressure is universal, and is felt in every single branch of the steel industry and in the trade with all foreign markets, while no firms complain of being exceptions to the general experience. Excluding the influence of strikes, every month this year has registered a big increase upon its predecessor. This estimate receives support from the wonderful story told by the export returns for July. There is no sign at present of a turn in the tide of prosperity.

WHITELEAD.

The present high level of prices for pig lead is said to be due mainly to the demand for electrical purposes all over the world. But in addition the whitelead industry is overwhelmed with orders. The extreme values ruling will, doubtless, add to an increased production of the metal. High rates have previously been followed by a big slump, and for this reason the situation as applied to whitelead requires careful watching. The price of pig lead has only twice been higher during 30 years—in 1906 and 1907. In those two cases the subsequent drop was remarkably rapid.

LINSEED OIL.

The London market for linseed oil is being considerably influenced by varying crop reports from the Argentine and North America. Information to hand from Canada and the United States regarding the linseed crop continue favourable, and if anticipations be realised there is likely to be a large amount of seed available for exportation from both countries. The present estimate of the United States crop is put at 28,000,000 bushels, as compared with 19,370,000 bushels last year, and with about 25,000,000 bushels in each of the years 1906 and 1909. With the knowledge that the American crop would not be available for making oil until October, and in view of Indian and Argentine shipments going forward very slowly, the market for the oil, when the last mail left, showed no signs of giving way for the near positions. Forward deliveries also remained firm. At time of writing, however, indications were that oil would be cheaper towards the end of the year.

AVERAGE PRICE OF METALS.

Elder, Smith, and Co., of Adelaide, has received a cablegram giving the average price of the various metals during September. These, together with the figures of the corresponding month of last year, are given below:—

	Sept., 1912.	Sept., 1911.
Spelter, per ton	£26/17/9	£27/12/6
Lead, soft foreign, per ton	£21/8/11	£14/15/1½
Silver, fine, per oz	31.282d	26.14d
Silver, standard, per oz	29.073d	24.2d
Copper, standard, per ton	£78/1/8	£55/7/1
Copper, best selected, p. t.	£83/11/2	£58/17/3

GALVANISED SHEETS.

According to the "British Trade Review" there is a slight improvement in the British galvanised sheet trade. Some good orders have been received from South America, Australia, and India. The quotation at time of writing for 24 gauge stood at from £11/17/6 to £12.

TRADE OF SOCIETY ISLANDS.

Mr. Consul Richards, in a report on the trade and commerce of Society Islands, states that it is thought by many that the opening of the Panama Canal will assist in the advancement of these islands. No doubt it will do so eventually, but it is doubtful whether it will do so as soon as many people anticipate. The French are alive to the possibilities which might arise from the opening of the canal, and at least two expeditions have been sent out from France, it is said, under Government patronage, to survey the harbour of Papeete, with a view to floating a company for extensive improvements to wharfs, coaling, and watering facilities, and for building a dry dock. With better inter-island communication and more labour, these islands have many years of increasing prosperity to look forward to, but without these their advancement in a short while will reach its limit. For the former, instead of the present-day sailing boats, owned by the various big merchant houses, which, to a certain extent, keep out the small trader who cannot afford a boat of his own, a steamboat service is required, and the local authorities are asking for tenders for such a service. For the latter, which is possibly the more serious of the two, nothing so far is being done, as the lack of labour is not yet acutely felt. There is no doubt that the population in these islands is decreasing, especially in the Marquesas and some of the Paumota group, and it is reported that even now they do not make the amount of copra their plantations could produce.

REAL ESTATE SALES.

The whole of the real estate sales yesterday were largely attended, and some real good business was done. The main sale was at Narrabeen, where the Salvation Army property was brought under the hammer. Mr. Henry Gorman occupied the rostrum. It was a perfect day for such a position, and the attendance was a very large one. There was good competition and prices were high, even up to about £7 per foot, but much more of the land might have been sold if the reserves had not been quite so high. However, the land sold totalled over £4200. At Cronulla there was another large attendance, where Mr. Horning disposed of quite a number of allotments at from £1 to £2 5s per foot, his total being £4046. The several sales on the Mountains attracted a good deal of attention, and they were reported to be satisfactory, and the same may be said of Woy Woy.

Richardson and Wrench, Ltd., acting under instructions from The Perpetual Trustee Co., Ltd., as trustees for the estate of the late H. R. Cox, report having sold by auction, on the grounds, yesterday (Monday) afternoon, various portions of the Patonga Estate, Woy Woy, at prices ranging from £2 to £4 per foot frontage.

Hardie and Gorman, in conjunction with Richardson and Wrench, Ltd., report having held the sale of Collaroy Park Estate, at Narrabeen, on the ground yesterday. There was a large attendance, and 13 allotments were disposed of at prices ranging from £5 12s 6d per foot to £4 18s per foot. Total sales, £4262 10s.

Messrs. H. W. Horning and Co., in conjunction with Mr. C. Munro, report having sold yesterday 60 allotments of the Castlewood estate, Cronulla, prices at auction ranging from 20s to 45s per foot. Total sale were £4046, of which approximately £3500 was realised at auction.

G. H. Mobbs and Co. report a sale of the Macarthur estate at Rosehill, North Granville, on Saturday. Of the 30 lots offered, 18 were sold at prices from 30s to 29s per foot. Total sale, £1390.

INTERSTATE MARKETS.

ADELAIDE WOOL SALES.

ADELAIDE, Monday.

The second wool sale of the series was commenced to-day. There was a good attendance of buyers, and bidding was spirited throughout. Competition was keen, and the market was extremely firm. Wools showy, bulky, warp type were on a distinctly higher level than at the opening sales held on September 19. The Continent secured the major portion of the 4,850 bales offered. The French operators were more in evidence than the German section, and Bradford competed vigorously for all wools suitable for their requirements. Lambs' wool sold remarkably well, and here again top lots realised better figures than on the previous occasion. Strong competition was also experienced for locks, stains, and pieces. Most of the wool was in an excellent condition, and decidedly finer in quality than had been apparent for some time. There was appreciably less yolk and hand, especially in clips from back country. Greasy merino brought up to /12¼, and lambs to /10.

Dalgety and Co. sold:—Albemarle clip for 1912, shearing fleece /8 to /10¼, necks /9 to /9¼, and balance of 1911 clip /8¼ to /9¼; Mena Murtee 1911 clip fleece, to /8¼; Koomooloo clip realised /12¼ for top line of fleece; Curnamona, on account of the Pastoral Company, up to /11½ for fleece.

MELBOURNE FRUIT MARKET.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The following were the wholesale prices ruling for New South Wales fruit at the Western Market to-day:—Lemons, 7/ to 8/ per case; mandarins, 10/ to 13/ ditto; oranges, 10/ to 12/ ditto; navels, 12/ to 18/ ditto; passionfruit, 9/ to 13/ ditto.

MINING.

NOTES.

There was no meeting of the Sydney Stock Exchange yesterday, on account of it being observed as a public holiday.

The smelting operations of the Wallaroo and Moonta Company for the fortnight ended September 28 are officially recorded as follows—Ore received from Wallaroo mines, 2111 tons, of 9 per cent.; ore received from Moonta mines, 343 tons, of 11½ per cent.; precipitate, 30 tons, of 75 per cent., and outside ore received, 6 tons. Ore smelted, 3013 tons. Copper placed to store, 260 tons. Sulphuric acid delivered, 239 tons.

The Pioneer Tin Mining Company (Tas.) reports having washed up, after a two weeks' run, for 43 tons of stream tin.

The output of ore from the Hercules mine (Tas.) for the week ended September 27 was 695 tons of sulphide ore to Zeehan, leaving on hand, in trucks and bins, 130 tons of sulphides and 120 tons of zinc ore.

During last month, at the Baker's Creek mine, stoping work on Smith's reef was carried out under contract at No. 11 level. The drive northwards at this level was advanced 12ft to 128ft. At No. 12 level the drive into the north end of the mine was extended 32ft to 62ft. At No. 14 level driving work was started on a new reef recently located in the footwall of the mine workings below No. 10 level, and the distance driven was 43ft. Breakdowns showed the reef narrow in width, but high in assay value. At No. 15 level driving work was started for the same reef, and advanced 26ft. Quartz breakdowns show an average width of 6in, with visible gold. The battery will start crushing this month.

The Chillagoe Company reports that the railway receipts for the month of September amounted to £9106, and for the six months of the financial year ended September 30 £50,971. For the corresponding periods of the previous year the respective amounts were £9390 and £49,592.

Dr. Logan Jack, geologist, arrived at Ardlethan yesterday under a special engagement to report on the Carpathia tin mining property.

The manager of Cangai copper mine reports for the last week:—"A level was advanced to 142ft, the ground being somewhat harder and progress slower. No. - winze C level was sunk to 119ft without change. No. 5 winze was driven 6ft, and a small crosscut is being continued to locate the south wall. D intermediate level was driven to 44ft, with no change. No. 5 winze E level was sunk to 30ft 6in, the centre averaged 30in, but was troublesome to follow, on account of being greatly crushed and faulted. It is unlikely that the nature of this body of ore will be known until the winze is connected with D intermediate level, and stoping commenced. Stoping was carried out over A, B, C, and D levels, 292.35 tons being mined from all sources. Nos. 1, 2, and 4 furnaces worked full time, and 266.5 tons of ore were smelted for a production of 48.1 tons of matte, assaying 38.6 per cent, and containing 18.5 tons copper. In addition, Nos. 2 and 4 treated 39.65 tons matte, and produced 26 tons of metal, assaying 64.4 per cent. copper.

Our Clarence correspondent writes:—Power and Son have been drawing antimony from the Horseshoe Bend, about three miles above Yulgilbar, to Copmanhurst, for shipment to Sydney. The shareholders of the old Garibaldi mine at Solferino have decided to get out a trial crushing. This mine in days gone by yielded a great quantity of metal. A syndicate has taken charge of the Clavmorgan copper mine on Gordon Brook. A lode of the richest sulphide in the district has been struck. The manager of Pulganbar quicksilver mine reports that the Federal shaft is now down 119ft, and the face is in high-grade ore. A lode carrying rich cinnabar has been opened up near the surface showing a fair average of copper sulphides. The work of erecting the reducing plant is nearing completion.

Last week's run of the dredge of the Araluen Valley Company produced 67oz 7dwt of gold.

Our Melbourne correspondent telegraphs:—"The general manager of the Mount Lyell Company advises that work at the North Mount Lyell and Mount Lyell mines is again proceeding as usual."

The mineral industry has undoubtedly played a very important part in the development of this State, a fact which will be realised when it is stated that the total value of the mineral production to the end of the year 1911 exceeds £217,877,000. During 1911 the metals and minerals produced reached a total value of £9,756,000, the industry finding employment for some 37,000 persons. This satisfactory result was in no small measure due to the yield from the Wyalong field, which since its discovery in 1894 to the end of 1911 has furnished gold to the value of £1,590,547. The highest record was reached in 1899, when gold to the value of £178,700 was won; but there has been a gradual decline since 1904, until in 1911 the output was valued at only £27,538. However it is hoped that the vigorous development work which is now being carried on at the various mines will result in an increased yield being shown for the current year, and be the means of restoring Wyalong to its former position as one of the principal gold-producing centres in this State.

For the five days ended October 5 the B.H. Block 14 Company despatched 300 tons of carbonate, assaying 24 per cent. lead and 15oz silver per ton, also 247 tons of sulphides.

TONGKAH COMPOUND.

IMPROVING MONTHLY OUTPUT.

The gradually increasing output of the one dredge of the Tongkah Compound Company is fully proving the accuracy of the 72 bores put down by Mr. E. Byron Moore, of Melbourne, and on which bores the company was floated in that city. The samples from the 72 bores ranged from 9oz to 28lb 11oz of tin per cubic yard. The bore that gave the last remarkable result was not quite bottomed.

The most expensive block of land in the Compound—14 acres in extent—was estimated to contain 677,600 cubic yards, and, taking the value of the drift at 2lb to the cubic yard (this test gave 31b 5oz) the tin contents of the 14 acres, taking the price of tin received by the Tongkah Harbour Tin Dredging Company for its tin up to November, 1908, was assessed by Mr. Moore at £72,000.

In one of his cables from Tongkah to the Melbourne syndicate, into which the Tongkah Compound was afterwards floated, Mr. Moore said:—"Estimated profit of Compound, three years, after making a deduction of purchase money, and for working the mine, £100,000. Surrounding 300 acres should yield a profit of £1000 per month for 20 years."

Subsequently Mr. Moore's sampling was checked by two New South Wales mining engineers in the interests of certain syndicate shareholders in this State, and were fully confirmed. The dredge, a Victorian-built machine, was started at one end of the Compound, where the bore samples showed the poorest ground, this being considered necessary from an engineering point of view. But in working forward the dredge would, it was stated, approach better tin-bearing karang. That this opinion has been fully borne out is shown by the subjoined statement of operations up to the end of last month:—

	Hours worked.	cub. yds. treated.	Tin yield tons.	Av. per cubic yd.
January	551	42,150	26	1.38lb
February	567	36,535	21	1.2lb
March	440	25,535	19	1.16lb
April	481	56,000	31	1.23lb
May	455	58,250	45	1.73lb
June	4??	60,3?0	36	1.33lb
July	5??	61,000	32	1.90lb
August	6??	6?,000	70	2.30lb
September	5??	62,750	67	2.39lb

The above record is a remarkably fine one, as compared with that of the Tongkah Harbour plant. The latter consists of five dredges, four of which are generally working, whilst one is under repair. Last month four of these dredges working all told 2077 hours, handled 230,000 cubic yards of material for 96 tons 4cwt of tin, or a little under 1lb of tin per cubic yard. On the other hand the one dredge working 1507 fewer hours, and handling 167,250 fewer cubic yards of material, won 67 tons of tin oxide, equal to over 2½lb per cubic yard. Judging by the bores of the ground ahead of the dredge, this record will be beaten.

MINING IN THE STATE

ARDLETHAN, Monday.

The Mallee Hen gold mine was sold last week for £20,000, and has since been floated into a company of 50,000 shares. Messrs. Kenny Bros., on the same line of reef, but four miles nearer Ardlethan, sent into Wyalong a parcel of stone as a trial crushing, which returned on 9 tons 13cwt 1½oz to the ton, and report that the vein is still improving as they go down. Smith and party are getting out a quantity of stone, but as yet none has been tested.

The tin field is still the scene of great activity. Several mines beside the White Crystal and Carpathia are carrying out extensive operations, the Homeward Bound working three shifts. Many of the claims have novel names—The Wild Cherry, Lone Hand, Forlorn Hope, The Roaring Gimblet, Missing Link, Champion, The Outcast, and many others. Hilley and Co.'s Homeward Bound is down 20ft, the ore improving with the depth. Maloney Bros. report a good find of stone on Mills' property, near a place known as Terrible Billy's. This is on the same line of reef as was struck at Ardlethan, but about nine miles distant. A syndicate formed at Ardlethan has applied for a lease of 160 acres at North Yalgogrin, where the reef runs through good country, and from which some splendid specimens of stone were sent in to Ardlethan.

The tin and gold discoveries are materially assisting in the development of Ardlethan. New arrivals are taking place every day, and a great impetus is being given to the building trade. At present it is an impossibility to obtain a house, while the hotel and boarding-houses are crammed.

At the Warden's Court, Mr. James presiding, 27 cases were dealt with, 21 authorities to enter were issued, 3 applications to enter were refused, and 3 were cancelled. Constable M'Eachern, who has been performing the duties of Warden's clerk, etc., in connection with the Mining Department, broke down under the strain a fortnight since, and was granted a month's leave. Inspector Sims, of the Mines Department, has been here for a fortnight, taking over and doing the work. Mr. Nicholas, also of the Mines Office, has now arrived to relieve.

HILLGROVE, Monday.

Mining matters are still very quiet, as there is comparatively nothing but development work going on at both the Eleanora and Cosmopolitan. On its completion, it is expected, the management of both those mines will require a lot of extra labour, when it is expected an influx of population will be the result.

Scheelite is not so active. The lode in the two leading claims has been lost, but expensive development—tunnelling and driving—is going on, the expectation being that at about the 300ft level the lode will be found again. Other small claims are doing well, especially over the gorge at Metz.

At the antimony mine things are at a standstill. As the large influx of water has temporarily got the better of those concerned, they sent 20 tons of ore to Sydney last week, which assayed 75 per cent. At £6/15/ this should give a good return.

WEST WYALONG, Monday.

When formally opening the Wyalong district show Mr. A. J. Kelly, M.L.A., supplied some very interesting official figures in connection with the mining industry on the Wyalong field, also in regard to the rapid growth of agriculture in Wyalong and Barmedman districts. The mining figures showed that from 1894, in which year the yield was worth £35,946, it jumped in two years to £130,000 for 1896, and three years later to £178,700 for 1899. From that year the yield gradually declined (except in 1904, when it was £109,993), till the end of 1911, for which year the yield was £27,538. The total gold obtained from the Wyalong field was valued at £1,590,547.

WESTERN AUSTRALIAN MINES.

PERTH, Monday.

Messrs. Niett and Savige, directors of the Marvel Loch Company, returned from a visit to the mine on Saturday. They declined to make any statement, but it is understood that the fall in the price of the shares is due to—(1) The mine being in too backward a state of development to allow of a regular supply of ore for treatment; (2) to the returns failing to come up to expectation; (3) to the heavy cost of working, and (4) to a heavy influx of water, which threatened to delay and render sinking necessary to put the mine in a forward state. Hence further calls are considered inevitable.

GREAT FITZROY MINE.

MAKING BOTH ENDS MEET.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

During September the Great Fitzroy smelter ran 714 hours, treating 2753 tons of ore and 1297 tons of sintered concentrate, and producing 174.97 tons of blister copper, containing 172.79 tons of copper, 88loz gold, and 3098oz silver. The mill ran 586 hours, treating 5431 tons of ore, producing 1180 tons of concentrate, having an assay value of 10.15 per cent. copper and 5.43dwt gold. The estimated revenue for the month, based on electrolytic copper at £80 7/7, was £15,066, and the total working expenses amounted to £13,913.

According to the information available 296,000oz of gold, realising about £1,147,200, have been produced by the mine. Full particulars obtainable from National Trustees' Co., 113 Queen-street, Melbourne.—Advt.

BUILDINGS AND WORKS.

PROGRESS OF THE TRADE.

A COUNTRY CATHEDRAL.

ARMIDALE BUILDING OPENED.

Apart from St. Mary's, the finest Roman Catholic Cathedral in New South Wales has just been completed and officially opened at Armidale. The building occupies a commanding position in the picturesque town. It has taken two years to build, and is from designs prepared by Messrs. Sherin and Hennessy, architects. It was erected under the supervision of Mr. Nott, of Armidale, and cost over £30,000. The design is Gothic, and the grouping of the different parts together with the handsome tower gives the building a striking appearance. The building is of double-pressed bricks, which were manufactured locally. The moulded bricks, it is claimed, are not surpassed by anything in Australia. The white stone and marble dressings also lend tone to the general appearance of the main facades. The building is 140ft in length. The nave is 114ft by 25ft. The aisles 13ft each, which give a total width of 65ft. The transepts are 25ft by 35ft. The tower is 19ft square, and rises to a height of 160ft, while the spire has been carried another 72ft. The height from the footpath to the top of the spire is 232ft. The cathedral has been built on an eminence, and has a most commanding appearance from all parts of the town.

The baptistry has an octagonal end, surmounted by a high turret roof, with a cross finial. Parapets run round the aisles, and these are embattled, and rest on moulded corbels. Over the heads of the door opening into the tower, are tracery stone tympanums, enclosed in pointed arches with label moulds. Massive buttresses support the tower, which terminates in a cornice with embattlements and massive finials, octagonal at the base, and developing into circular form. On either side of the main entrance is a stone quartre foil windows.

The approach to the main entrance is by a stately flight of stone steps. The sanctuary is beautifully finished in marble and brass, with mosaic flooring, and is rich in appearance. The white marble communion railing was specially imported from Italy. The entrance gates to the sanctuary have been placed in the centre. They are of solid brass, and beautifully finished. The main altar is in Italian marble, beautifully carved, while the side altars are in solid oak. The Cathedral, which was officially opened on Sunday last, represents the life-work of the Right Rev. Dr. O'Connor, Bishop of Armidale. It reflects the utmost credit on architects and builder, and places Armidale in the position of having an architectural attraction which few country towns of Australia can boast of.

A CITY IMPROVEMENT.

Improvements are being carried out in connection with premises in George-street for Messrs. Harrington's, Ltd. The work is under the direction and supervision of Mr. J. T. M'Carthy, architect, of Martin-place. The improvements comprise an additional story to accommodate the developing and printing department. Various structural alterations are also being made in other parts of the building, notably alterations to the staircase, a reinforced concrete strongroom, etc. On the George-street frontage very fine modern show windows are being fixed by Messrs. Hughes, Ltd. The design of this window is unique, and forms an attractive addition to the many beautiful show windows in the vicinity.

GENERAL NOTES.

The Federal Government has decided to build an isolation hospital block at the quarantine station, Port Darwin. The scheme will also include the erection of attendants' quarters. The closing date for tenders is October 16.

Repairs and painting are to be carried out at the Victoria Barracks, Paddington, and also renovations and other work to the post and telegraph office at Alexandria.

Residences for the staff engaged at the small arms factory are to be built at Lithgow. The closing date for tenders has been fixed for October 21.

A 15-ton steam coaling or wharf crane, with a 32ft radius, is to be built at the Wollongong wharf.

The engineer's cottage at the Hay irrigation works is to be removed, and re-erected on a new site, and then enlarged.

The Minister for Public Instruction has decided to call for tenders for the improvements and repairs to the Public schools at Neutral Bay, Murrumburrah, Balmain, Moss Vale, Purchase, Katoomba, North Botany, Granville, Jindabyne, Leeton, on the Yanco irrigation area, and at Victoria Park.

Additions, alterations, repairs, etc., are to be carried out at a number of post-offices, including those at Liverpool, Parramatta, Tamworth, Ulladulla, Wiseman's Ferry, Kogarah, Campbelltown, Camden, and Albion Park.

In connection with the construction of the North Coast railway, tenders are called for the manufacture and building of a number of bridges in steel and timber, including those across the south arm of the Bellinger River, one across the Nambucca River, and another across the Macleay River.

A new water supply is to be given to the Customs-house at Sydney.

From plans prepared in the Public Works Department, new school buildings are to be erected at Fifield and Ghinni Ghinni. Additions and alterations are to be made to schools at Summer Hill, Eumungerie, Port Macquarie, and Bobadah.

High level reticulation and ventilation are to be introduced into the sewerage system of Bathurst.

Tenders are called for the construction of reticulation extensions in connection with the water supply of Murwillumbah.

Timber beam bridges are to be built, one over the Macdonald River, another over the Tia River, and a third over Coleraball Creek.

Tenders are now called for the extension of St. Mary's Cathedral. The architect, Mr. John F. Hennessy, has fixed October 23 as the closing date.

Mr. Charles W. J. Carter, architect, of Eastwood, is preparing plans for a large cottage at Wollstonecraft, and for brick cottages at Vaucluse and Kensington.

POLICE COURTS.

DISORDER IN THE STREETS.

YOUNG MEN BEFORE THE COURT.

At the Central Police Court yesterday a number of young persons appeared before Mr. Payten, S.M., to answer charges of disorderly, offensive, or riotous conduct.

Cornelius O'Connor, 20, and Walter Barnes, 35, were, according to the police, engaged with a number of others creating a disturbance, which ended in a free fight in Edward-street, Pyrmont, on Saturday night. They were each fined 10s, with the option of 14 days' gaol.

A similar penalty was meted out to Richard Parsons, 19 years of age, who, the police state, was wandering about the Central Railway Station on Saturday night, shamming drunkenness. He encountered another man under the influence of liquor, and promptly threw out a challenge to fight. The man did not respond, whereupon Parsons bumped up against him and knocked him down.

Matthew Tennant, 29, William Miller 26, and Albert Edward Elliott, 29, were charged with riotous conduct in Crown-street on Saturday night. The police informed the bench that the three accused were amusing themselves by jostling people off the footpaths, and shouting out ribald songs. They were each fined 20s, in default seven days' imprisonment.

Reginald Saddler, 23, Thomas Lambert, 21, Ernest Oxley 20, and Ernest Gates, 18, were charged with riotous conduct in Cleveland-street on Sunday morning. The accused, it was stated, were making a great noise, pulling each other about the footpath, and disturbing the peace of the neighbourhood. A fine of 40s, with the alternative of 10 days' imprisonment was imposed in each case.

Thomas Maloney, 19, Joseph Thompson, 17, and Thomas Stubbins, 18, were charged with behaving in an offensive manner in Bourke-street on Saturday night. For the prosecution it was stated that accused were walking along the street abreast, pushing against women and girls. As a consequence a number of females were jostled about, and several had to go off the footpath in order to pass along the street. The magistrate imposed a fine of 40s, in default 14 days' gaol, in each case.

A BUTCHER FINED.

Vernon Noakes, of Manly, was fined at the Manly Police Court on Friday for not keeping a shop implement clean. Inspector Allison said that he opened up a sausage-filling machine at defendant's butchery, and found a rag wrapped round the plunger. The rag was sour-smelling and very dirty. Defendant stated that it had been placed in the machine to prevent the meat coming out. Defendant was fined £2, with 7s costs.

ADULTERATED MILK.

At the Manly Police Court on Friday, Inspector Kench proceeded against several milk-vendors for adulteration. Sarah Boulton, of Newport, whose sample showed 13 per cent. added water, was fined £5, with 7s costs. Leslie Greenham, whose milk had only a very small percentage of water, was fined £1, and 7s costs. Herbert Craddock, of Freshwater, had two charges preferred against him, one of 14 per cent. and the other 7 per cent. adulteration. He was fined £5, with 7s costs and £3, with 7s costs, respectively. John Clifford, of Bayview, had two samples taken from his cans, and was fined £5, with 7s costs, and £3, with 7s costs.

TRADING WITHOUT A LICENSE.

At the Manly Police Court on Friday, Inspector Ferris proceeded against Henry Pitcher and Percy Tyke, who keep a butchery and slaughter-house at Narrabeen, for a breach of the regulations in allowing pigs to come within 100 yards of their slaughter-house. Pitcher, who appeared for the firm, stated that owing to the wet weather he had been compelled to put the pigs in the slaughter-house, or the animals would have been drowned. No killing had been done in the slaughter-house. Fines of 10s, with costs, were imposed.

For carrying on a noxious trade (fat extraction) without a license, defendants were fined £1, with costs; and on another charge of not keeping their slaughter-house clean they were each ordered to pay a fine of £2 10s, and costs.

CLEAN CITY CRUSADE.

The Lord Mayor, who is displaying great zeal in his clean city crusade, is determined that those who throw rubbish on to the streets shall not, when brought to book, be able to plead ignorance of the bylaws. At his suggestion the health committee of the City Council has recommended that authority be granted for the purchase of 250 enamel placards, to be put up all over the city, bearing the words, "Do not litter the footways or roads with paper or rubbish, or you will be summoned."

If your liver is sluggish and out of tone, you feel dull, bilious, or constipated, take Chamberlain's Tablets.—Advt.

WATER SUPPLY SCHEME.

WRIGHTVILLE'S REQUIREMENTS.

TAXATION OF MINES.

COBAR, Monday.

Wrightville, a municipality of 1800 inhabitants, situated a couple of miles from Cobar, was visited by Mr. Holman's party.

At a gathering in the local council-chambers, the Mayor (Alderman Moxham) extended a welcome. He pointed out that at present Wrightville had to depend on the Cobar water supply, which was hardly sufficient for Cobar alone, the catchment area being limited. Mining development was proceeding rapidly, and the water question was becoming acute. The residents wanted the water brought by means of a natural creek running close to the town, all the way from the River Darling, a distance of 80 miles. The cost had been departmentally estimated, first at £250,000; but it was now believed that it could be carried out for less. At present the water cost them £1 per 1000 gallons. They had to send 460 miles to Sydney for their vegetables, and with irrigation could easily grow them there. He asked that the Local Government Act should be amended to provide for a fairer system of taxing mining properties. The appeal court had reduced the assessment of £137, levied upon the Great Cobar properties there, to £4, which was a ridiculous assessment, in view of the way the company used the roads of the municipality. He also drew attention to the fact that Wrightville was enclosed by Crown lands, and the result was that the roads were largely used, without the municipality being able to obtain sufficient revenue. He asked for a special grant from the Government.

Mr. Holman promised to bring both matters before the Minister for Works, expressing his own view that the municipality had made out a good case for assistance from the Government in the upkeep of the main road. The question of how the properties of mining companies should be taxed would be considered when Mr. Griffith's amending Local Government Bill was before Parliament.

The party inspected the Chesney mine, where a large new mineral separation plant for the treatment of low-grade copper ore is being installed by the Great Cobar, Ltd. They were shown round by the mine manager, Mr. A. H. Williams.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.

STATIONS WORKING SATISFACTORILY.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The Commonwealth Wireless Expert (Mr. Balsillie), who has returned to Melbourne from Fremantle by the R.M.S. Orvieto, said to-day that the new Adelaide station was reported to be doing excellent work. During the passage of the Orvieto from the west ten messages were received from Adelaide at a distance of about 620 miles at the rate of about 20 words a minute, without any repetition. The vessel was in wireless communication with the land all the way from Fremantle to Melbourne. On the first night out the vessel was in touch with Melbourne, as well as Fremantle. While continuing to communicate with Fremantle, Adelaide was picked up on the second night out. It was not until the fourth day that the Orvieto passed out of the influence of Fremantle, but Adelaide and Melbourne were still in touch.

Referring to a cable message to the effect that a French engineer had patented a system of sparkless wireless telegraphy, Mr. Balsillie expressed the opinion that it was a natural development of the spark system. Probably the new system followed experiments made by Goldschmidt, who had evolved a method of producing a high-frequency, alternating current energy. The stations in which the new system was used would be much cheaper to construct.

NAMING A MEMBER.

MR. HIGGS DISSATISFIED.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The incident of the naming of Mr. Higgs by the Speaker of the House of Representatives has not closed, as was thought by other members last week. The member for Capricornia is not satisfied with the decision, and has informed the Speaker that he will give notice of motion as follows:—"That the action of Mr. Speaker on October 1, in endeavouring to prevent a member of this House from reading a notice of motion couched in Parliamentary language, and in refusing to accept the said notice of motion, on the ground that the motion was frivolous, is a breach of the power, privileges, and immunities of members of the House of Representatives."

Mr. Higgs's motion was to the effect that the Governor-General be informed that the Opposition merited the censure of the House for their dereliction of duty in not voting against measures which they opposed, and for other alleged shortcomings, which he specified.

COLONIAL MUTUAL LIFE.

SHAREHOLDERS' PETITION.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The requisition signed by the shareholders in the Colonial Mutual Life Assurance Society was presented to the Premier to-day. The requisition, which has been drawn up and forwarded at the instance of the directors of the society, bears the signatures of 75 shareholders, though only 40 names were required to make up the one-third of shareholders demanded by section 117 of the Companies Act for the purpose of inquiry.

The Premier (Mr. Watt) stated to-night that it was the intention of the Ministry to deal with two bills relating to the affairs of the company as soon as possible, after the Budget had been delivered to-morrow.

REELS OF COTTON.

CASES OF SHORT LENGTH.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Recent investigations were made by the Customs Department to ascertain if reels of silk and cotton contained the length of material specified on the label. Machines of a simple design were constructed for the purpose of unwinding and rewinding the reels. In the majority of cases investigated the measurements were found to be as stated, but in a few instances the thread was perhaps a few yards short. In these cases those concerned have been notified that unless the measurements specified on the labels are observed the importation of the goods will be prohibited.

MOTOR OMNIBUSES.

SOUTH AFRICAN PROPOSAL.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

In a letter to the Department of External Affairs the Commercial Agent in South Africa states that Professor Dobson, general manager of the Johannesburg tramways, has recently reported on the best way of dealing with the many demands for traffic facilities made by the residents in the outlying suburbs. His recommendations are:—(1) That power be obtained for running railless electric trams and motor omnibuses; (2) that such extensions as are proposed from time to time be dealt with in the first instance by means of motor omnibuses; (3) that these omnibuses be purchased at, approximately, £1200 each, and that £8000 be voted for the purpose; (4) that four omnibuses be put into use on extensions to be sanctioned by the council, and two omnibuses be held in reserve in case of break-down.

MILL MANAGER'S SUICIDE.

GUNNEDAH, Monday.

This morning the body of W. H. Short, manager of the Excelsior flour mills, was found suspended in the hall of his residence. Deceased had been dining out, and was not seen since lunch-time yesterday. A light rope was attached to the body, and made fast to the fanlight of the door leading from the hall to the dining-room. His feet were about 12 inches from the floor. At the inquest it was stated that letters were found, one being directed to the manager of the local branch of the Commercial Bank, which contained a will, and a note couched in friendly terms, and explaining his position. He admitted he had made a blunder, and must pass out and pay the penalty. The finding was that death was due to suffocation by hanging caused by his own hand.

GOULBURN LIEDERTAFEL.

THE HUNDREDTH CONCERT.

Last night the Goulburn Liedertafel celebrated its majority. Ninety-nine concerts had been held during the past 21 years, and the hundredth concert provided the occasion for a most enjoyable reunion, old members from all over the State participating. The first concert was held on July 21, 1891.

The society has made great strides since then, and is now claims the honour of being the premier provincial musical society in Australia. From a public musical point of view it has more than justified its existence, musical culture in the southern city having through its agency reached a high pitch of excellence.

The Goulburn Liedertafel is an offshoot from the Sydney Liedertafel.

ROYAL MOTOR SHOW.

REOPENS TO-DAY.

The motor exhibition on the Royal Agricultural Society's Ground reopens this morning. Judging by the interest taken in the exhibits on the opening day on Saturday there should be a big attendance to-day. The exhibits on Saturday were not quite in order until late in the day; but to-day the stands will be seen at their best. The exhibits must be of great educational value to anyone who takes the slightest interest in motoring.

The main industrial pavilion attracted the majority on the opening day, but the district pavilion has also a very fine display, including that of Roy W. Sandford, Ltd. Mr. Sandford states that on the Saturday he had good sales, both for the Chalmers and Empire cars. The Chalmers 36-h.p. torpedo body looks right up to the standard of the manufacturer's claims. The 25-h.p. Empire car, with the flush-sided, torpedo body, and a little single-seater 20-h.p. Empire, which is termed the "little aristocrat," is a car that is attracting a lot of attention.

MAN AND BOY DROWNED.

SULKY CAPSIZES IN DAM.

GILGANDRA, Monday.

A sad double drowning fatality occurred on Saturday afternoon, whereby Mr. A. Craig, a well-known farmer of Forest Lodge, and Melton Weaver, a boy of 9 years, the son of Mr. A. E. Weaver, bookkeeper at Garling's store, lost their lives.

It appears that Mr. Craig and the boy were coming to town, and when passing the dam on the former's property they must have driven to it to give the horse a drink. In doing so the sulky capsized into deep water, pinning Craig beneath it, and throwing the boy out. At about 4 o'clock a son of Craig was passing the dam, when he noticed portion of the horse's body, and on entering the water recovered his father's body from beneath the sulky. The boy's body was not recovered until late at night.

On the previous day the boy had accompanied his father to Fallon's woolshed, and on being overtaken by a hailstorm he was left at Craig's to be brought home next day.

AUSTRALIA'S PROBLEM.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The remarks of Archdeacon Garland, which you quote in a recent issue, should receive the earnest attention of all classes in the Commonwealth, and they should put on one side the petty internecine jealousy that obtains in the Commonwealth, State Parliaments, and other bodies. The running of this country on the basis of class legislation in evidence in the Commonwealth and New South Wales Parliaments is not for the future welfare of so great a continent, and no amount of palaver and bluff will alter the destiny of our sunny land unless the tactics are changed. My 23 years' residence and travel in the various States, the observation of the different climates over the desertless regions of waterless country, all point out that if proper methods obtained they could be realised by human skill and ingenuity. Such cannot be expected by spasmodic attempts of sending men away, who are in the way of class interests, or have broken down under the strenuous work of office.

The problem to solve, as the archdeacon sets forth, is the filling up the empty spaces. In the early seventies shiploads of people (about 2000 a week) were leaving Liverpool, England, for America. When they got there the Government provided them with tools and three months' rations, and passed them into the interior. The expense must have been very great, but the problem then was to people the country, and American statesmen met it, and we now know the results of its developments through people being placed on the land, and its consequent birth-rate. There is no reason why combined circumstances of capable men under wise and beneficial legislation should not cope with the object in view. Other nations are watching our development who don't subscribe to a one-idea policy, yet they accept people as they land, and deal with them as their laws direct. We need not only one statesman, but a bevy of them, determined to unite and face the problem, work it out, and hand it on to successors who will be at the helm when the storm arises. It means sacrifice and millions of money with all the obligations of the future, but it is better to grasp the nettle firmly, then it will remain as soft as silk in our hands. The continuation of irrigation schemes, the cutting of canals, or the contouring of the State to arrive at artificial dams in thousands of places where they could be constructed to benefit the immense areas may be a big problem, but not too big for the brains that are contained in Australian men if money, men, and materials are found for our future greatness. On the other hand, neglect means disaster, and the loss of millions private enterprise, independent of public works, is risking all over the States in building up for a future that farseeing men see danger to in the distance.

This can never take place while factions are airing their pet ideas with the ultimate view to the emoluments of office and the powerful fictitious majority. Compulsory voting should become lawful, and penalties attached thereto to strangle the antipathy of men who will not trouble to vote. If such were the case a decided change would be realised of the strength of parties either by Labour or Liberal leaders controlling the destinies of the country. To anyone who can realise the prophecy about China, it is undoubtedly its destiny after ages of thraldom that the teeming millions will seek expansion, and this land will realise just what the archdeacon says of a white Australia, unless such steps are taken by energetic immigration, honest and honourable handling of the people who choose our land, and drafting them out back, as it was the people that delved and brought to light the treasure under American soil and in this State, reputedly the wealthiest of them all. It is only work—driving railways through hills instead of skirting round them, and other things herein stated—that will lead up to the truest development of New South Wales. The Labour party, who hold the reins of Government, should be allowed to do their work, and accept the Nemises if it should arise. So far, we don't know what the party in power will develop. It will not be ruin, as a Government showing its faith in the country must tend to speculation, by private enterprise to meet the demands that are arising daily. Let trades-unionism maintain its just position under industrial laws, and not seek to rule Australia by its hidebound effects upon liberty, trade, and commerce.

JOHN HASLAM.

CANOWINDRA-EUGOWRA RAILWAY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I have noticed in your columns a report of the evidence given by Mr. Harper, Assistant Railway Commissioner, and Mr. Vautin, of the Lands Department, before the Public Works Committee when that body were taking evidence on the above proposal.

Mr. Harper's statement that this line would be 20¼ miles in length is very misleading. That is the distance by the main road running direct from Canowindra to Eugowra. The grades obtaining on this road make it impossible to construct a line of railway which would conform to the road in its course. The deviations necessary to obtain even fair grades would make the length of construction considerably more than 20¼ miles if the intention of the Works Department was to go by the most direct route. But this is not their intention, as may be seen from a glance at Mr. Harper's evidence, where he says this line would bring Goolagong within four miles of rail communication. To deviate by the only route possible (via Nyrang Creek) to serve Goolagong would entail about 28 miles of construction, and some miles of it most costly. Much cutting and filling would be necessary. The line would for the greater part of the distance be built along the sides of very abrupt and stony ridges, lacerated with storm water channels, and the bridging of these would in itself be extremely expensive.

Mr. Harper's evidence is no doubt based upon reports received from some of his officers, and it is only just to say of him that his evidence is the best that he could give with the material at hand. But, as I have already stated, it is very misleading to anyone not thoroughly acquainted with these routes.

With regard to Mr. Vautin's evidence, I would say that very much of those reserved and leased, etc., Crown lands is notoriously rough and useless country, of which there should be sufficient proof in the fact that it is Crown lands to-day in a district like the Lachlan Valley, where the prices for wheat lands range up to £5 per acre.

Again, much of the alienated lands, which Mr. Vautin says would be affected by this line, is on the opposite side of the Lachlan River, and there is now before the Works Committee a proposal to construct a line from Bimbi? Burimari, on the Cowra-Canowindra line, across the river, and thence south of the Lachlan, via Goolagong, and thus through the centre of the bulk of all those arable alienated acres, instead of, as with the Canowindra-Eugowra scheme, building along the edges of mountains and useless country, and drawing all the produce to the line from one side, and at that about four-fifths from the opposite side of the river.

I am, etc.,
D. R. C.

At to-night's meeting of the City Council Alderman Eagon will move in favour of the establishment of a better system of street-watering in the city.

METROPOLITAN DAY.

THE GREAT DUKE FOOTE.

A BRILLIANT YOUNGSTER.

There was only one horse in it really. Everyone said so. Rarely, even in a matter prolific of good things, was there ever such a good thing as Duke Foote for the Metropolitan Stakes. And the Metropolitan Stakes was the great race of yesterday, which was Metropolitan Day, and it is a race for which good things have often been proclaimed and nearly as often have painfully upset calculations. But here was one of the best of good things, and Duke Foote being so unanimously centred upon, and the Metropolitan being so well beloved of the Sydney turf fraternity as a handicap event essentially of Sydney, and second to none, small wonder that the great event of yesterday's spring meeting programme drew an enormous gathering to Randwick.

And as it turned out, the prophets covered themselves with glory—or, rather, they shone with the glory reflected by Duke Foote. For that brilliant horse entirely justified itself and them. A field of twenty-eight swept out from the tape to a good start. Almost immediately four horses fell, and the rest, depleted of them, settled into place at the back of the course. Now and again the position of some or other contestant flattered its supporters, but always Duke Foote was not far off. Third at the home turn, his victory was already in sight. Suddenly he gathered speed, and shot to the front. The field struggled behind him. Duke Foote went on alone and won by lengths. The Metropolitan had completely met expectations.

Metropolitan Day revealed Randwick at its best. For one thing, yesterday was holiday up to the hilt, and the crowd besieging the course was clearly out for enjoyment. For another thing the weather was perfect, and Randwick under such conditions is well worth while. Furthermore, winners consistently justified a host of backers, even the odds-on certainties, and the short-priced certainties, bar accidents, coming off with almost automatic regularity. There were other horses, of course, similarly well backed. But they served to provide the fillip of excitement necessary to the occasion. Without its anticipations and hopes and disappointments the sport would soon degenerate into a monotony from which not even a persistent run of the best of good things would be able to save it. There were quite a number of good things yesterday. Some of them were extra good, and others were good enough. In the event, winners were always flattering a large public, and losers generally managed to give their supporters a thrill for their money.

The holiday crowd was of vast proportions. It enjoyed the day thoroughly. It was there with that object. Some of it was also there to turn its Saturday lamentations into rejoicing. Quite a number of ! succeeded in both directions—that is, if appearances may be held to count. Certainly, it is difficult to trust racecourse appearances, but yesterday's crowd was typically of Sydney in its relish of the sunshine, and the sport, and the favourites who fulfilled its desire—so that everywhere in the throng were to be found jovial good humour and satisfaction with things as they were, and the holiday mood.

The second day of the spring meeting repeated the successes of the first in regard to official oversight, the quality of the programme, and the general interest of the day. Once again the A.J.C. headquarters were called upon to house an attendance grown beyond all the anticipation of but a few years ago. Once again that attendance included people of turf renown, and people of eminence in all varieties of life. Once again it was a brilliantly turned-out attendance in respect of the seats of the mighty well-to-do, and a notably prosperous-looking attendance in the places of humbler demand.

It rolled across the flat, and it surged within the stands and lawns. The ring was from first to last a piled-up congestion of speculators, to satisfy whom and to urge them to their most speculative, the layers of odds, advantaged nowadays by thrones, if not exactly of royal estate, at any rate of considerable benefit in the way of command of the situation, roared their invitations unwearingly through a long and exciting afternoon. Around and about them swarmed the backers, similarly unwearied of faith in their fancies, to inspect which at closer quarters they broke away at intervals to the saddling paddock, where, before each race, the crowd of people in critical survey of the horses was constantly too great for comfort.

But those are familiar accessories of Metropolitan Day. Yesterday's gathering merely emphasised once again their grip upon the patrons of Randwick. Also, yesterday's gathering showed them as ministering to a greater public than ever, and with that public gay in advance, and pleased in retrospect, good racing, and the favourites well prominent—to say nothing of the brilliant appearance of the course by reason of a great attendance of ladies and of spring frocking unhampered by the pervasive wind of Derby Day—the second day of the A.J.C. meeting was an all-round triumph.

ON THE LAWN.

A more glorious day could not have been desired by anyone for the principal day's racing of the A.J.C. spring meeting. Being a public holiday, and the weather so perfect, small wonder was it that the attendance proved a record, and that thousands and thousands of spectators wended their way out to Randwick. It was an ideal day for the display of all the new and dainty summer toilettes, and although the crowd was so great they could not be seen to advantage individually, yet they formed a beautiful and bright scene. White dresses predominated, and charmingly cool and dainty they looked, trimmed with exquisite embroideries, heavy tuny laces or light and pretty valenciennes lace. Worn with the large picture hats with such natural-looking mounts of beautiful flowers, they formed ideal summer wear for the young. There were many elaborate race toilettes, and a bare description can really convey no idea of their beauty, for, although they appeared at the first glance simple, yet it was the careful attention paid to every detail that formed the effective ensemble.

Their Excellencies the Governor-General and Lady Denman, accompanied by Miss Bosanquet and Lady Barttelot, with Sir Walter Barttelot, Major Quilter, Captain Nutting, and Captain Burnham in attendance, arrived in time to see the first race, and remained until the conclusion of the programme. To the many friends their Excellencies greeted during the afternoon they expressed their great regret at leaving Sydney. His Excellency the Governor and Lady Chelmsford, and his Excellency the Admiral and Lady King-Hall, also occupied one of the vice-regal boxes, and were accompanied by the Hon. Margaret Best, Miss Lees, and the Hon. A. Villiers, and attended by Captain Dumaresq, Captain de Moleyns, Sir Thomas Lees, and Flag-Lieutenant Seton, R.N.

Her Excellency Lady Denman wore a beautiful dress of white embroidered muslin, with a band of velvet at the bottom of the skirt, and a deep black velvet waistband; a purple hat with purple feathers, and a cluster of purple stocks at the waist. Lady Chelmsford chose an amethyst-coloured ninon with self-coloured embroidery over amethyst charmeuse, and a cream lace vest; a large amethyst Tagel straw hat with upstanding mount of small fuchsias. Lady King-Hall's dress was of maize and white figured ninon with effective touches of black, and was worn with a mole hat with shaded green feathers. Lady Barttelot was in white embroidered muslin, and a Tuscan hat with black velvet and black feathers. Miss Bosanquet wore a tambour embroidered muslin, and a Tuscan hat with a floral mount. Miss Lees wore white crepe-de-chine, and a white hat with blue tulle and blue feathers and touch of cerise. The Hon. Margaret Best, black and pink floral chiffon, and a cream hat and roses. THE RACING.

The difference between the first Metropolitan, when Bylong won, in 1866, and the last can only be described by a clear-minded veteran, such as Mr. E. de Mestre, who won the second Metropolitan with Tim Whiffler, and was present on Monday to see Duke Foote win the forty-seventh. In Bylong's day the outside gates were worth about £200 to the club for three days' racing; possibly over £2000 was collected in head money yesterday, and in all probability between two and three hundred thousand pounds was expended in clothes for the races among tradesmen of the city; while the proletarian reaped his harvest by the aid of cabs, motor cars, and other accessories that go to make up a comprehensive whole in the scheme of things racing. Probably the first Metropolitan winner, Bylong, would have some trouble in beating a modern thoroughbred steeplechaser over any course; but in his time thoroughbreds were few in the land, and consequently competition was nothing like so great as in these days of a plentiful supply of the p... article. An old-time record shows that the Lass, the Bayside, and the Baldwins were represented at a Sydney sale of thoroughbreds at Burt's Bazaar, in Sydney, and some 22 head were sold. Compare that with the last sales at Randwick, at which 600 yearlings were catalogued, and one animal realised more money than did the whole of the catalogue of 1866. The first and second in yesterday's Metropolitan represent fashionable English strains of blood on both sides. In these days of liberal importations such may be expected occasionally, but the old Australian blood takes its turn when horses like Malt King and Trafalgar are on duty, though possibly not again with Malt King, who, we regret to chronicle, went wrong in the Spring Stakes, and may not race again. The victory of Duke Foote in the Metropolitan is likely to linger long in the minds of men—the members of the betting ring in particular. The ring assembled very early in the day, with the view of easing the pressure on their town books by laying against Duke Foote's opponents. Every man with a set book was "tied up" against the favourite, and only those who went to the course without liabilities were able to open out against Mr. Baron's crack. The very best opening offer was 6 to 4. Men in a large way of business gladly accepted 7 to 4 from holders of Duke Foote stock in the doubles with Hartfell, and before the rise of the barrier the horse was very firm at even money, with 12 to 1 bar one on offer.

Duke Foote fairly paralysed the straight-out betting, as really the others were only supported mildly, on the mere off chance, or as "savers." However, the presence of Duke Foote did not daunt owners, for only one (Cadonia) of the 29 on the card was withdrawn.

Many ringmen, recognising that a large majority of the public would go solely for Duke Foote to win, opened place books, and did a roaring trade, for at least a dozen horses were well backed to occupy one of the three places, and the most fancied of these was Piastre, who ran second. Next to him in public favour were Eric and Artesian. The Western Australian's friends were even confident Artesian would beat Duke Foote. Mr. Fred Merton ran Hartfell and Aurofodina, and fancied the former, though his disabled jockey, W. H. Smith, who was totally unfit to ride, was confident in the belief that Aurofodina was the better of the pair. After these Danaus was best backed. When they lined up at the start Aurofodina seemed out of humour, and used his heels freely. Others, notably Blakeney, were also handy with their heels, and Duke Foote suffered from one severe impact, which caught him on the knee. After the race he walked away lame. Eric did not escape, either, for a severe kick appeared to hurt the old hero rather grievously.

Unfortunately, the Metropolitan was not decided without accident. Mr. Mackellar got them away well, but passing the nine-furlong post Hartfell appeared to collide with something, and, in the twinkling of an eye, four horses and jockeys were strewn on the sward, and, apparently, one horse and a jockey were badly injured. Hartfell, Irish Figure, Simla, and Ocean Blue came down, but three horses and three jockeys almost miraculously escaped hurt. Simla, however, lay where he fell for some time, and Hartfell's rider—the popular jockey, Pike—was returned in the ambulance, and a surgical examination showed that he was very much shaken. His head was cut about, and one of his legs rather seriously injured. Subsequently Simla was transferred in the horse ambulance to Mr. John Stewart's veterinary hospital for treatment. Meanwhile two New Zealanders, Shuja and Blakeney, were making hot running from Piastre, Danaus, Alured, and Ladies' Man along the back, and as they shot the six-furlong post Duke Foote was about the middle of the field, with Lewis hard at him to improve his position. At the bend Duke Foote had crept up slowly, but surely into fourth place, under strong and consistent pressure from his rider, and so confident were many members of the ring that the favourite would be beaten that they loudly offered a shade of odds against him. Turning for home Lewis, getting a grip of his horse's head, drew his whip, and forced him up between Ladies' Man and Piastre, and a little further on he was level with Shuja. From that out he gradually drew away, with Lewis still hard at him, and he rode him out to the last ounce to win by four lengths from Piastre, who ran a good race from the jump to the judge. Aurofodina was always in the second rank, and kept his place throughout, but, five furlongs from home, Artesian was a long way off the leaders (having been interfered with when the horses fell), but he put in a fine run from the bend. Ladies' Man, who appears destined to follow in the footsteps of his game old mother at place-getting, ran a resolute race throughout, and the surprise of the race was the position held by the little-considered Shuja, who finished courageously. However, in the matter of pluck and stamina, Duke Foote stood out. He was a chance mount that came to R. Lewis at the eleventh hour. Lewis may be congratulated on having ridden a desperately hard race for almost a mile, and then pulled up as fresh as a lark. The net value of the Metropolitan is £4969.

Duke Foote was bred by his owner from imported parents. He is by Sir Foote (imp.)—son of Sir Hugo—from Ortelle, by Orvieto—son of Bend 'Or—from Cheery, by St. Simon from Sunrise, by Springfield, and therefore is very closely related to Piastre's sire, Positano, who is by St. Simon from Ponsa, by Springfield from Napoli, who was a half-sister to the dam of Sunrise. Piastre's dam, Chand Bee Bee, was imported by Mr. William Brown, and is by Royal Hampton from Missy Baba, by Springfield. Ladies' Man is also of St. Simon descent, being by Simmer (son of St. Simon) from Saida, by a Tocal-bred mare, by Medallion from Algerine, by Hawthornden from Algeria (imp.), by Blinkhoolie. Ladies' Man was bred by Mr. P. Reynolds at Hobartville.

Next in importance to the Metropolitan was the Breeders' Plate, a race worth £2101, in which 14 fine-looking two-year-olds made their first bow to the public. An odds-on favourite was at once made of Mr. J. E. O'Brien's colt Beragoon, a fully-grown and handsome son of Multiform and the Bill of Portland mare Wiglemar, whose dam is out of the celebrated Etra Weenie, by Trenton. Beragoon was bred by the late Hon. George Lee, and was much admired at the last sales, when Mr. O'Brien secured him for 700 guineas. Next to him in public estimation was Mr. E. J. Watt's Traquair colt, Athenic, who was bred by Mr. A. S. O'Keefe at Yamma, and was sold at the autumn sales for 700 guineas. A lengthy price was available in the betting market against the others, and one of the best backed was Mr. S. Hordern's colt Portrush, by Petrillo (imp.) from Poseidon's sister, Irish Corner; while Taunter, a very nice colt, by Tartan from Carinthia, by Gossoon, was quietly fancied, and others backed were Beck's Lager, a filly, by Maltster from Graft, owned by Mr. T. Hannam and Duke Foote's stable mate, Sir Tarka, a chestnut colt by Prince Foote's half-brother, Tarka. New Zealand was represented by Adelicia, a beautiful filly, by Charlemagne II., and Victoria, by Larelle, a shapely and speedy lady by Poseidon from the Orzil mare Orlet. Adelicia and Larelle were much the smartest on their feet, while Beck's Lager and Beragoon were also well away; but Taunter turned half-round when the barrier went up, and lost all chance, while Athenic began very badly, and, to make matters worse, he was seriously interfered with at the distance. Larelle soon got to the front, and led Adelicia and Beragoon into the straight, where the colt took full charge, and, coming right away, won stylishly by four lengths from Larelle. Portrush, who made a lot of ground from the distance, was third. All except Athenic, whose acceptants were nullified by mischance, were outclassed by the winner, who is not likely to be beaten yet awhile, if he retains his present condition.

The racing began with The Shorts, for which 15 ran, and Blairgour was made a very solid favourite, but Gigandra was always well backed. There was a strong commission from the north for Malt Mary, and the New Zealanders backed Ermengarde to a man. Popinjay, Irishman, and Ermengarde were off the mark smartly, but Theodore got away slowly, and Gigandra very badly. Popinjay and Ermengarde made the running from Irishman, but Blairgour could never quite go the pace. At the turn Gigandra shot through, eventually winning as he liked from Irishman and Malt Mary, the latter of whom put up a dashing exhibition of speed.

The race following was the Clibborn Stakes, for three year olds, and, out of the 31 possibles, a dozen faced the starter. Perdita was always favourite, but there was a large amount of money in the market for Aurifer and Elystan. Aurifer was away like a flash, but Elystan almost stood at the post. Aurifer cleared right out, and won in hollow fashion by six lengths from the favourite, who evidently was feeling the effects of her severe run in the Derby, for she unmistakably shifted under pressure, and only beat the Queenslander, Barambah, by about a head for third place. Cagou and Rovigno were next, clear of the Victorian colt Uncle Mat and Elystan, who was all abroad from the jump.

The Steeplechase was a chapter of accidents. There were 11 starters, and the Victorians backed United Kingdom with a will, while the New Zealanders responded in favour of Sir Lethe and Continuance. Nimrod was the local choice, but he fell at the first fence, and Master Gambol baulked. At the half-mile post Fitz came a cropper, and next time round Kairoma came down at the Kensington fence, and Revise and Tadpole toppled over him. One of Nimrod's legs was broken, and the horse was destroyed. Sir Lethe, who is a fine jumper, established a tremendous lead from United Kingdom, whose jockey took things very easily, and allowed the New Zealander to lead him a dozen lengths at the half-mile fence; but from there he set sail, and, catching the leader in the straight, beat him in a few strides.

On the running of Ladies' Man in the Metropolitan backers fairly rushed the English horse Bernard for the last race of the day, the Squatters' Handicap. Bernard ran Ladies' Man a tremendous race at Hawkesbury, and it was argued that he only needed to repeat that form to win handily. Followers of Zilper argued on the same grounds, for it was abundantly evident at Hawkesbury that Zilper was unlucky to lose to Irishman, and the bulk of the money invested was for this pair, though The Vanquisher was well backed. The latter's owner, Mr. Merton, also ran the English horse Hallowmas, whom he holds on lease from his importer, Mr. James Brennan, but Hallowmas was not fancied for a shilling in the betting, for the reason that he has not yet been stretched out fully in his work. He has been doing a solid preparation for the Melbourne Cup. However, Hallowmas was in better form than was anticipated, for, going to the front at the start, he practically led all the way, and gave the bookmakers a much-needed turn-up. Waltz stayed with Hallowmas for a while, and The Vanquisher was in a prominent position as they swept into the straight, where Zilper ran up to the leader to win his race, but the Britisher would not give way, and worried the second favourite out of it by a neck, while Bernard was outpaced all the way.

The details of the racing are appended:—

THE SHORTS, a handicap sweepstakes of 10 sovs each, 500 sovs added; for three-years-old and upwards; the owner of the second horse to receive 100 sovs, and the owner of the third 50 sovs from the prize. 6f.

Mr. H. Cohen's b or br h Gigandra, by Ibex—Mira, 5yrs, 10st 2lb (A. Oliver) ... 1
Mr. J. Johnson's br g Irishman, by Havoc—Party, aged, 8st 9lb (M. Connell) ... 2
Mr. J. P. Nolan's b m Malt Mary, by Maltster—Lady Mary, 6yrs, 9st 1lb (W. Burnett) ... 3

Other starters: Popinjay, 9st (P. J. Foley); Blairgour, 8st 12lb (R. W. Brennan); Theodore, 8st 9lb (W. M'Lachlan); Yarrum, 8st 7lb (J. S. M'Donald); Peirene, 8st 4lb (R. Deeley); Hot Air, 8st 4lb (W. Osborne); Pittsworth Gun, 8st 2lb (W. Manning); Burri, 7st 9lb (J. Williams); Ermengarde, 7st 7lb (C. Emerson).

Betting: 2 to 1 v Blairgour, 6 to 1 v Gigandra, 8 to 1 each v Ermengarde and Malt Mary, 10 to 1 each v Irishman and Popinjay, 14 to 1 v Yarrum, 15 to 1 each v Theodore and Pittsworth Gun, 20 to 1 each v the others.

From a good start Gigandra, Popinjay, and Irishman were the first to show out, while Peirene was the last to find her legs, when they had settled into their strides Popinjay took charge, and, with Ermengarde at his girths, passed the five furlongs post, but a little further on the pair were on terms, half a length from Irishman, then at length intervals came Blairgour and Burri, who were closely followed by Hot Air, Gigandra, and Malt Mary, with Theodore at the tail of the field. The favourite moved up near the leading pair as they came round the bend, and they were succeeded by Burri, Irishman, Gigandra, and Malt Mary, with Theodore still in the rear. Popinjay and Ermengarde turned into line for home with Blairgour, Gigandra, Irishman, Burri, and Malt Mary in pursuit. Ermengarde beat a retreat ere the distance was reached, leaving Popinjay in charge from Gigandra, Irishman, Blairgour, and Malt Mary, while Peirene was showing prominently on the outside. Popinjay was done ere the half-distance was reached, and Gigandra, taking charge at that point, came on, and won comfortably by a length from Irishman, who beat the fast-finishing Malt Mary by a head for second place. Peirene was a neck away fourth, with Theodore and Blairgour at her heels; then two lengths off came Popinjay, Pittsworth Gun, Hot Air, and Yarrum, with Burri and Ermengarde bringing up the rear. Time, 1m 15s.

CLIBBORN STAKES, a sweepstakes of 10 sovs each, with 1000 sovs added; for three-years-old; colts 8st 5lb, geldings 8st 2lb, fillies 8st; the owner of the second horse to receive 200 sovs, and the owner of the third 100 sovs from the prize. 1m 1f.

Mr. F. Merton's b c Aurifer, by Flavus (imp.)—Queenie, 3yrs, 8st 5lb (J. Pike) ... 1
Mr. W. Brown's ch f Perdita, by Wallace—Eloping Lady (imp.), 3yrs, 8st (A. Shanahan) ... 2
Mr. J. J. Moore's br c Barambah, by Simmer (imp.)—May Moon, 3yrs, 8st 5lb (A. Wood) ... 3

Other starters: Symetris, 8st 10lb (M. Connell); Uncle Matt, 8st 5lb (R. Lewis); Bellara, 8st 5lb (W. Manning); Barios, 8st 5lb (P. J. Foley); Cagou, 8st 5lb (R. Deeley); Rovigno, 8st 5lb (W. Barnett); Elystan, 8st 5lb (W. M'Lachlan); Orgara, 8st 5lb (J. S. M'Donald); Tartania, 8st (G. Lambert).

Betting: 7 to 4 v Perdita, 4 to 1 v Aurifer, 9 to 2 v Elystan, 7 to 1 v Tartania, 10 to 1 v Symetris, 20 to 1 each v the others.

Some delay was caused prior to the start owing to Symetris having to return to the enclosure to have her plates removed. They were sent off to a good start, save that Elystan dwelt, and the first to break the line were Aurifer and Cagou, and the former raced past the mile post with Rovigno at his girths, two lengths away, came Bellara, with Cagou and Barambah at his heels, while the rear division comprised Barios, Orgara, and Uncle Matt. Save that Orgara began to tail off they raced without change along the back to the six furlongs post, where Rovigno ranged up level with Aurifer, and Tartania ran up to the heels of the leading pair. Aurifer shook off Rovigno as they neared the five furlongs post, and passed that point with Mr. Hordern's colt at his girths, Tartania was a length and a half away, with Barambah next, Perdita moving up on the outside, and Orgara tailed off. Aurifer increased his advantage to two lengths from Rovigno at the half-mile post, Barambah was three lengths further back, with Tartania next, followed by Perdita; and so they came round the bend and into the straight. At the distance Aurifer was four lengths clear from Barambah, with Perdita coming fast on the outside. Aurifer was not afterwards troubled, and, coming on, won by six lengths from Perdita, who ran Barambah out of second money by a head. Cagou was half a length off fourth, and five lengths in advance of Rovigno. Uncle Matt, Elystan, and Barios were three lengths away and four in front of Tartania and Symetris. Bellara was next, and Orgara a bad last. Time, 1m 54s.

THE METROPOLITAN, a handicap sweepstakes of 20 sovs each, with 4000 sovs added. The owner of the second horse to receive 600 sovs., and the owner of the third 300 sovs. from the prize. 1½m.

Mr. "J. Baron's" b h Duke Foote, by Sir Foote (imp.)—Ortelle (imp.), 5yrs, 7st 10lb (R. Lewis) ... 1
Mr. W. Brown's b h Piastre, by Positano (imp.)—Chand Bee Bee (imp.), 4yrs, 7st 6lb (A. Shanahan) ... 2
Messrs. J. and P. Brun's br h Ladies' Man, by Simmer (imp.)—Saida, 4yrs, 8st 1lb (M. Connell) ... 3

Other starters: Aurofodina, 8st 3lb (W. Barnett); Vice-Admiral, 8st 10lb (S. Davies); Bronze, 8st 3lb (A. Oliver); Cisco, 8st 7lb (S. Lamond); Hartfell, 8st 6lb (J. Pike); Eric, 8st 3lb (J. S. M'Donald); Matouree, 8st 1lb (L. Walker); Artesian, 8st (G. Lambert); Danaus, 8st (W. M'Lachlan); Ocean Blue, 7st 12lb (P. J. Foley); Sandbath (imp.), 7st 7lb (W. Manning); Barlow, 7st 12lb, inc. 5lb over (W. Osborne); Crown Grant, 7st 4lb (J. Hadlow); Lochano, 7st 4lb (J. Williams); Simla, 7st 3lb (F. Farrell); Adgio, 7st 5lb, inc. 3lb over (R. W. Brennan); Alured, 7st 3lb, inc. 1lb over (J. Lightfoot); Midge B., 7st 5lb, inc. 4lb over (P. Maher); Shuja, 7st 1lb, inc. 3lb over (C. Emerson); Willow Green, 6st 13lb, inc. 6lb over (S. Mackay); Blakeney, 6st 8lb, inc. 1lb over (G. Pinn); Irish Figure, 6st 7lb (K. Bracken); Angelique, 6st 11lb, inc. 4lb over (G. Hook); Rubecula, 6st 9lb, inc. 2lb over (R. Sinclair).

Betting: Even money on Duke Foote, 12 to 1 v Piastre, 15 to 1 each v Eric and Hartfell, 25 to 50 to 1 each v the others.

When they ranged up at the post Angelique was next the inner rail, and in extended order were Shuja, Danaus, Midge B., Willow Green, and Aurofodina; the central division included Simla, Ocean Blue, Duke Foote, and Eric, while the outer wing comprised Jacamar, Matouree, Blakeney, Bronze, and Irish Figure. They were sent off in line, which was broken by Shuja and Ladies' Man, and the former showed the way past the judge's box, with Ladies' Man at his heels, closely attended by Cisco, Piastre, Blakeney, Willow Green, and Danaus, while the rear division consisted of Eric, Artesian, Adgio, and Angelique. Shuja turned out of the straight a couple of lengths in advance of Cisco, Ladies' Man, and Piastre, with Bronze, Blakeney, and Willow Green a length away. Nearing the nine furlongs Hartfell, Ocean Blue, Irish Figure, and Simla fell, and still forcing the pace Shuja ran past the mile post with Blakeney at his heels, Piastre, Alured, and Ladies' Man were two lengths away, followed by Danaus, Cisco, and Duke Foote. In that order they raced past the seven furlongs post, and at the end of the next furlong, Shuja was a length from Blakeney, Piastre and Ladies' Man were two lengths off, and were followed at length intervals by Alured and Danaus; then, after a gap of two lengths, came Duke Foote, Cisco, and Artesian. Without material change they raced past the five furlongs post, and at the end of the next furlong Shuja was still in charge, with Piastre at his heels, and closely pursued by Ladies' Man, Danaus, and Duke Foote, with Angelique tailed off. Ladies' Man and Piastre moved up to the withers of Shuja as they rounded the bend, where Danaus and Duke Foote were following at length intervals. Shuja and Piastre swung into the straight on terms with Ladies' Man, and Duke Foote in hot pursuit, but when they reached the distance Duke Foote ranged up alongside Shuja, the pair being just clear from Ladies' Man, while on the outside Artesian was showing prominently. Nearing the distance Duke Foote shook off Shuja, and, coming on, won easily by four lengths from Piastre, who was three-parts of a length in front of Ladies' Man. Shuja was half a length off fourth, and four lengths in front of Artesian; then at length intervals came Aurofodina and Sandbath, and three lengths in front of Lochano, Willow Green, and Eric, while the last to get home was Angelique. Time, 2m 34½s.

FIRST STEEPLECHASE, a handicap sweepstakes of 5 sovs each, with 300 sovs added. The owner of the second horse to receive 60 sovs, and the owner of the third 30 sovs from the prize. About 2½m.

Mr. G. G. Cumming's br g United Kingdom, by United States—Lothair mare, aged, 10st (E. Carter) ... 1
Mr. C. F. Vallance's b g Sir Lethe, by Lethe—Master Agnes mare, aged, 11st 5lb (R. Gray) ... 2
Mr. J. A. Lucas' br g Continuance, by Sabretache—Chibouk, aged, 12st 7lb (J. O'Connell) ... 3

Other starters: Hautapu, 11st 9lb (F. Moore); Nimrod, 11st 4lb (J. Trenoweth); Master Gambol, 11st (F. Fielder); Kairoma, 10st 10lb (J. Montgomery); Tadpole, 9st (C. Morton); Revised, 9st (W. Hall); Mountain Girl, 9st 8lb, inc. 8lb over (G. Woodburn); Fitz, 9st, inc. 1lb over (G. Phillips).

Betting: 5 to 2 v Sir Lethe, 7 to 2 v United Kingdom, 4 to 1 v Continuance, 8 to 1 v Hautapu, 10 to 20 to 1 each v others.

Hautapu and Sir Lethe made play, but the first fence brought down Nimrod, and Master Gambol turned his head at the same obstacle. As they ascended the hill for the first time Sir Lethe ran to the front, and at Kensington was leading by six lengths from Hautapu, after whom came Mountain Girl, United Kingdom, and Tadpole. Fitz fell over the obstacle near the half-mile post, and Sir Lethe passed the stand six lengths from Hautapu and Mountain Girl, with United Kingdom, Revised, and Kairoma following. Passing Oxenham's Sir Lethe increased his lead to 20 lengths from United Kingdom, after whom came Revised, Continuance, Mountain Girl, Kairoma, and Tadpole. In that order they crossed the hill for the second time, and ran to Kensington, where Kairoma, Tadpole, and Revised fell. Half a mile from home Sir Lethe had a ten lengths' lead from United Kingdom and Continuance, but the former gradually overhauled the New Zealander in the run home, and, heading him at the distance, beat him by five lengths. Continuance was a similar distance away third, with Mountain Girl and Hautapu following at long intervals. Time, 5m 32s.

BREEDERS' PLATE, a sweepstakes of 20 sovs each, with 1500 sovs added. The owner of the second horse to receive 300 sovs, and the owner of the third 150 sovs from the prize. For two-year-olds. Colts and geldings, 8st 5lb; fillies, 8st. 5f.

Mr. T. Hannam's ch f Beck's Lager, by Maltster—Graft, 8st (J. S. M'Donald) ... 0

Betting: 6 to 4 on Beragoon, 3 to 1 v Athenic, 10 to 1 each v Beck's Lager and Multifoil, 12 to 1 Larelle, 15 to 20 to 1 each v the others.

Beck's Lager was smartest on her legs, while Taunter dwelt and lost some ground. As they neared the end of the first furlong Beck's Lager retired, and Adelicia ran to the front, with Larelle and Xerxes on very close terms next, and a length away coming Athenic and Beragoon. Rounding the bend Larelle was in command, with Adelicia and Beragoon at her heels, and Athenic half a length away. Larelle turned into the straight with a slight advantage from Beragoon and Athenic, but at the distance the latter met with some interference. When the distance was reached Beragoon headed Larelle, after whom came Portrush, Multifoil, and Beck's Lager. Beragoon was not afterwards troubled, and, coming on, won by four lengths from Larelle, who had Portrush at her heels. Multifoil and Beck's Lager were two lengths off next, and four lengths clear from Athenic, Adelicia, Beau Soult, and Sir Tarka, with Taunter at the head of the others, and Xerxes and Speckled Band whipping in. Time, 1m 3½s.

SQUATTERS' HANDICAP, a handicap sweepstakes of 10 sovs each, with 500 sovs added. The owner of the second horse to receive 100 sovs, and the owner of the third 50 sovs from the prize. 1¼m.

Mr. "J. Baron's" b g Sunlike, by Simile (imp.)—Sundial (imp.), aged, 7st 6lb (W. Manning) ... 3

Other starters: Flaxen, 8st 9lb (P. J. Foley); Malthusian, 8st 2lb (W. M'Lachlan); Torula, 8st 3lb [illegible]; The Vanquisher, 7st 8lb (C. Emerson); Bernard, 7st 8lb (J. Lightfoot); Offa, 7st 4lb (A. Shanahan); Idyia, 7st 3lb (L. Emerson); Strathrowalle, 7st 2lb (G. Hook); Odiet, 7st 2lb (J. Hadlow); Matouree, 6st 12lb (G. Pinn); Waltz (imp.), 6st 10lb (J. Williams).

Betting: 3 to 1 v Bernard, 5 to 1 v Zilper, 6 to 1 v The Vanquisher, 8 to 1 each v Flaxen and Malthusian, 14 to 1 each v Offa, Torula, and [illegible], 20 to 1 each v Hallowmas and the others.

Hallowmas, Malthusian, and Bernard were first away, and passing the milepost Hallowmas and Waltz were disputing the lead a couple of lengths in front of Sunlike and Offa, after whom came Malthusian, The Vanquisher, Zilper, Bernard, and Torula, with Flaxen at the head of the others. Without change they raced along the back stretch to the five furlongs post, where Waltz and Hallowmas were still together a length and a half in front of Offa, with The Vanquisher, Sunlike, Malthusian, and Flaxen next in order. Coming round the bend Hallowmas drew out half a length from Waltz. The Vanquisher and Sunlike were a length and a half away, closely followed by Offa, Flaxen, Malthusian, and Bernard. Hallowmas was first into the straight, with Waltz, Sunlike, The Vanquisher, and Zilper in hot pursuit. Inside the distance Zilper challenged Hallowmas, but though he finished very fast he could not catch [illegible], who won by a neck. [illegible] third. Time, 2m 12s.

FINISH OF THE METROPOLITAN.

DUKE FOOTE WINS BY FOUR LENGTHS FROM PIASTRE, WITH LADIES' MAN NEXT SLIGHTLY IN ADVANCE OF SHUJA AND SANDBATH.

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

Epping racecourse will this afternoon be the rendezvous of patrons of trotting, and the programme framed by the New South Wales Trotting Club promises to furnish interesting sport, judging from the number of good exponents of the game that are engaged. The track is splendid going, and the appointments are first-class. Visitors can reach the scene of operations by special and ordinary trams via George-street, and the first event is timed to start at 2.30 p.m.

Entries will be received by the secretary, Mr. A. H. Hart, up to 4 p.m. to-day for the half-dozen events on the card for the Kembla Grange Racing Club's meeting on the 22nd instant. The prize money totals 300 sovs., of which 60 sovs. each goes to the Flying Handicap and the Dapto Handicap. Nominations can also be lodged with Mr. E. V. Hannan, Berry, or Mr. P. T. Doyle, Wollongong, up to the same hour.

Final forfeits for the A.J.C. Gimcrack Stakes fall due at 4 p.m. to-day, and horses remaining in after that hour incur the full liability for the stake.

The transactions in the betting market on Derby Day at Randwick showed a profitable day for the ringmen; but yesterday the pendulum of finance swung the other way, and the speculative public had all the better of the deal. Though Blairgour again failed to repay the confidence of his army of supporters in the Shorts, Gigandra, who secured the race, was stanchly backed, and similarly Aurifer, a stanchly-backed second favourite, was successful in the Clibborn Stakes. In a field of 28, Duke Foote, who for some time past has ruled favourite for the Metropolitan, was backed down to even money yesterday, and his success was a heavy blow to the pencillers. Backers were also on the mark in the cross-country race, for the three best-backed horses filled the situations, the second favourite scoring. Backers made no mistake when they selected Mr. O'Brien's fine colt Beragoon as the best of the 14 youngsters that faced the barrier, and the stoutly-bred son of Multiform filly justified his position in the market. The imported horse Hallowmas did the ringmen a good turn in the final event of the afternoon, and for which his compatriot, Bernard, was sent out a pronounced favourite, but the unthought-of Hallowmas quite upset the pot.

In addition to the inquiry into the cause of the falls in the Metropolitan, the A.J.C. stewards yesterday called in question the handling of Continuance in the First Steeplechase, but though they accepted the explanation of his rider (J. O'Connell), they intimated that they considered his riding very bad.

After the race for the Metropolitan at Randwick yesterday, Mr. H. Mackellar complained to the stewards that the trainer, I. Earnshaw, had made some offensive remarks to him regarding the starting of Jacamar in that event. Earnshaw was informed by the stewards that they would not tolerate any heckling of the officials of the club, and that any complaints should be made to the stewards.

Messrs. William Inglis and Son will hold their usual sale of racehorses in training and untried stock at Tom Payten's Newmarket Stables, Randwick, on Monday next. Owners wishing to offer their horses at auction should lose no time in forwarding particulars, as the catalogues are now being prepared.

The Broken Hill Jockey Club has reappointed Mr. J. D. Lawson judge for the current racing year, and Mr. J. H. Coates timekeeper. Mr. J. B. Johnston has been appointed starter in the place of Mr. Joe Whenan. The club has allotted £350 for the Boxing Day meeting.

The programme for the Canterbury Park October meeting on the 26th inst. is announced, and for the half-dozen items on the card entries will be received by the secretary, Mr. W. L. Davis, up to 4 p.m. on Monday, the 14th inst. The prize money totals £630, of which £130 endows the Canterbury Handicap, and £100 each of the other races.

Mr. Geo. H. Wickham, secretary, announces that entries for the Perth Cup, of 2000 sovs, 2m, and the Railway Stakes, of 1000 sovs, 1¼m, the leading events of the Western Australian Turf Club's annual race meeting in December next, close at 5 p.m. on Tuesday, the 22nd inst, at the office of the W.A.T.C., Perth, and up to 4 p.m. at the office of the V.R.C., Melbourne, the A.J.C., Sydney, and the S.A.J.C., Adelaide.

LAWN TENNIS.

STRATHFIELD CLUB'S OPEN TOURNAMENT.

J. O. ANDERSON DEFEATS PARKER.

Yesterday was a perfect day for tennis, and the play at Strathfield, when the Metropolitan championship meeting was continued, was of high class. A large crowd attended, and it was one which was appreciative of good performances.

The sensation of the day was provided by J. O. Anderson, who defeated H. A. Parker in the metropolitan singles championship. Parker has been in the front of Australasian tennis for many years, and very few players have succeeded in defeating him. The accomplishment of J. O. Anderson, who has not yet left school, is, therefore, one worthy of note. It was gained mainly by means of a splendid forehand drive, both to the off and to the on. One of his best shots or the winner is made when going at full speed for a ball in the forehand corner. He gets on to this quickly and sends it with great pace to the opposite angle of the court. Anderson very nearly took the first set to love, and pulled up to 5-all in the second set, after having 5-1 called against him. Anderson followed up this exploit by taking the first set from Kidson in the next round. There were four games all in the second set, when approaching darkness caused the match to be discontinued. A. B. Jones won two rounds of this event. Metcalfe put up a very good game against him in playing the all-round game rather than the headlong volleying tactics which he adopted in the City of Sydney championships. N. Peach had a good win from R. O. Anderson, a performance which goes to show that he is steadily improving.

In the doubles championship the best contest was that in which Clark and S. T. Jones beat the holders, H. Rice and E. L. Jones. The winners played an excellent game, working close in to the net and volleying decisively when there. Clark was particularly good in going back quickly to recover lobs, and when doing so often scored with a well-placed drive. S. Jones volleyed remarkably well, both high and low. Rice played a very sound game, but E. L. Jones was not quite at his best.

It is always pleasing to see young players making acknowledged leaders of the game play their best, and this happened when Misses Jones and Gordon had a hard task to defeat Misses Lance and Seale in the ladies' doubles championship. It was a very Dutton.

SWIMMING.

NEW SOUTH WALES SWIMMING ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL REPORT.
The annual report of the New South Wales Swimming Association chronicles a season of brilliant and unprecedented achievements in local and international swimming, and of sound prosperity generally. The number of clubs affiliated is 48, exactly the same number as in the previous year, and comprises 21 senior clubs in the metropolis, two school associations, two school clubs directly affiliated, four clubs in the Newcastle district, and nine other country clubs. The report reviews the season's work in the city, in the schools, and in the country. The long-distance scheme, marked by the advent of S. Smith (Randwick and Coogee Club) into the first flight of swimmers, the State and Australian championships in which Longworth was so successful and the various interstate visits undertaken by affiliated swimmers, particularly the interclub contests between the Sydney club and Melbourne clubs on the one hand, and the Sydney and Waitemata clubs on the other, are referred to.
The report concludes with a reference to the success of the Australasian swimmers at the Olympic games, and details the performances of the various members. The necessity for defending the titles won at the games is also referred to in accordance with the suggestion made in these columns last week. The polo season is also fully reviewed.
On the financial side a loss on the season is recorded owing to the chief source of income—the profits from the State championship carnivals—being diverted to the fund for representation at the Olympic games. Although the loss on the season was over £30, the association remains with a credit in cash of £130. The balance-sheet of the Olympic fund shows that after deducting expenses of collection the whole amount was paid to the Olympic Council to defray the expenses of the four selected swimmers.

WOMAN'S RECORD SWIM.

FROM DOVER TO RAMSGATE IN SIX HOURS.
One of the finest swimming feats (says the "Standard," August 29) accomplished by a woman was achieved by Miss Lily Smith, the well-known champion swimmer, and daughter of Superintendent Smith, of the London Fire Brigade, yesterday, when she swam from Dover to Ramsgate, a distance of 20 miles, in six hours and a quarter. She is the first woman to accomplish this remarkable test of endurance and strength, and she broke the records of Webb and Wolffe by over an hour. Miss Smith started from off the Eastern Pier at Dover at 9.35 in the morning, being accompanied by a party in the Deal motor launch Elsie, the pilot being Harry Pearson, who piloted Burgess on his successful cross-Channel swim last year. She entered the water off the Eastern Breakwater, and, touching the pier with her hand, started powerfully with 26 strokes to the minute. She passed the wreck of the Preussen at 10.5, and St. Margaret's at 10.30, arriving at Deal Pier at 12.20, where she received an ovation from the assembled spectators. Still maintaining her speed, she reached the mouth of Ramsgate Harbour, where she encountered broken water. The long, dragging swim across Pegwell Bay was finely negotiated, and Miss Smith was a quarter of a mile off Ramsgate Pierhead at 3.40. It took nearly forty minutes to swim into the harbour, owing to difficult currents. She received an enthusiastic welcome on entering the harbour.

ROSE BAY AMATEUR CLUB.
There was a very large attendance at the annual meeting of the Rose Bay Amateur Swimming Club. A gratifying feature of the season was the success of the club's representatives in New South Wales and Australian championships. The former events proved a triumph for members, as they annexed the whole of the free-style championships. By scoring most points in the State championships the club holds for 12 months the shield presented by Alderman Hagon. The trophy presented by Mr. E. J. Coote for the member scoring the highest number of points in club competitions was won by A. D. Macfarlane for the second year in succession. By securing the best record in open and club events W. Longworth was entitled to hold the Jones cup for another year.

ST. GEORGE REGATTA.

In glorious weather, and in the presence of a great attendance, that dotted every point of vantage along the foreshores of George's River, the annual St. George regatta took place yesterday.
A light breeze, commencing from the south-west, and gradually working to north-west, characterised the morning's proceedings, and in the afternoon a stiff wind from the north, which gradually worked to north-east, gave the 14 and more frail skiff craft ample opportunity of showing seaworthiness. The results of the events were as follow:—

MORNING EVENTS.
14ft Dingy Handicap.
Jessie (W. Kennedy), 2m 1
Rene (W. J. Duncan), scr 2
Stella (W. Douglas), scr 3
Aussie (G. Witchard), scr 4
Won by 7m 27s, 3½m between second and third.
A protest against Jessie for having taken the wrong course, viz., that of the inner instead of the outer Towra pile, has now to be considered by the committee.

16ft Skiff Handicap.
Thrush (G. Gannon), 1m 1
Dotsie (F. Kirkby), scr 2
Dearing (J. Singleton), scr 3
Other starters:—Olympic II. (R. Parr), scr; Alvona (A. Gunther), scr; Truant (W. M'Leod), scr; Unique (A. Broadbridge), scr; Bernie (E. Talbot), scr; Queenie (C. Green), 1m; Myth (H. Powell), ½m; Venus (A. Bird), 1m; Seagull (H. Sippel) 1m.
Won by 4m, 1m 1½s between second and third.

AFTERNOON RACES.
14ft Dingy Handicap.
Rene (W. Duncan), ½m beh 1
Sydney (H. Collis), 1m 2
Jessie (W. Kennedy), 2½m 3
These were the only boats to finish out of a fleet of seven, and Rene won comfortably, with Jessie a good third.

16ft Skiff Handicap.
Bernie (E. Talbot), 2½m 1
Venus (A. Bird), 2½m 2
Thrush (C. Stanbury), 3m 3
These were the only boats to finish, several having capsized, and others turned home.
Won easily, a good race between second and third.

Motor Boat Handicap.
Comrade (G. H. H. Clark) 1
Edelweiss (A. Heinrich) 2
Yvonne (A. J. Geddes) 3
Won easily, but the handicaps, which were sealed, will not disclose the winner until to-morrow night.

AQUATICS.

CORAKI, Monday.
The Coraki annual regatta takes place on October 22, and record entries are being received, 26 entries have been received for the Coraki hundred, and all other entries are well filled. Everything points to a successful carnival.

MELBOURNE, Monday.
The entries for the Henley regatta, which will take place on October 26, promise to constitute a record. For the first time entries have been received from New South Wales for the junior fours and sculls.

BASEBALL.

The U.S.A. Gunboat Princeton team defeated New South Wales in a decisive manner yesterday afternoon at Waverley Oval, the final scores being, Princeton 7, N.S.W., 2.
Contrary to the previous games against the American nines, the visitors overshadowed the local team in the batting department. They went ahead at the fourth time at bat, scoring 2, following up with 1 in the fifth, and 4 in the eighth, the record of safe hits being 11, as against 4. The batteries were Neidlinger (p.) and Ammon (c.) for Princeton; Machado (p.) and Simmonds (c.) for N.S.W.

BOXING.

SLOW AND UNINTERESTING.

THE LESTER-HOWARD CONTEST.
His wonderful power of assimilating punishment, coupled with the fact that Howard consistently neglected to follow up his advantages, secured Jack Lester his second victory over Jack Howard yesterday. The contest was decided at the Sydney Sports Ground, before a very meagre attendance. Wally Weekes acted as referee.
The two men looked fit and well as they entered the ring, and both bore marks of recent training. Both wore hats to protect them from the fierce rays of the sun, which beat down mercilessly on their unprotected bodies, and after the contest both men complained of the enervating effect of the heat.
Lester at once assumed the aggressive, while Howard seemed all at sea for the first couple of rounds. Lester, however, did not score too much, owing to the fact that Howard kept on the retreat all the time. It was in the third round that the men really settled down to their work. Howard seemed to have at last got into his stride, and as he stood up to his man, and as Lester continued to bore in, some heavy exchanges were witnessed. From that out the contest became nothing more or less than a matter of endurance. Neither man possessed any guard worth mentioning, with the result that both landed pretty well at will. Howard hit the cleaner, and his blows had more power behind them than Lester's, but the latter appeared invulnerable, and although in sore straits more than once, he kept boring in incessantly. Howard seems to have gone back a lot, while Lester has come on a trifle, mainly by reason of the fact that he has developed a good straight left. It was this punch more than any other that beat Howard. So early as the third round Howard took the count as the result of a right to the jaw. In the thirteenth the end came. Howard, who was now much the weaker of the pair, backed up against the ropes. Lester caught him with a right swing, which caused him to stagger, and a moment afterwards dropped him with a heavy right chop to the neck. Howard took 9. He was knocked down again almost immediately with a right swing to the jaw, but managed to regain his feet at 6. Lester again rushed him, and was punishing him unmercifully when the police called a halt.
The preliminary bout between Thiering and Bartlett was vigorous and exciting. Thiering was always too good for his opponent, whom he knocked out in the second round.

FITZJOHN v HILL.
At the Gaiety Athletic Club to-night Frank Fitzjohn, of Alexandria, and Jimmy Hill, of Surry Hills, two of the fastest and most scientific boxers in the featherweight division, will meet in a 20-round contest for a side wager of £25. Both men have trained for this contest, and the encounter should be interesting. The preliminary will be put on at 8.15, and the principal event at 9 o'clock. Seats may be reserved at the club during the day without extra charge.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Saturday.
In a boxing contest of 15 rounds for the welter championship of New Zealand, Lyn Truscott (Australia) beat Denny Murphy (New Zealand champion). Truscott won on points.

BILLIARDS.

NATIONAL CLUB TOURNAMENT.
The invitation billiard tournament promoted by the above club will be continued to-night, when the following games will be played:—
F. Anderson (rec. 25) v J. Underhill (rec. 25); F. Cowell (scratch) v Roy Eaton (rec. 25).

PIGEON HOMING.

BOWRAL, Monday.
The Bowral Homing Pigeon Society closed the season with a race from Hay to Bowral, an air-line distance of 316 miles, the result being a win for S. E. Bailey's bird with an average velocity of 1411yds 1ft 3in per minute. A. Dowling's bird (1428yds 0ft 10in) was second, and Burnett Bros.' bird (981yds 1ft) third.

CITY FIRE.

OIL AND COLOUR STORE.
While the crowd buffeted and jostled in the centre of the city just after 10 a.m. yesterday a fire broke out in George-street West near the fire station in an oil and colour storeroom at the rear of J. A. Kean's premises, 39 George-street W. The prompt work of the brigade, however, served to localise the flames, but the store's structure and contents were badly burnt, and an adjoining pawnbroker's lobby and kitchen damaged.

RIFLE SHOOTING.

CLUBS BEAT NAVAL AND MILITARY.

The important event at the Randwick range yesterday was the annual match between the rifle clubs, and the Naval and Military forces, each side having a team of 40 men. The match was won by the clubs by a substantial majority.
The following were the results:—

RIFLE CLUBS v NAVAL AND MILITARY.
Seven shots each at 300, 500, and 600 (figure target), 900 and 1000 yards. Teams of 40 men a side. Results:—

AMUSEMENTS.

"UNDER THE INFLUENCE."

HYPNOTIC ENTERTAINMENT.
A large audience gathered at the Town Hall last night to see a novel entertainment in mesmerism and hypnotism by Mr. P. H. M'Ewen. Hitherto the subjects for these demonstrations have been men. Last night a dozen ladies were persuaded, after great trouble, to go upon the stage. They were handled in an astonishing manner, one of them losing her temper when she found herself anchored by one foot to the stage. At the bidding of the hypnotist all the ladies lost control, alternately, of one limb or two, and applause greeted Mr. M'Ewen when he compelled the whole gathering of ladies to remain for some time without the power of speech. The most mystifying item on the programme was, however, the cataleptic test. A young girl was laid with her feet on one chair back and her head on another, whilst five other ladies stood in a row upon her unsupported body. One young lady, under suggestion from the hypnotist, executed a skirt dance that brought the house down. A big ring of male subjects performed a long series of tricks, one of them having his arm deprived of blood for a space, remaining ashen grey and rigid, whilst the other arm retained the warm colour of healthy life.
There will be no performance to-night, as the hall is engaged for another purpose; but to-morrow night the season will be resumed, and will continue till the 18th inst.

DOROTHY.
The advance plan will open at 9.30 this morning at Paling's for the revival of "Dorothy" at Her Majesty's next Saturday night. The cast is comprised of popular artists, and a great deal of interest naturally centres in the performance.

TOMBALA NIGHT AT THE COLISEUM.
The skating season at the Coliseum Rink, North Sydney, was brought to a close last night. An excellent programme was arranged, and Mr. Clark and Miss Christmas gave a clever exhibition of figure skating. Mr. Clark also gave a toboggan display. Three tombala prizes were awarded, the winners being Miss E. Lamb, Miss M. Bullen, and Mr. L. Fox.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA.

GOVERNMENT'S INTENTIONS.

PERTH, Monday.
The Minister for Works, Mr. Johnson, and the Minister for Railways, Mr. Collier, have made significant announcements respecting the Government's intentions. Mr. Johnson said the burning question at the last election was the non-alienation of lands. The Government would introduce at an early stage a bill to prevent further alienation of lands, and yet make it possible for anyone to get land on reasonable terms. The bill would be one of the most important measures ever introduced into an Australian Parliament.
Mr. Collier said the Government's State steamer policy had been a complete success. Before many years there would be a fleet of State steamers trading round Australia.

ALLEGED LEPROSY.
Dr. M'Clintock, Pathologist to the Health Department, has made an analysis of the tissues forwarded by the medical officer at Broome from natives alleged to be suffering from leprosy. However, he could find no evidence that the diseased characteristics were those of ulcus tropicum.

TIMBER TROUBLE SETTLED.
The timber trouble at North Dandalup has been settled by the payment of a shilling a day extra on the industrial agreement. The secretary of the union states that the Swan and Greenbushes mills are still idle, and unless the employers agree to this increase the trouble will extend.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL.

Mr. King O'Malley's visions of a beautiful up-to-date capital will, he hopes, be realised in the not too distant future. The first step in that direction will be the historic inauguration of the capital proper. This will take the form of a special ceremony at Yass-Canberra, at the end of the year, or early in 1913, when his Excellency the Governor-General, Lord Denman, will officiate. The exact nature of the function has yet to be determined. It may be the laying the foundation stone of the capital, or the planting or unveiling of some suitable memorial. In the meantime, Colonel Miller, Administrator of the territory, Colonel Owen, Director-General of Works; Mr. Oakshott, New South Wales Director of Works; Mr. Scrivener, surveyor; and Mr. Murdock, architect, are on the scene making ready. The Minister for Home Affairs, who arrived from Melbourne on Saturdays, said that these officers were busily at work preparing and adopting the plans in order to embrace the best proposals of the prize capital site designs. The whole site would soon be completely surveyed, the streets, parks, boulevardes, and avenues laid out, and everything made ready to commence building. Private individuals would soon be allowed to come in to secure leases for building purposes. "Another thing," added Mr. O'Malley, "is closer settlement. We want to get the small farmers on the farm lands of the territory, in order to make closer settlement a success up there."

AMERICA'S CASE IN PANAMA.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.
Sir,—As scarcely a day passes without some reference being made in the press to the Panama Canal, I should like to place a few facts before your readers.
The Panama Canal is 51 miles long, and its cost to the United States nearly £100,000,000. Going back some years, we find that the French wasted a lot of money, and failed in their efforts to build the canal. Had France taken the precaution that the United States did to establish clean sanitary conditions success might have attended her efforts.
Later on the United States gave the French Government £8,000,000 for whatever rights they possessed and old junk that lay along the line of the canal in the shape of machinery. America gave £2,000,000 to the Republic of Panama for the right to build the canal, and is to pay them £50,000 a year in perpetuity.
Taking a non-American authority, the "Toronto Saturday Night," a semi-financial organ, states that "the question that must occur to the minds of most who consider it is 'Why a nation should construct a canal, pay for it, and take all the chances of failure or loss, and then receive no specific advantage over and above other nations which have taken no chances at all.' The maintenance will be very high, probably £5,000,000 a year. The people of the United States have provided the funds for the carrying out of the object. The canal, however, is not within United States territory, and while that country is likely to receive the greatest advantage other countries will also benefit greatly."
U.S. Senator Bradley states that "the American people would not have sanctioned the building of the canal if they believed they were to have no exclusive rights. The pledge of 'equality' to all nations meant that the United States would give equal treatment to all nations in the use of the canal, while reserving the right to protect itself." "The fact that England had entered no protest against fortification of the canal," Senator Bradley added, "was evidence that she recognises the right of the United States under the treaty to protect its own interests."
The locality of the canal is subject to earthquakes and landslides, which may any day destroy the canal. The United States has not one-fourth of the mercantile marine owned by Great Britain; in fact, Great Britain has greater interests at sea than any other nation, and when France failed why did not she take up the work of building the Panama Canal, either alone or in conjunction with the United States? Apparently it would not interfere with the Monroe doctrine, or why were the French permitted to proceed as far as they did? When the French built the Suez Canal Disraeli at once recognised its value, and bought a controlling interest for Great Britain. If Australia went to the expense of building a canal through New Guinea or New Zealand, she would be very foolish to let other nations use it on the same conditions as herself.
Cables from Ottawa state that the Canadian Government point out that the United States vessels are using Canadian waterways and canals without payment of tolls. Why is the other side of the position suppressed? And why do some men in the Federal Parliament keep on referring to the United States as the only country having an Interstate Commerce Act?
"American shipping laws are no more drastic than those existing to-day on the coasts of Java, Italy, Germany, France, Norway, and also Canada. Foreign ships cannot trade on the coast of New Zealand unless they pay New Zealand seamen's wages. There are 1223 miles of navigable waters between the United States and Canada. This includes canals and lakes, and a foreign ship (which includes a United States ship) carrying a passenger or cargo between Canadian ports is liable to a fine of £80 per passenger, goods to be forfeited as if they were smuggled. If a foreign ship were to tow a raft from one port of Canada to another it would be liable to a penalty of £80, the ship would also be liable to seizure until paid. The most cordial relations exist between the United States and Canada with regard to their canals (so far as border canals go), each country giving free use of its canals near the border to the other. There are three canals at Sault Ste. Marie (two of which are American and one Canadian) connecting Lake Superior with Lake Huron. The minimum depth of any canal is 14ft. These canals are navigable only about half the year."
Forty-one million tons passed through the American Sault Ste. Marie (pronounced Soo, for short) in 1911. The Welland Canal, connecting Lake Erie with Lake Ontario on the Canadian side, 15 miles west of Niagara, is entirely in Canadian territory, and is 26 miles long.
Owing to high wages and starvation subsidies the American mercantile marine is disappearing from the ocean, as she cannot compete with foreign bottoms. Is it reasonable to think she will allow foreign ships to cut in on her coastal trade? It costs 40 per cent. more to maintain an American ship than most of the foreign bottoms. The salaries of the officers and men in the American navy and on merchant ships are about twice as much as those of any other country. It will be interesting to learn what will be the effect of the Navigation Act now before the Federal Parliament. Steamship owners claim that the canal will never be much used by ships trading between Europe and Australia.
Independent of the commercial aspect of the canal, it might be of interest to point out the sanitary aspect. That portion under American control, excluding the cities of Panama and Colon, had under 16 deaths per 1000 of the population, including coloured people, making 90,000 in all. Among the employees of the Canal Commission the deaths were less than 12 per 1000, and among the 11,500 whites the rate was precisely 5.52. In the days of the French occupation the mortality rate was more than ten times this number of figures. The rate for New York city averages 22 per 1000—and remember this is a swampy jungle near the Equator, where yellow fever, malaria, and plagues are to be met with.
I am, etc.,

MINERS' WINDFALL.

LITHGOW, Monday.
Notice has been posted at the Associated Collieries of the Valley that the penny a ton increase in hewing rate which has accumulated since January last will be paid to the miners on Friday next.

MOTORING MISHAP.

CAUGHT BETWEEN TRAMS.
A New Zealand motorist, Mr. R. Actor Adams, had a narrow escape while testing the capabilities of his car in the city on Saturday.
Mr. Adams, who is on his way from the northern State to New Zealand, was driving along Phillip-street in the direction of Circular Quay just after noon. At Hunter-street he endeavoured to cross the tram lines at the bend, when two trams coming in opposite directions (No. 1106 bound for the Quay, and No. 437 for the racecourse) caught the motor car between them. A crash followed, and all eyes turned on the driver of the motor. The tram drivers, however, had checked the speed of their cars, and Mr. Adams, though much shaken, escaped injury.
The near front wheel of the motor was wrenched off, and the mud guards and glass wind shield were broken; while the front of the right footboard of tramcar 1106 was torn away.
On account of the accident the tram service suffered slight delay. The dismantled car was towed by a horse into an adjacent garage.

FREE OF CHARGE.
MAZARA EAU DE HEBE.

During this month we are giving away, free of charge, a 2/ bottle of Mazara Eau de Hebe (Skin Tonic) to every purchaser of a jar of the wonderful Mazara Skin Food (2/6). The Mazara Eau de Hebe should be used in conjunction with the Mazara Skin Food, so, instead of paying 4/6 for the most necessary of your toilet requirements, we offer the same to you for 2/6.
The reputation of Mazara is above question. We proved that before advocating the preparations to our patrons. Consequently we can without the slightest fear confidently recommend the public to take advantage of this offer. Available until the end of this month only, so call or send to-day.

GOULSTON BROS.' buying ability never showed itself more convincingly than in the following Big Bargains:—
CURACOAS AND PANAMAS.
The Hats that are taking Sydney Girls by storm,
4/11.
London nearly went mad over these Hats—Sydney is catching the craze. The shapes are large, with big Dome Crowns. We only have 50 dozen to sell at this price—just enough for three days' selling. Buy now. They're "as scarce as Fisher's Sovereigns."
WIDE RIBBON VELVET, TO TRIM THE ABOVE, BLACK, OF COURSE, 4, 5, and 6 INCHES WIDE, 6½d, 8d, 9½d YARD.
OR STRIPED SILK GLACE RIBBON, SOME PREFER IT TO THE BLACK—5-6 INCHES WIDE, 8½d YARD.
LADIES' ALL-WOOL BATHING COSTUMES, 4/11.
REALLY A 10/6 COSTUME.
The reason is the colour assortment is reduced to Brown, Cinnamon, Moss, and Emerald.
A Bunch of 30 Moss Bebe Roses, 6½d. There are Rose Pink, Vieux Rose, Cream, and Cardinal, and it's the cheapest thing in Bebes.

ONE TRIAL OF CHERRY BLOSSOM BOOT POLISH is sufficient to prove its merits. It is also sufficient to win permanent users for this faultless preparation.
CHERRY BLOSSOM—THE FAVOURITE BOOT POLISH.
Try it to-day on YOUR Boots. It gives the most brilliant and lasting shine of all boot polishes, besides rendering the leather soft, pliable, and waterproof. It is quick and easy to use. The slightest smear of Cherry Blossom, and the lightest rub with a rag—that's all, and you have a perfect shine. In Black or Tan, 3d and 6d per tin. Very large tins too.
If you cannot obtain it locally, write to us direct.

BE WISE AND ALWAYS USE SOLYPTOL SOAP.
Faulding's Solyptol (pronounced So-lyp-tol) Soap makes a rich, creamy lather which is soothing, stimulating, antiseptic, and nourishing to the skin, for toilet, bath, hair-wash, shaving, or baby's use.
It is delicately perfumed, and its use leaves a pleasant, refreshing effect that is highly desirable, and proof of purity and goodness.
Don't take a substitute. If your chemist or storekeeper cannot supply you, send us his address, and a sample will be posted free to you.

D'YOU SUFFER FROM PILES?
How long have you suffered, how much have you suffered, and have you sought, but never found a cure?
Whether you have been a martyr for ten, twenty, thirty, or forty years, though you may suffer untold agony, and in spite of the fact that other treatments have failed to effect relief and cure, we unhesitatingly say that you should try Andrew Murphy's Pile Pills. They have proved their effectiveness in thousands of cases of the most severe kind, and after most prolonged suffering. They supersede ointments, operations, and are non-aperient and absolutely harmless.
Go to-day and get a box of Murphy's Pile Pills from your local chemist or storekeeper. If not obtainable locally, forward your order direct. Price 3/ per box post free. Sole Proprietors, ANDREW MURPHY, LTD., Dept. H., 109 Regent-street, Sydney.

THE WORTH OF
"MADE IN AUSTRALIA"
is in everybody's mouth, and in everybody's shop windows this week, and what with processions and concerts, and celebrations galore, Australia is to have a fairly thorough advertising by next Saturday. But
PITT-STREET HORDERNS'
want particularly to emphasise
THE WORTH
of Australian-made, not only in the Goods themselves, which triumphantly challenge comparison with the best in the world, but also in their worth to us as a community. If you stood in our House Linen Workrooms, amid the hum of our electrically-driven machines, and watched Sheets and Table Cloths, Pillow Slip and Mosquito Curtains flying under the busy needles, you would better realise the work and the wages, the "Money to Spend" that Australian-made means to Australia. And do you know that all our House Linen is willingly
HEMMED FREE OF CHARGE?
That is a phase of Australian-made that
PITT-STREET HORDERNS'
were first to initiate, and have always led the way in. Notice the value and quality, and striking Economy of Australian-made, in the important matter of BED LINEN.
Consider the question of
READY-TO-USE SHEETS,
Neatly and properly made by skilled Australian hands, at the bare cost of the raw (and reliable) material.
Single Bed Sheets ... 3/11, 4/9, to 12/6 per pair.
¾-bed Sheets ... 4/11, 5/11, to 13/6 per pair.
Double Bed Sheets ... 6/11, 7/11, to 16/9 per pair.
Then look to the Combination of
PILLOW CASES.
that an Australian-made Pillow Slip offers. The wages for making them are earned here, paid here, and spent here, and Australia gets the full benefit. And they are Cheaper than imported goods every time.
TAPED PILLOW SLIPS ... 6/11, 8/6, 9/11 per doz.
Buttoned do. ... 8/6, 9/11, to 17/ per doz.
Frilled do. ... 11/6, 14/6, to 50/ per doz.
And then there is the AUSTRALIAN-MADE CURE for that busy and irritating AUSTRALIAN PEST,
THE MOSQUITO!
This is where Australian-made stands altogether unrivalled. The absolute perfection of the Mosquito Curtain, made here by trained and experienced workers, leaves no room for competition by imported Goods. No one can make a Curtain as well as an Australian, and this is where we blow our own trumpet.
THE BEST IN AUSTRALIA ARE MADE BY
and we will prove it to any and every interested inquirer.
Our Prices for Mosquito Curtains should be compared. To fit Half-tester or Italian-top Bedsteads.
2ft 6in, from ... 6/11 4ft, from ... 9/11
3ft ... 7/11 4ft 6in ... 10/11
3ft 6in ... 8/11 5ft ... 12/6
Let us send you our CATALOGUES OF HOUSE LINENS AND MOSQUITO CURTAINS.
Come and let us prove to you the WORTH
of Australian-made,
